MDAC Looks Back Over Another Year of Success and a Promising Future

By Hannah East
Marketing Specialist - MDAC

In pursuit of the service of all Mississippians, both within the ag industry and without, the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) celebrates another successful year in the books.

"The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce plays a diverse role in promoting agriculture as well as protecting the largest industry in the state and each individual consumer," said Mississippi Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson. "Our agency touches the lives of all Mississippians, not just those directly involved in production agriculture.

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce state building is located in downtown Jackson at 121 North Jefferson Street, Jackson, MS 39201.

MDAC is charged with the responsibility of safeguarding the interests of the public, even as we continue to strive for excellence in the support and promotion of Mississippi's largest industry."

MDAC does indeed impact the daily lives of all Mississippians, making it uniquely exceptional compared to other state agencies. The ag department ensures equity in the consumer marketplace by inspecting petroleum pumps at gas stations, checking food labels in grocery stores and retail establishments, and inspecting scales at weigh stations, stockyards and railways. It supports the state's ag producers by promoting Mississippi products and developing trade markets for these products, and it protects farmers, ranchers and ag producers statewide by investigating agriculture-related thefts and enforcing laws pertaining to agribusiness and livestock brands.

During the past year alone, MDAC's Mississippi Agricultural and Livestock Theft Bureau (MALTB) investigated 222 cases with a reported value of over $1,215,838 and recovered $604,750 in stolen property. Through the efforts of the MALTB, Mississippians recouped livestock, farm equipment and timber profits illegally acquired from private lands.

Similarly, MDAC's Bureau of Plant Industry and Bureau of Regulatory Services responded to countless complaints statewide to ensure compliance with state and federal laws by involved parties. MDAC inspectors responded to hundreds of consumer complaints on behalf of its citizens, resulting in corrective action being taken in several cases… another example of the services provided in defense of the public.

In addition to these specific complaints, MDAC registered 15,500 pesticide products for sale; inspected over 57,700 petroleum devices; tested over 4,400 active weighing devices and scales; issued over 830 retail food establishment licenses; and inspected 31.4 million pounds of red meat and 64.2 million pounds of poultry every year, to name a few achievements.

Apart from the agency's regulatory role in commerce, it also works diligently to support and grow Mississippi's agriculture industry. As the largest industry in the state, agriculture earned $9.7 billion last year, employing approximately 17.4% of the state's workforce. Even with the recent obstacles facing the supply chain and product availability, our Mississippi farmers have managed to secure a successful harvest this past year. In turn, their hard work and perseverance has strengthened MDAC's determination to assist this small community of less than 2% of the population which feeds, clothes and provides for the entire world.

Helping our small-time and commercial farmers, ranchers and ag producers around the state is MDAC's main goal. Through the agency's Market Development Division, approximately $400,000 is distributed annually through grant funds provided by the United States Department of Agriculture. The Marketing Division also manages several promotional programs specifically designed to increase awareness of Mississippi's ag products and agricultural-related businesses. International trade, Farm-to-School, agritourism and farmers market registries, livestock and grain market news, online market portals and other outreach efforts remain a primary focus for the agency. Part of these efforts include expanding the Genuine MS® program and the Mississippi Market Bulletin, two of the largest marketing initiatives related to agriculture that can be found in the state today.

Further outreach and communication require a special touch in today's world. Working closely with each division at MDAC, the Information Management Division (IMD) plays a critical role by both providing technical support to agency employees and reaching the masses with information in this technologically advanced age. Through online webpages, social media applications and drone and photography services, IMD ensures important information is readily available to the public on behalf of the agency and its branches, the Mississippi State Fairgrounds and Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum. This vital service provides a direct line of communication between the consumer and local farmer to one of the largest agencies in the state.

Together, several bureaus and divisions, two major venues and just over 200 employees make up the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, which is dedicated to preserving Mississippi agriculture.

Accomplishments in the Midst of Challenges

By Andy Gipson
Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce

Happy New Year! My hope for you and your family is that you have a prosperous 2023. Ringing in a new year gives us the opportunity to reset and look ahead to things that we want to accomplish over the next 12 months. A new year also offers us time for reflection. As you are well aware, 2022 brought its fair share of challenges for farmers, as well as consumers – supply chain issues, inflation, floods followed by drought, skyrocketing input and fuel costs, a historically low Mississippi River. What a year! However, there were positive aspects of 2022, and I believe that we all have something to be thankful for from this past year.

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce worked tirelessly this past year serving the State of Mississippi. Staff initiated programs and activities to promote and protect the agriculture industry, while protecting consumers and ensuring a fair and equitable marketplace. As we move into 2023, I wanted to reflect and share with you some of MDAC's 2022 accomplishments:

- The Mississippi State Fairgrounds hosted a record-breaking Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo with all-time record Rodeo ticket sales of over $1 million and a record Sale of Junior Champions grossing a total of $448,500.
- The new 750 foot deep well system at the Fairgrounds was completed in early 2022, and Dixie National was the first major event utilizing the well.
- Field trips successfully returned to the MS Ag and Forestry Museum. The Museum was awarded "Small Festival Event of the Year 2022" for its Pickle Fest by the MS Tourism Association.
- MDAC's inaugural Ag Youth Council designed for future ag leaders concluded its first year, and a second Ag Youth Council has been named.
- Several new local meat processing plants opened throughout the state giving new options to our cattle producers and to consumers desiring local meat.
- MDAC held its first inbound Mississippi Timber International Trade Mission with buyers from five countries (Mexico, Dominican Republic, Great Britain, Spain & Vietnam) resulting in sales of $7 million the week of the event and anticipated sales of an additional $5 million the month following.
- With a renewed interest in farmers market by consumers and farmers, MDAC assisted in launching several markets in 2022.
- MDAC established new conservation initiatives with the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries, and Parks and FFA strengthening the partnership between agriculture and wildlife enthusiasts, and the Fairgrounds hosted the spring and fall Ag and Outdoor Expos.
- Interest in the Wild Hog Control Program has increased as the trapping program is showing positive results.
- In October, we held the safest Mississippi State Fair reaching near pre-pandemic attendance levels.
- MDAC increased promotions of Genuine MS® members and products by increasing number of Genuine MS® pop-up stores and expanding retail options by offering online sales.
- MDAC launched the Local Food Purchase Assistance Program, a new local food initiative which provides funds to three Feeding America affiliated food banks to purchase food from local farmers and food producers to be distributed to underserved communities. I encourage our farmers and other food producers and processors interested in selling to the food banks to register in the producer directory found on our website.
- In December, I announced the release of the first-ever book detailing the complete 116-year history of MDAC researched and written by MDAC staff.

Andy Gipson
Commissioner

It was quite a busy year at MDAC, and 2023 is starting off even busier. Again, I wish you and your families a Happy New Year. And, as we start the new year, I want to personally invite you to the Mississippi State Fairgrounds for the many events associated with the Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo, which runs January 6 to February 19, 2023.

MDAC HISTORY BOOK AVAILABLE NOW

The history of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce is as rich as Mississippi's soil and as important as the state's leading industry itself – agriculture. Now, for the first time in its 117-year past, MDAC is proud to release a book on the complete history of the state agency!

Glazed Spiral-Cut Holiday Ham

1 (8- to 9-lb.) fully cooked, bone-in spiral-cut ham half
Cola-Dijon-Brown Sugar Glaze:
1 1/2 cups firmly packed dark brown sugar
1/2 cup cola soft drink
1/2 cup Dijon mustard
1/2 teaspoon kosher salt
Stir together all glaze ingredients until smooth

Preheat oven to 350°. Place ham half, cut side down, in a heavy-duty aluminum foil-lined jelly-roll pan; let stand at room temperature 30 minutes. Brush 1/2 cup glaze over ham. Bake, uncovered, on lowest oven rack 2 1/2 to 3 hours or until a meat thermometer inserted into thickest portion registers 140°, basting every 30 minutes with 1/2 cup glaze. Remove from oven, and spoon pan drippings over ham. Let stand 10 minutes. Source: Southernliving.com.

Classic Southern Buttermilk Cornbread

2 cups white or yellow cornmeal
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups buttermilk
1 large egg
3 tablespoons melted shortening plus more for the skillet

Preheat oven to 425 degrees F. Position the rack in the center of the oven. Put about one tablespoon of shortening in a 9-to-10-inch cast iron skillet and place the skillet in the oven. In a large bowl, combine the cornmeal, flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Whisk to blend thoroughly. In another bowl, whisk together the buttermilk, egg and shortening. Add the buttermilk mixture to the dry mixture and stir just until blended. Carefully remove the hot cast iron pan from the oven and set it on a metal rack. Pour the batter into the sizzling shortening in the hot skillet. Return the skillet to the oven, reduce the temperature to 375 degrees F, and bake for about 20 to 24 minutes, until golden brown. Cut the cornbread into wedges and serve hot. Source: Thespruce.com.

Smothered Collard Greens and Cabbage

1/2 pound bacon, chopped
1/2 large onion, chopped
5 leaves collard greens, rinsed, trimmed and chopped
Salt and ground black pepper to taste
1 teaspoon greens seasoning, divided
1 head cabbage, chopped
1 pinch white sugar

Fry the bacon with the onion in a large skillet over medium heat until the bacon is crisp, about 10 minutes. Stir in the chopped collard greens, sprinkle with salt, black pepper and 1/2 teaspoon of the greens seasoning; cook and stir for five minutes. Add the darker chopped cabbage leaves, and cook and stir until almost tender, about five minutes. Stir in the remaining cabbage; season with salt, black pepper, sugar and the remaining greens seasoning. Stir well; cover and cook until tender, stirring occasionally so that the greens do not scorch, about 10 minutes. Source: Allrecipes.com.

Spicy Southern Black-Eyed Peas

1 pound dried black-eyed peas
4 ounces salt pork, rind removed, diced, or thick bacon, diced
1 cup chopped onion
3 to 4 cloves garlic, minced
1 to 2 cups diced cooked ham
2 ribs celery, diced
1/2 red bell pepper, diced, optional
1/2 green bell pepper, diced, optional
1 tablespoon Creole or Cajun seasoning mixture
1/2 teaspoon salt, or to taste
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Ground hot pepper, optional, to taste

Following package directions, soak the black-eyed peas overnight or cover with water, boil for two minutes, then let stand for one hour; drain. Meanwhile, in a large skillet, sauté the diced salt pork with onion until onion is browned. Combine salt pork and onions with the drained peas and remaining ingredients; add water just to cover. Simmer for about one and a half to two and a half hours, or until tender, checking and adding a little more water if necessary. Taste and adjust seasonings. Source: thespruce.com.

Resting Our Fields

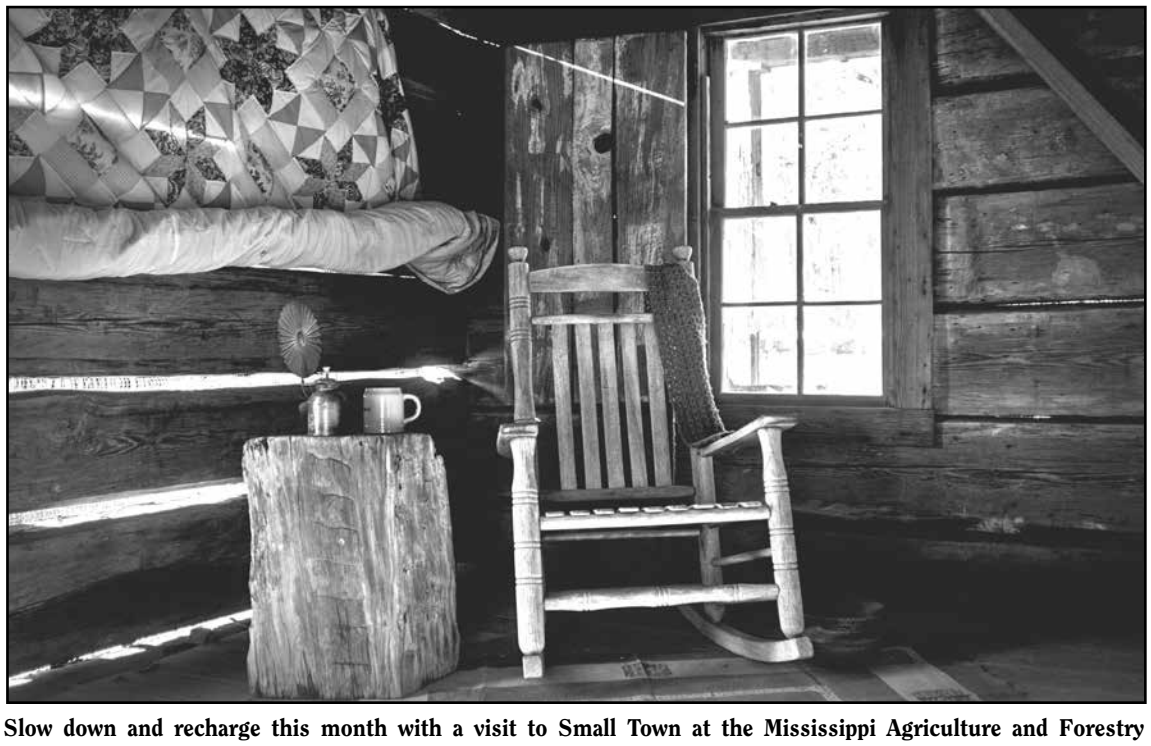
By Amie C. Clark
Mississippi Agriculture
& Forestry Museum - MDAC

Driving through the Delta in the early part of the year is a desolate and often dreary sight. The crops are all harvested, and the fields appear abandoned. The corn stalks lay strewn along semi-defined rows, the stubs of once full cotton plants stand amongst left over bits of white fluff, and the bean fields have long since been disked under. This is a deceptive time for those who aren't familiar with the cyclical nature of Mississippi agriculture. However, it's a good reminder that even the fields must rest at some point.

The hustle and bustle of the harvest season is over. The holidays have passed. The new year has begun. January is a time to slow down and take a deep breath to ready ourselves for the new year ahead. There is much promise with the coming months, but we must leave the old year behind. We must take a lesson from the farmer and disk under the stalks of the past year allowing them to fertilize the ground in which we plant the new year's hopes.

The farmer is not deceived by the barren appearance of the harvested field. He does not see the remnants of the previous season as failure, quite the opposite, the empty field is the hallmark of success. So too, are our lives. We plant the hopes and dreams of each season. They are tended with diligence and care throughout the highs and lows of life. These aspirations are the focus of our journey through storms, droughts, and even beautiful days. We spend our energy tending and growing these dreams. Then, during the harvest, we collect the fruits of our labor and allow them to speak for and support us throughout the year.

January is an important time of resting for these fields, just as it is for us. To be fruitful, the fields must have a time of replenishment. They must rest and be allowed to take the nutrients in from around them. This makes the soil stronger and more profitable. We too, must take a lesson from the field and allow ourselves time to rest and recharge. It's a time to look forward to what will be planted in our fields during the spring. What do we want to grow in our lives this year? How can we use our fields to feed and support not only ourselves, but others also?



Slow down and recharge this month with a visit to Small Town at the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum. (Photo by MS Ag & Forestry Museum/ Mason Kymes)

This January, I encourage you to take a drive to the country. Look out across those dreary fields and reflect for a minute. Reflect on the generations of crops that have grown there and reflect on the crops that will be planted there this year. Reflect on your own life and your own fields, take the time to see what all has already been harvested and the potential you have. Take a moment to rest your fields this month, recharge them, replenish them and look forward to what you will plant in the coming year.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. It's FREE to advertise, just include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale.

A Century of Faith, Family & Farm Bureau Recapping the 2022 MFBF Annual Convention

By Alex Lowery
Communications and Public Relations
Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation

Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation celebrated 100 years of faith, family and Farm Bureau during its 100th Annual Convention by inviting every facet of the Mississippi agriculture industry to Jackson in December.

The iconic event, held at the Mississippi State Fairgrounds and the Sheraton Refuge, boasted activities for all ages, including the Mississippi Farm & Land Expo, the Mississippi Farm Bureau Classic Livestock Show, and a concert, featuring Trace Adkins, Clay Walker and Drake White.

Families, friends, Farm Bureau members and many Mississippians who were new to the agriculture industry were invited…and thousands showed up.

"This event is what Farm Bureau is all about," MFBF President Mike McCormick said. "We wanted our members to join us in this celebration, but we also wanted our fellow Mississippians to come see the impact we have and what the future of agriculture looks like in our state. I believe we accomplished that with each piece of this convention."

In the Mississippi Farm & Land Expo, attendees could purchase anything from clothing to any type of seed to a tractor – big or small. They also had the opportunity to experience the latest farming technology on display throughout the expo.

"We're here to see all of the technology available to farmers, like ourselves," said Carla Taylor, a Prentiss County dairy farmer and MFBF State Women's Leadership Committee member. "I think this is a wonderful way to show those outside of Farm Bureau that farmers are not just a man in overalls, standing in a field of cows with a pitch fork. Mississippi farmers use state-of-the-art technology, like what is featured in the trade show, every day."

Hundreds of families also showed up and showed out by competing in the Mississippi Farm Bureau Classic Livestock Show.

This piece of the centennial celebration allowed MFBF to provide the youth of Mississippi with direct experiences, allowing them to achieve more in life, in and out of the show ring. It also provided the organization the opportunity to educate the public about agriculture in a different way.

"The livestock show was an important piece of our centennial celebration," McCormick says. "It allowed us to connect with members and non-members who show livestock, as well as consumers who were interested in the livestock we raise in Mississippi."

MFBF raised the bar for the celebratory event by hosting prominent state and national leaders and elected officials.

State leaders included Gov. Tate Reeves, Lt. Gov. Delbert Hosemann, Speaker of the House Philip Gunn, Speaker Pro Tempore Jason White, Attorney General Lynn Fitch, Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson, Commissioner of Insurance and State Fire Marshall Mike Chaney, and Mississippi State University President Dr. Mark Keenum.

National leaders included U.S. Senators Roger Wicker and Cindy Hyde-Smith, U.S. Representatives Trent Kelly, Michael Guest and Mike Ezell, American Farm Bureau Federation President Zippy Duvall, and former Arkansas Gov. Mike Huckabee, the keynote speaker for the event.

These special guests spoke to members during the event's general sessions. Some also presented state and national resolutions celebrating the anniversary. Keenum even brought the Golden Egg trophy for all to enjoy.

"This is a milestone we're all proud of, because most member organizations don't last 100 years," Duvall says. "If you look at Farm Bureau, we're more relevant today than we were when the organization was created. The reason for that is simple – people are so removed from the farm and the work those in the agriculture industry do that our impact in all areas, especially legislatively, is so valuable."

After attending this event, many within the agriculture industry walked away with a renewed energy, knowing the future is bright.

"Farm Bureau represents the whole state of Mississippi," says Dr. Steve Martin, Mississippi State University Extension professional. "It looks after not only famers, but consumers, too. It also doesn't matter what facet of agriculture you are in – livestock, row crop, horticulture – Farm Bureau is your voice, and I think they showcased that well during this celebration."

Now, MFBF is already looking to the next 100 years, identifying the farmers, ranchers, business owners, lawmakers and members who will lead the organization and continue the work as the voice of agriculture.

"We need leaders to celebrate, stand up and fight for Farm Bureau and the rural way of life – because our work is not done. I implore you to be someone on that wagon that started a century ago. Whether you're pushing, pulling or steering, Farm Bureau needs you to be our future."

Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation hosted more than 100 vendors for the Mississippi Farm & Land Expo held in conjunction with the organization's 2022 Annual Convention.

Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation hosted the Mississippi Farm Bureau Classic Livestock Show as one component of its centennial celebration.
