Indulge Your Senses at the 159th Mississippi State Fair

By Donna West, Division Director
Market Development – MDAC

There is no better place to be to take in a glorious sensory overload than the 159th Mississippi State Fair. Upon arrival, even before crossing the threshold of the midway, all senses are working overtime. Shrieks, laughter and the clanging of rides can be heard right away. The sight of throngs of people, the mighty Ferris wheels, and pigs racing will make you blink with delight. Clutching your first win or hanging on tightly as the hair raising ride you're on takes off merely enforces appreciation of contact. The aroma of biscuits baking, corn-dogs cooking, and good stuff grilling will propel you down the longest and most diverse buffet you will ever enjoy.

The Mississippi State Fair runs Wednesday, October 3 through Sunday, October 14, as daily entertainment and activities take place in the Trade Mart, the Kirk Fordice Equine Center, and all along the 105 acres of the Mississippi Fairgrounds Complex in Jackson.

For 159 years, the Mississippi State Fair, located in the capital city of Jackson has been the designated site for adventure, entertainment, competition and feasting. Over 100 acres of open space, livestock barns, exhibit buildings and a 10,000 seat coliseum provide the framework for a midway overflowing with breathtaking rides, curious displays, tasty treats and multitudes of other attractions.

Opening day is Wednesday, October 3rd, and with a hospitable scissor snip of ribbon at 5:00 p.m., Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson will officially welcome one and all to the 2018 Mississippi State Fair. "While this is my first Mississippi State Fair to serve as your Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce, attending the Fair has always been a Gipson family tradition," said Commissioner Gipson. "My family and I have attended every year since I was a boy, and now my wife Leslie and I have the joy of bringing our four children to the State Fair." Added Steve Hutton, new Executive Director of the Mississippi Fair Commission, "State Fairs across the United States became popular in the 1800's for the purpose of promoting state agriculture and livestock. It wasn't until the 20th century that State Fairs expanded to include rides, games, concerts and entertainment. Your 159th Mississippi State Fair is a wonderful blend of both."

Headliners in this year's entertainment lineup in the Budweiser Stage on the Midway, and free with regular fair admission, include

Chris Janson, Hinder, Hannah Belle, Goodpaper of the Reverend Robert Mortimer, Jason and Destiny Project, En Vogue, The Marshall Tucker Band, Colt Ford, Mercy Me, Luckenbach (Willie Nelson Tribute Band), and Fred T and The Band.

Daily activities take place in the Trade Mart, Trustmark Hospitality Tent, the Kirk Fordice Equine Center, and all along the Midway and Fairgrounds Complex. Indulge your senses of smell and taste throughout the Midway as you dine at one or more of the 85 Food and Beverage venues, many of which are from right here in Mississippi.

The Mississippi State Fair presents a day of celebration for our Senior Americans on Wednesday, October 10 from 9:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. in the Coliseum. Free gate admission, parking and show admission for all senior citizens 55 and older until 1:00 p.m.

In the livestock area, just off the Midway, there will be over 1,000 students showing their livestock for prizes. Take time to visit the Livestock Judging Arena in the center of the food area off the Midway, and don't miss the FFA Children's Barnyard located behind the Biscuit Booth.

Volunteers from the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce give out over 100,000 'made from scratch' biscuits every year at the Biscuit Booth near the Kid Zone. Come by between 4:00 and 6:00 p.m. daily and meet your new Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce, Andy Gipson. "Thank you for letting the Mississippi State Fair be a part of your family tradition this year," said Commissioner Gipson. Your senses will thank you too.

The fair runs through Sunday, October 14, with regular gate admission of $5.00; children under the age of six are admitted free of charge. See pages 16 to 18 for a complete fair guide listing.

From Our Kitchen To Yours

Home Style Fair Food

Bacon-Wrapped Corn

8 large ears sweet corn, husks removed
8 bacon strips
2 tablespoons chili powder

Wrap each ear of corn with a bacon strip; place on a piece of heavy-duty foil. Sprinkle with chili powder. Wrap securely, twisting ends to make handles for turning. Grill corn, covered, over medium heat 20-25 minutes or until corn is tender and bacon is cooked, turning once.

Mini Nutella Doughnuts

1 large egg
1 tablespoon water
1 tube (16.3 ounces) large refrigerated flaky biscuits (8 count)
2/3 cup Nutella
Oil for deep-fat frying
Confectioners' sugar

Whisk egg with water. On a lightly floured surface, roll each biscuit into a six-inch circle; cut each into four wedges. Brush lightly with egg mixture; top each wedge with one teaspoon Nutella. Bring up corners over filling; pinch edges firmly to seal. In an electric skillet or deep fryer, heat oil to 350 degrees. In small batches, place doughnuts in hot oil, seam side down; fry until golden brown, one to two minutes per side. Drain on paper towels. Dust with confectioners' sugar; serve warm.

Cinnamon Caramel Apples

2 packages (14 ounces each) caramels
3 tablespoons milk chocolate chips
3 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
3/4 teaspoon vanilla extract
8 Popsicle sticks
8 large tart apples
Sprinkles and chopped peanuts

In a microwave-safe bowl, combine the caramels, chocolate chips, water, cinnamon and vanilla. Microwave, uncovered, on high for 1 1/2 minutes; stir. Microwave the mixture 30-60 seconds longer or until caramels are melted. Insert Popsicle sticks into the apples; dip into caramel mixture, turning to coat. Roll in or press on desired toppings. Place on waxed paper; let stand until set.

Kettle Corn

1/4 cup vegetable oil
1/4 cup white sugar
1/2 cup unpopped popcorn kernels

Heat the vegetable oil in a large pot over medium heat. Once hot, stir in the sugar and popcorn. Cover, and shake the pot constantly to keep the sugar from burning. When the popping has slowed to once every 2 to 3 seconds, remove the pot from the heat and continue to shake for a few minutes until the popping stops completely. Pour into a large bowl, and allow to cool, stirring occasionally to break up large clumps. Note: Use brown sugar and the popcorn will taste like caramel corn.

Tacos on a Stick

1 envelope taco seasoning
1 cup tomato juice
2 tablespoons canola oil
2 pounds beef top sirloin steak, cut into 1-inch cubes
1 medium green pepper, cut into chunks
1 medium sweet red pepper, cut into chunks
1 large onion, cut into wedges
16 cherry tomatoes
Salsa con queso or sour cream, optional

In a large resealable plastic bag, combine the taco seasoning, tomato juice and oil; mix well. Remove 1/2 cup for basting; refrigerate. Add beef to the bag; seal and turn to coat. Refrigerate for at least five hours. Drain and discard marinade from beef. On metal or soaked wooden skewers, alternately thread beef, peppers, onion, and tomatoes. Grill, uncovered, over medium heat for three minutes on each side. Baste with reserved marinade. Continue turning and basting for eight to ten minutes or until meat reaches desired doneness. If desired, serve with salsa con queso or sour cream.

Blackberry Lemonade

4 cups water, divided
1 cup sugar
1 cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated lemon zest
1 cup blackberries
1 to 2 drops blue food coloring, optional

In a large saucepan, bring two cups water and sugar to a boil. Boil for two minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from the heat. Stir in the lemon juice, zest and remaining water; cool slightly. In a blender, combine one cup lemon mixture and the blackberries; cover and process until blended. Strain and discard seeds. Pour blackberry mixture and remaining lemon mixture into a pitcher; stir well. Add food coloring if desired. Refrigerate until chilled. Serve in chilled glasses over ice.

Welcome to The 2018 Mississippi State Fair

Dear Fairgoer,

On behalf of the Mississippi Fair Commission and the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, we are very excited about the opportunity to welcome you and your family to the 159th Mississippi State Fair! While this is my first Mississippi State Fair to serve as your Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce, attending the Fair is a Gipson family tradition. My family and I have attended every year since I was a boy, and now my wife Leslie and I have the joy of bringing our four children to the State Fair.

During the 12 days of the Mississippi State Fair, the 105 acre fairgrounds is transformed into an exciting amusement park filled with the most delicious fair food, carnival rides, games, shows and contests. Spectators and participants can find excitement in numerous livestock shows and musical entertainment for all ages from headliner artists.

Make sure to come by one of the most popular stops on the Midway — the Biscuit Booth, for a warm, homemade biscuit compliments of the employees from the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. I plan to be there every day from 4 – 6 p.m. to personally meet and welcome you to the Fair.

Make the most of your visit by following the schedule of events and activities in this book. For more information, including concert and event schedules, a map of the attractions, livestock show information, the parked car finder and more, download the Mississippi State Fair's free mobile app. Also, we would like for you to share your pictures and memories on social media outlets and tag the Mississippi State Fair in your posts on Facebook.com/mississippistatefair/, Instagram @msstatefair and Twitter @msstatefair.

Thank you for letting the Mississippi State Fair be a part of your family tradition this year. We owe a debt of gratitude to all those who dedicate their time and talents in bringing the Fair to life.

In closing, I want to welcome the new Executive Director Steve Hutton to the Mississippi Fair Commission. He has a vision for the fairgrounds he will share with you, as well.

Have a great time at your Mississippi State Fair!

Sincerely,

Andy Gipson
Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce
Chairman of the Mississippi Fair Commission

4-H & FFA

Livestock Shows

Mississippi youth compete for top honors showcasing the best in livestock and agriculture. See the best in market and dairy cattle, sheep and swine shows, along with the Mississippi Sweetheart and 4-H Dairy Sweetheart Pageants.

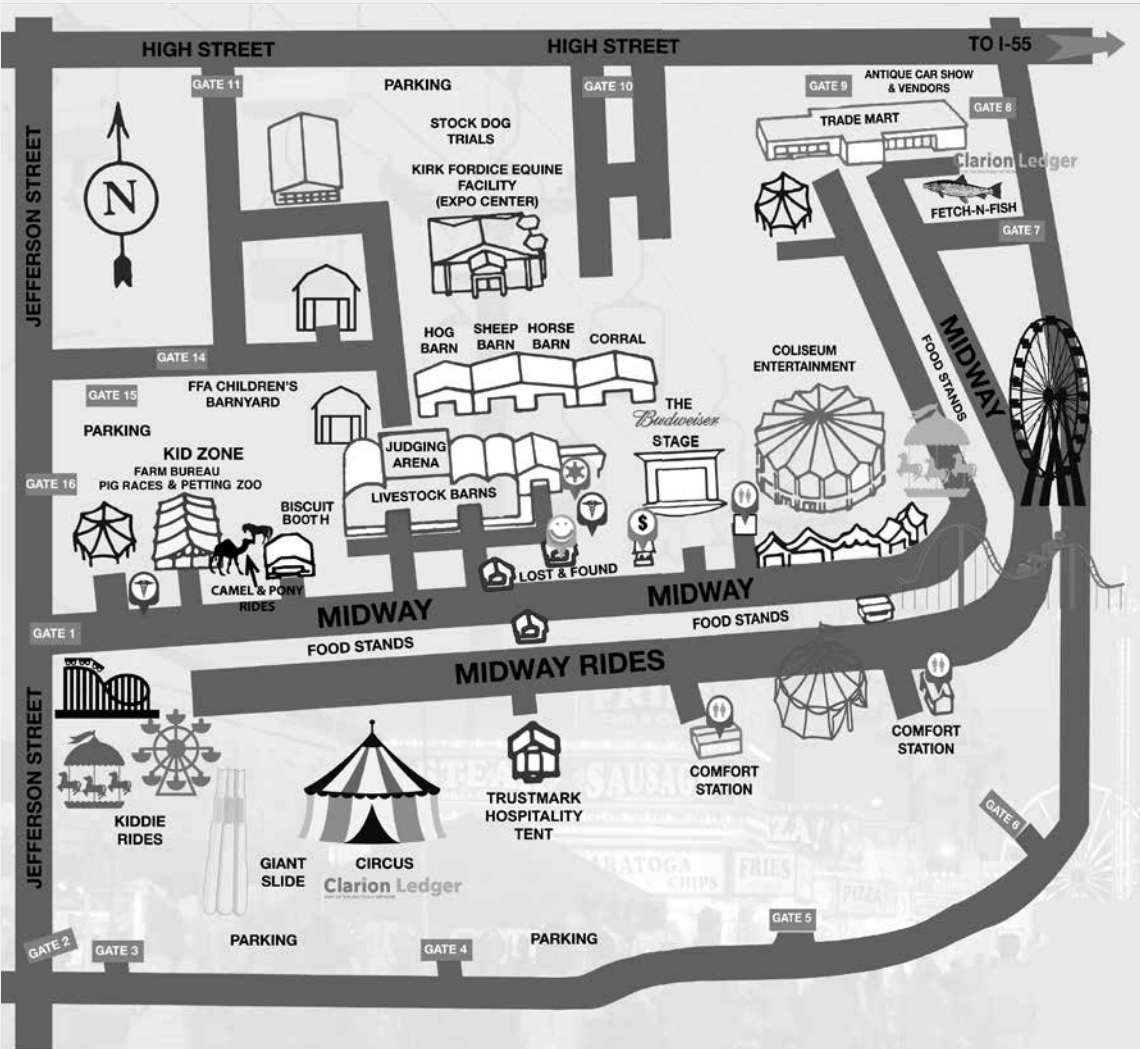

PIG RACING

MS Farm Bureau brings you excellent crowd pleasing entertainment with a touch of class with the MS State Fair Pig Racing. These pig racing contests consist of three different species of pigs. Each species run a separate heat race giving us three separate heat races during each show time for three times the fun! Children and adults love to see our little “hams” race to the finish line for a treat! And, you can get involved too! You could get picked from the crowd to “cheer” for one of the racing pigs. 12:30 pm • 6 pm • 7 pm • 8 pm. Located off the Midway near Gate 1.

Fall Flower & Garden Fest Set for October 12 & 13

By Susan M. Collins-Smith
MSU Extension Service

Garden enthusiasts and horticultural industry professionals can enjoy the largest home gardening show in the Southeast October 12 and 13.

The 40th annual Fall Flower & Garden Fest will be at the Mississippi State University Truck Crops Branch Experiment Station in Crystal Springs from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. both days.

Attendees can learn about the latest plants, research and gardening techniques during educational sessions, workshops, tours and horticultural displays. Wagon tours of the 175-acre station and walking tours of the gardens will be available. The station's demonstration gardens include All-America Selections winners, Mississippi Medallion Winners and other tested herbs, vegetables, fruits and ornamental bedding and landscape plants.

Educational sessions will include research updates, how-to workshops, and information on caring for gardens, including pest and disease management. Extension Service and Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station experts, along with industry professionals and Master Gardeners, will share information on composting, beekeeping, butterflies, salad tables, shade gardens, pollinator gardens, floral design, pond management and much more.

The station is located at 2024 Experiment Station Road in Crystal Springs, just off I-55. The Extension Service and Experiment Station sponsor the fest each year.

Admission and parking are free. The event is handicap accessible. Ribeye steak sandwiches, chicken, catfish, homemade ice cream and other food will be available for purchase from various vendors. More than 60 vendors will offer plants, gardening tools and yard art.

For more information about the fest, visit The Fall Flower & Garden Fest website at <http://extension.msstate.edu/fallfest> or contact the local Extension office or Rick Snyder at 601-892-3731 or rick.snyder@msstate.edu.

Hunters' Actions Today Protect Tomorrow's Deer

By Linda M. Breazeale
MSU Extension Service

Mississippi hunters will be on the front lines of the battle to protect deer from spreading a deadly disease throughout their herds.

Last February, a 4-year-old buck in Issaquena County tested positive for chronic wasting disease -- or CWD. This contagious, terminal disease affects members of the deer family, ultimately causing holes in their brains. Infected deer lose weight and "just waste away."

Bronson Strickland, a wildlife specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service, said there are two important actions hunters can take to protect the herds for future generations to hunt. Experts at the MSU Deer Lab are asking hunters to discontinue use of supplemental feeders and to have harvested deer sampled for CWD.

"More than a thousand deer were tested in Mississippi and Louisiana since that buck tested positive, and no other cases have been found," he said. "With hunting season approaching, we are turning to the next line of defense: hunters."

Strickland said efforts are more intense in the CWD management zone, which includes portions of Issaquena, Sharkey and Warren counties. Hunters in or near the zone need to be aware of the zone's boundaries and the rules for that area. Supplemental feeding is banned throughout the zone, and carcasses may not be moved outside the area.

Regardless of their location in Mississippi, Strickland encouraged all wildlife enthusiasts to stop using supplemental feeders to entice deer to an area. Instead, plant food plots between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15 if conditions allow.

"Supplemental feeders, such as licks and feeders, can spread illnesses even if CWD is not an issue," he said. "It is short-sighted to only consider bringing deer closer for a season without considering the potential for long-term damage to population numbers. Once the disease becomes established in an area, research suggests that eradication is unlikely."

The Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks will host collection sites for hunters to bring harvested deer for testing on the season's peak days: Nov. 17, Nov. 23, Dec. 29-30 and Jan. 5-6. The sites will be at Enid, Tupelo, Rosedale, Holcomb, Crawford, Redwood, Forest, Canton, Toomsaba, Magnolia, Purvis, Poplarville, Vancleave and Natchez.

To have a deer tested, remove its head at least 6 inches below the jaw, leaving enough of the neck for proper sampling. Freeze it immediately.

ately, and take it to the sites on collection days. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommend that people not consume meat from a deer that has tested positive for the disease.

"Hunters will feel more confident in the safety of the meat if CWD is not detected in the sampled deer," Strickland said. "The results also will help wildlife biologists monitor CWD in the state."

At the later stages of the disease, infected deer will show symptoms such as extreme weight loss and excessive salivation, but deer in the early stages of the disease may not have obvious symptoms at the time of harvest.

"Don't trust appearances when determining if a deer has CWD," he said. "Be cautious, and treat every carcass as if it is positive for the disease."

Extension meat scientist Byron Williams said anytime deer are showing signs of CWD, it is safest to harvest but not consume the meat.

"Take precautions whenever dressing wild game," he said. "Wear rubber or latex gloves, and make sure utensils and cutting surfaces are sterilized before and after using them."

Williams recommended hunters err on the side of caution when dressing deer meat.

"Remember that some body parts -- spine, nerve endings, small intestine and the head and associated parts -- have higher concentrations of the proteins that cause the disease," Williams said. "Avoid cutting those body parts, and make head removal the final cut."

There are three recommended disposal methods for unwanted portions of deer carcasses: leave them at the harvest site; double-bag and send them to an approved, lined landfill; or bury them 8 feet deep or more. Never dump them in ditches or waterways.

Agriculture Commissioner Gipson Gives Summary of Farm Listening Tour

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing and Public Relations - MDAC

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson is wrapping up his statewide 2018 Genuine MS Summer Listening Tour. A top priority of Commissioner Gipson when taking office was to visit farms in all regions across the state getting personal feedback from the farmers on their issues, challenges and opportunities.

While it initially began as a tour comprised of 34 stops, it quickly evolved into a tour with visits in over 60 counties statewide. Gipson visited farms, both large and small, that grow some of Mississippi's top commodities such as poultry, timber, cotton, soybeans, corn, beef cattle, dairy, catfish, peanuts and blueberries. In addition, he visited farms with niche crops such as Mississippi-grown tea, as well as agritourism operations.

"I appreciate all of those who welcomed me onto their farms and into their shops to let me know what is on their minds," said Commissioner Gipson. "Our farmers and ranchers face numerous challenges, many of which they can't control. This tour has allowed me to hear about these critical issues and their impacts directly from those that are affected every day."

Commissioner Gipson listened as farmers voiced concerns on topics ranging from roads and bridges to trade, workforce availability and burdensome regulations. He has taken the information gleaned from the tour and is working on behalf of Mississippi farmers and ranchers to address these concerns. "The need for roads and bridges in our rural areas is critical, and I was able to help communicate just how crucial the condition of infrastructure like this can be to a farmer's bottom line to our legislators. I want to thank Governor Phil Bryant and the Mississippi Legislature for taking quick action in addressing our rural state, county and municipal roads and bridges to help get commodities to the market," said Gipson.

Gipson and staff at the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) are discussing agency goals and devising plans to move Mississippi agriculture forward. "I heard a tremendous number of ideas and concerns from our farmers, ranchers and landowners while on the road. Although the Department can't realistically address every issue, we are putting together a strategic plan of action to address as many as we can," said Gipson.

Two recently announced initiatives were developed from ideas expressed during the tour. The Genuine MS International Agricultural Trade Initiative is being developed to create additional foreign market opportunities for producers and agribusinesses and increase investment in Mississippi. The MDAC Agriculture Internship Program is being designed to promote apprenticeships for Mississippi youth in agricultural related work. "The greatest investment we can make for Mississippi agriculture is in our young people, and we are making this our top priority," said Gipson.

As part of his efforts to ensure that farmers have the tools and the freedom that they need to continue feeding and clothing the world, Commissioner Gipson is committed to working closely with federal agencies to rollback unnecessary regulations, and he plans to evaluate state regulations as well. One example is the recent rollback of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's "Waters of the United States" (WOTUS) rule. Additionally, MDAC will continue to actively promote products grown, raised, crafted, and made in Mississippi through the Genuine MS program, which was launched in July.

Commissioner Gipson will be extending the farm tour into the fall to have the opportunity to visit additional areas of the state. To find out which areas of the state he will be touring, upload the tour map found at <https://www.mdac.ms.gov/wp-content/uploads/Mississippi-Map.pdf>.
