162nd Mississippi State Fair, Where Old Traditions Meet New Endeavors

By Hannah East
Marketing Specialist - MDAC

The annual Mississippi State Fair is full of long-standing traditions and sweet memories. The smell of popcorn and funnel cakes on the chilly air; the sound of children's laughter on carnival rides; the sight of brilliant blue jackets and four-leaf clovers as FFA and 4-H students groom their prize livestock for competition; and that first taste of sweet Blackburn syrup inside a warm buttermilk biscuit... folks would flock to the dazzling lights of the Mississippi State Fairgrounds in Jackson.

Picture from the front cover of September 1969 Mississippi Valley Stockman-Farmer magazine depicting the Mississippi State Fair with emphasis on youth and livestock.

Now, as the fairgrounds gears up for another memorable state fair, Mississippians can expect all the old, favorite traditions they love, as well as several new endeavors meant to wow visitors. "I am looking forward to welcoming everyone to the 162nd Mississippi State Fair," says Commissioner Andy Gipson. "I'm excited to announce several new additions to this year's list of attractions and events, and our staff has worked tirelessly to ensure fairgoers' safety as they enjoy rides, shows, good food and first-rate entertainment."

For the first time ever, a portion of the 105-acre complex will be transformed into the 'Mississippi Frontier Village.' This western style village will feature blacksmiths, train rides, pig races, shows, pony rides, a petting zoo and other exhibits the whole family will enjoy. Catch unique entertainment, like the West Texas Rattlesnake Show, Tumbleweed Crossing and the Mystic Wind Choctaw Dancers, inside the village area.

A new and exciting main event will be the PRCA Xtreme Bull Riding Fall Nationals and the Tri-State Rodeo. The bull riding competition, part of the Xtreme Bulls Tour, will feature the best professional bull riders from around the world competing head-to-head. The Tri-State Rodeo will include contestants from one of the top Southeast regional pro-associations, as they battle to become Champion of their respective events.

Fairgoers will also enjoy the Ag Expo, sponsored by the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, inside the Trade Mart. The expo will include the crowd favorite Genuine MS® Store; an antique and classic car show; vendors from across the nation selling unique products and services; food preservation exhibits; arts and crafts; and other educational showcases of Mississippi agriculture.

Another addition to this year's fair is the Firefighter Combat Challenge, a relay simulating the essential skills of firefighting. All firefighters are welcome to compete; visit www.firefighterchallenge.com to apply for entry. The public is also invited to participate in the inaugural Homemade Biscuit Eating Contest. Registration for this contest can be found on the Mississippi State Fairgrounds' Facebook page.

Regular activities will take place throughout the 12 days of the fair including the annual Horse, Mule and Pony Pulls, live musical entertainment, livestock shows, Zerbini Family Circus performances and more.

The Mississippi State Fair runs Wednesday, October 6, through Sunday, October 17, with a gate admission price of $5.00 per person. Children under the age of 6 are admitted free of charge. Enjoy free admission weekdays 11:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m., with the exception of October 11.

See pages 16-19 for daily fair schedule. For additional information, download the Mississippi State Fair mobile app, visit www.msstatefair.com or follow the Mississippi State Fairgrounds on Facebook.

A scene from the Midway at the Mississippi State Fair circa 1950s.

The History of the Famous Biscuit Booth at the Mississippi State Fair

It was during a visit to the Missouri State Fair in the early 1970s that the late Mississippi Agriculture Commissioner Jim Buck Ross was inspired by a biscuit booth which combined the making of syrup and biscuits on the Midway. He wanted to offer that same educational and uniquely scrumptious experience to Mississippians at the annual Mississippi State Fair.

Instead of showing fairgoers how to make flour, as they did in Sedalia, Missouri, Commissioner Jim Buck Ross decided to demonstrate the milling of cane into syrup and the preparation of biscuits from scratch. Those who stopped to watch the action were rewarded with a fresh-baked biscuit oozing with warm syrup.

"When I was in Missouri, I saw them making sorghum syrup and ladies cooking biscuits and serving them with a hole in them and syrup poured in," Ross said. "I decided that's what we needed here at the Mississippi State Fair."

"It's educational," he pointed out. "A lot of children have never seen mules, and they've never seen syrup being made," added Ross.

And so, in the early 1970s, Commissioner Jim Buck Ross instituted what would become a staple attraction for generations to come at the Mississippi State Fair. The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce's famous Biscuit Booth was born.

For many years, Herbert Milligan, a retired employee of MDAC, voluntarily coordinated and managed the biscuit booth. As time marched on, other MDAC employees would follow Mr. Milligan's footsteps to manage the famous Biscuit Booth, including J.W. Thrash, Jake Hutchins, Doris Welch, and the current manager since 2018 Aguster Lewis.

The method for these famous buttermilk biscuits has been perfected over the years and is strictly followed by all volunteers. Supplies are kept stocked throughout the fair, and special pans are used that hold exactly 54 biscuits, with six rows across and nine delicious columns down.

Each year, it's estimated that MDAC employees make 100,000 biscuits for the public over the 12 days of the Mississippi State Fair.

The Legendary Mississippi State Fair Buttermilk Biscuits Recipe

Preheat oven to 400 degrees
Ingredients
4 cups self-rising flour
2 cups of cold buttermilk
3/4 cup shortening
Blackburn Made Syrup

1. Lightly coat a large baking dish or cookie sheet with shortening or cooking spray.

2. In a large bowl, add flour. Dig a well in the middle and add the shortening. Using your hand or fork or pastry cutter cut shortening into flour until crumbly.

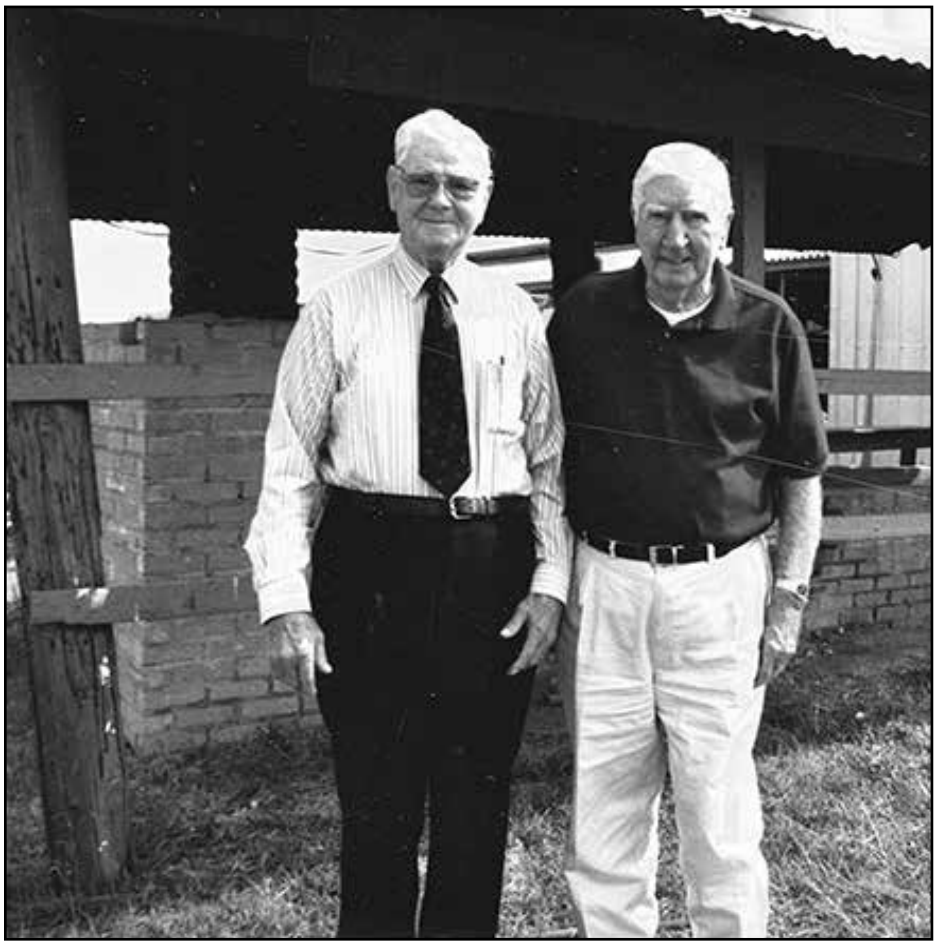
3. Dig a well, add buttermilk and stir until a soft ball of dough forms.

4. Lightly flour a flat surface, put soft ball of dough on floured surface and using your hands flatten to 1/2 inch thickness. Using a 2-inch tin can or biscuit cutter, flour can or cutter before each cut, do not twist when cutting; cut out round biscuits and place on baking sheet.

5. Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until light golden brown.

"Jim Buck, when you get to heaven,
God's going to give you your own molasses
mill and he's going to have folks fixin' biscuits for you.
And he's going to let you stick your finger in them biscuits, then pour that molasses down in there."

- Mississippi Comedian, Jerry Clower



Long time Biscuit Booth manager, Herbert Milligan (left) standing by the late Commissioner Jim Buck Ross at the syrup making/cane mill located by the Biscuit Booth on the Mississippi State Fairgrounds.

Longtime Biscuit Booth worker of 24 years and current manager, Aguster Lewis, teaches Commissioner Andy Gipson the process of creating the beloved buttermilk biscuits of the Mississippi State Fair.

The sorghum cane mill by the Biscuit Booth was always an interesting sight. A team of mules would turn the mill so the sorghum cane would be crushed in the mill to extract its sweet juices. The juice was then boiled down until it formed a thick syrup that was poured into the poked hole of each fresh-from-the oven biscuit.

USDA Updates Pandemic Assistance for Livestock, Poultry Contract Producers and Specialty Crop Growers

By USDA-FSA

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is updating the Coronavirus Food Assistance Program 2 (CFAP 2) for contract producers of eligible livestock and poultry and producers of specialty crops and other sales-based commodities. CFAP 2, which assists producers who faced market disruptions in 2020 due to COVID-19, is part of USDA's broader Pandemic Assistance for Producers initiative. Additionally, USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) has set an October 12 deadline for all eligible producers to apply for or modify applications for CFAP 2.

"We listened to feedback and concerns from producers and stakeholders about the gaps in pandemic assistance, and these adjustments to CFAP 2 help address unique circumstances, provide flexibility and make the program more equitable for all producers," said FSA Administrator Zach Ducheneaux. "The pandemic has had a tremendous impact on agricultural producers, and we have made significant progress since announcing our plans in March. While additional pandemic assistance remains to be announced in the coming weeks, USDA is also ramping up its efforts to make investments in the food supply chain to Build Back Better."

Assistance for Contract Producers

The Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021, provides up to $1 billion for payments to contract producers of eligible livestock and poultry for revenue losses from January 1, 2020, through December 27, 2020. Contract producers of broilers, pullets, layers, chicken eggs, turkeys, hogs and pigs, ducks, geese, pheasants and quail may be eligible for assistance. This update includes eligible breeding stock and eggs of all eligible poultry types produced under contract.

Payments for contract producers were to be based on a comparison of eligible revenue for the periods of January 1, 2019, through December 27, 2019, and January 1, 2020, through December 27, 2020. Today's changes mean contract producers can now elect to use eligible revenue from the period of January 1, 2018, through December 27, 2018, instead of that date range in 2019 if it is more representative. This change is intended to provide flexibility and make the program more equitable for contract producers who had reduced revenue in 2019 compared to a normal production year. The difference in revenue is then multiplied by 80% to determine a final payment. Payments to contract producers may be factored if total calculated payments exceed the available funding and will be made after the application period closes.

Additional flexibilities have been added to account for increases to operation size in 2020 and situations where a contract producer did not have a full period of revenue from January 1 to December 27 for either 2018 or 2019. Assistance is also available to new contract producers who began their farming operation in 2020.

Updates for Sales-Based Commodities

USDA is amending the CFAP 2 payment calculation for sales-based commodities, which are primarily comprised of by specialty crops, to allow producers to substitute 2018 sales for 2019 sales. Previously, payments for producers of sales-based commodities were based only on 2019 sales, with 2019 used as an approximation of the amount the producer would have expected to market in 2020. Giving producers the option to substitute 2018 sales for this approximation, including 2018 crop insurance indemnities and 2018 crop year Noninsured Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) and Wildfire and Hurricane Indemnity Program Plus (WHIP+) payments, provides additional flexibility to producers of sales-based commodities who had reduced sales in 2019.

Grass seed has also been added as an eligible sales commodity for CFAP 2. A complete list of all eligible sales-based commodities can be found at farmers.gov/cfap2/commodities. Producers of sales-based commodities can modify existing applications.

Applying for Assistance

Sign-up for CFAP 2 was re-opened in March and remains open to address inadequate initial outreach efforts to reach underserved producers and particularly those who produce sales commodities. Newly eligible producers who need to submit a CFAP 2 application or producers who need to modify an existing one can do so by contacting their local FSA office. Producers can find their local FSA office by visiting farmers.gov/service-locator. Producers can also obtain one-on-one support with applications by calling 877-508-8364. All new and modified CFAP 2 applications are due by the October 12 deadline.

Andy Gipson
Commissioner

As USDA looks to long-term solutions to build back a better food system as announced in June, the Department is committed to delivery of financial assistance to farmers, ranchers and agricultural producers and businesses who have been impacted by COVID-19 market disruptions. Since USDA rolled out the Pandemic Assistance for Producers initiative in March, the Department has announced approximately $7 billion in assistance to producers and agriculture entities. Previously announced pandemic assistance has included:

- Additional dairy assistance related to market volatility
- Depopulated livestock and poultry
- Timber harvesting and hauling
- $1 billion to purchase healthy food for food insecure Americans and build food bank capacity
- Pandemic Cover Crop Program
- $500 million deployed through existing USDA programs

Make a well in the center, and pour in the egg, buttermilk, and baking soda. Mix until everything is smooth and well blended. Pat the hot dogs dry with paper towels so that the batter will stick. Insert wood sticks into the ends. Dip the hot dogs in the batter one at a time, shaking off the excess. Deep fry a few at a time in the hot oil until they are as brown as you like them. WELCOME

TO THE 2021 MISSISSIPPI STATE FAIR

Dear Fairgoer,

On behalf of the Mississippi State Fairgrounds and the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, I welcome you and your family to the 162nd Mississippi State Fair!

We are proud to bring you the Mississippi State Fair, October 6-17, 2021, a 12-day event of magical fun and entertainment.

Once again, we have transformed the 105-acre campus at the fairgrounds into an outdoor amusement park filled with all your favorite fair foods, carnival rides, games, shows and contests...all in a safe and functional manner. As before, you can continue to expect hand sanitizing stations, an expansive layout and other safeguards that will allow you and your family to safely enjoy the Fair to the fullest.

During the 2021 Mississippi State Fair, spectators and participants can find excitement in numerous livestock shows and musical entertainment for all ages from headliner artists, the Zerbini Family Circus, a new Firefighter Challenge featuring local and national firefighters, and of course, the longstanding tradition of the Biscuit Booth. Dedicated employees of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce will be handing out complimentary homemade biscuits every night.

New to the Fair this year is the addition of the first-ever 'Mississippi Frontier Village,' an outdoor area featuring western-style vendors, exhibits, and entertainment!

Make the most of your visit by following the schedule of events and activities in this book. For more information, including concert and event schedules, a map of the attractions, livestock show information, the parked car finder and more, download the Mississippi State Fair's free mobile app. Also, we would like for you to share your pictures and memories on social media outlets and tag the Mississippi State Fair in your posts on Facebook.com/mississippistatefair, Instagram @msstatefair and Twitter @msstatefair.

Thank you for letting the Mississippi State Fair be a part of your family tradition this year. We all owe a debt of gratitude to those who dedicate their time and talents in bringing the Fair to life.

Have a great time at your Mississippi State Fair!

Sincerely,

Andy Gipson
Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce

COVID-19 transmission is less likely at outside events than inside events; however, the risk remains. Guests are encouraged to use their own common sense. Please practice social distancing, take advantage of our sanitization stations, and be respectful in lines, on rides, and with our vendors as we utilize sanitizing and safety protocols. Guests may wish to bring and utilize a mask in case they are unable to maintain social distance or for when they attend inside events. Past MDAC FFA Intern Spotlight

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) has a long-standing tradition of providing on-the-job training for young people who are involved in agriculture. In 1975, former Commissioner Jim Buck Ross began an internship program for the State President of the Mississippi FFA Association. Once elected as the leader of the FFA for a year-long term, each President worked at the department in various roles and often experienced unique opportunities that advanced the future of agriculture in Mississippi. This month we will begin sharing profiles of our previous interns, learn about their experience at MDAC and discover how the internship influenced their career path.

1975-1976 MDAC Intern, Michael Moss

By Gayle Fortenberry
& Emily Stovall
Agriculture Workforce Education, Outreach and Development - MDAC

Michael Moss studied agriculture at Grenada High School, and he served as the Mississippi FFA State President and intern at the MS Department of Agriculture and Commerce during the 1975-1976 school year. His high school agriculture teacher was Jerry Alexander. Jim Buck Ross was the Commissioner of Agriculture during that time.

Moss shares that one of the most significant lessons he learned through the internship experience is that agriculture is an economic driver for our society. "The year of learning provided a great opportunity to explore the different areas of agriculture in the state," said Moss.

A unique experience for Moss during the internship was the opportunity to learn about and become involved in the early stages of the fight against the spread of Brucellosis, a bacterial disease typically found in cattle, but can be spread to humans. He also had an opportunity to work on the Mississippi Market Bulletin publication.

Duties as State FFA President included honoring supporters of the FFA. Pictured is Moss presenting Mississippi comedian Jerry Clower with a recognition plaque in 1976.

Being in the FFA had a significant impact on Moss as he decided on a career path after high school. The internship experience earned through the FFA with MDAC further influenced him enter a pre-veterinary program in college, and ultimately earn a degree in Agronomy from Mississippi State University and a doctorate in Plant Pathology from North Carolina State University.

After three years as Assistant Professor at the University of Florida, Moss has held various roles with Syngenta Crop Protection, one of the world's leading agricultural companies. He was the Global Development Manager for Fungicides in London, England and now lives in Ramseur, North Carolina where he is the head of Syngenta Technical Development for the USA.

Moss and his son, Will, also currently operate and manage Windy Hill Farms, LLC, a registered Angus cattle seedstock operation.

Cotton Growers Seek Hot, September After Rainfall From Ida

By Nathan Gregory
MSU Extension Service

When the calendar turns to September, many who call Mississippi home long for cooler temperatures to relieve the summer's heat, but the state's cotton growers want high temperatures and dry weather to drag into October.

The state's 475,000-acre crop is depending on high temperatures to hang around for another month to produce high yields. The crop is mostly a few weeks behind schedule because a wet, cool spring forced late plantings, and cloudy days slowed its growth in its first stage, said Brian Pieralisi, cotton specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service.

Major flooding from a week of heavy rainfall in June and from Hurricane Ida also had a say in the crop's delayed progress. A hot, dry September would help the crop catch up, he said.

"The first few weeks of September are going to play a huge part in the quality of our harvest this year," Pieralisi said. "I think the vast majority of our cotton will be picked in October, and a big rain when plants are setting bolls would cause us to run out of time before cooler weather comes.

"Likewise, the prospect of heavy rain or a cold snap at the wrong time would force growers to scramble and get what they can out of the ground or risk crop loss," he said.

While the crop is behind its ideal maturity for this time of year, it's ahead of where it was at this time in 2020.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture on August 30 estimated 42% of the acreage already had bolls opening, compared to 22% a year before. The USDA also estimated 71% of the state's crop to be in good or excellent condition. Twenty-four percent is considered fair, with just 5% in poor or very poor condition.

Pieralisi said the quality of the crop was highly variable depending on location.

"I can go to some fields that look phenomenal because they were planted on time and didn't have anything come against them at critical stages, and then I can go to some fields that haven't caught a break all year," he said. "Most of the struggling acres were planted late and had saturated soils for too long to establish a suitable root system.

"If you take out the extremes, you're looking at a crop that is a little better than average, depending on how lucky you've been weatherwise," Pieralisi said.

Extension row crop economist Will Maples said cotton prices have been on an upward trend all growing season long.

"December 2021 Intercontinental Exchange cotton futures nearly broke the 95-cent level a couple weeks ago before falling off to 93 cents, but Hurricane Ida concerns have pushed the price right back near the 95-cent level," Maples said. "The market is continuing to question the size of this year's crop as prices move higher."

Some possible issues to keep an eye on that might temper demand are high prices, the ongoing pandemic and shipping delays.

"U.S. cotton is currently facing good demand that is expected to continue with USDA projecting 15 million bales of exports in the 2021 marketing year," Maples said. "The USDA currently projects U.S. ending stocks at 3 million bales, which would be the lowest levels we have seen since 2016. The current 2021 marketing year average farm price projection of 80 cents is the highest since 2013."

Fall Flower & Garden Fest Set for October 4-8

By Susan M. Collins-Smith
MSU Extension Service

The 2021 Fall Flower & Garden Fest will return to an in-person event but will be modified because of the persistently high number of COVID-19 cases.

The fest will be held 9 a.m. to noon daily October 4-8 at the Mississippi State University Truck Crops Branch Experiment Station in Crystal Springs.

Educational sessions, Master Gardener presentations and walking tours will be offered each day. Attendees also can explore the station's 3-acre display garden, which includes flowers, vegetables and herbs.

No vendors, including food vendors, will be present. Attendees are encouraged to bring their own water and other refreshments. A limited amount of bottled water will be available for sale.

Admission and parking are free. Organizers anticipate fewer vehicles, and no shuttle service is available this year. The station is located at 2024 Experiment Station Road.

For more information, visit the Fall Flower & Garden Fest page on the MSU Extension website at http://extension.msstate.edu/fallfest.

MSU is an equal opportunity institution. For disability accommodation, please contact Shaun Broderick at 601-892-3731 or srb559@msstate.edu.
