High Demand Boosts Christmas Tree Prices

By Jessica Junkin
MSU Extension Service

Mississippians looking for locally grown Christmas trees have several varieties to choose from but should be prepared to shop early for the best selection.

John Kushla, a Mississippi State University Extension Service specialist and research professor who specializes in agroforestry and Christmas trees, said there are several ways to test for freshness when choosing the perfect tree at a tree farm.

"Needles should be green, with flexible branches," Kushla said. "If a branch tip snaps between your fingers, that tree has dried out."

Kushla emphasized the importance of taking care of the live tree once it has been placed in the home.

"It is important to place the tree in water immediately. Keep trees away from heat sources such as fireplaces or direct sunlight," he said.

Mississippi Christmas tree growers have experienced a good growing season and favorable weather in 2018, which has resulted in a valuable crop of healthy trees.

Kushla said the highest Christmas tree sales occur on the Friday and Saturday after Thanksgiving and the first Saturday and Sunday in December.

Robert Foster, owner and president of Cedar Hill Farm in DeSoto County, said the average cost is $72 per tree, or $9 to $12 per foot. Tree prices are steadily rising due to high demand, he added.

"Tree prices are going up -- especially on precuts -- because younger generations who now have kids are buying more live trees instead of the fake ones," Foster said. "Nobody can keep up with demand, which means the costs are going up."

Foster's parents opened the Christmas tree farm to the public in 1996. Foster and his wife, Heather, took over the family business in 2005, along with his brother, David.

Foster said that a trip to their farm is more than just picking out a Christmas tree. It is a family event that makes memories to last a lifetime.

"I'm not selling a tree as much as I'm selling the experience here. You can buy a tree anywhere that sells flowers, but it's not the same as going to a farm and taking pictures, going on a hayride and actually cutting down the tree," Foster said. "It's the whole experience that makes it so memorable for everyone."

Cedar Hill Farm offers approximately 500 choose-and-cut trees and 650 precut trees. They have many cypress varieties, such as Leland, Murray, Blue Ice and Carolina Sapphire. Christmas trees take about four to five years to grow, so it is important to manage them carefully and keep plenty in stock. The farm also has precut trees shipped in from the North, typically Frasier and Douglas firs.

From Our Kitchen To Yours

Delightful Holiday Candy for Gift Giving

*****

Candy Cane Oreo Truffles

36 Oreos (original or mint filled)
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
16 ounces white chocolate chips, melted
1/4 cup crushed candy canes or peppermint candies, for decorating

Place the Oreo cookies in the bowl of a food processor and pulse until finely ground. Add the cream cheese and pulse until the mixture is well combined and smooth. Line a rimmed baking sheet with parchment paper. Scoop the mixture into balls about one inch in diameter. Place the cookie balls in the freezer until well chilled, at least one hour. Melt the white chocolate chips in the microwave or in a double boiler over simmering water. Remove truffles from freezer and dip in melted chocolate. Return to baking sheet and immediately sprinkle tops with crushed candy canes; allow chocolate to set. Store the truffles in an airtight container in the refrigerator for up to five days.

Microwave Hot Chocolate Fudge

2 cups dark chocolate chips
14 ounces sweetened condensed milk – divided
1 1/2 cups white chocolate chips
1 1/2 cups mini hot chocolate marshmallows

In a microwave safe bowl; combine white chocolate chips with five tablespoons sweetened condensed milk. In a separate bowl, combine dark chocolate chips with remaining sweetened condensed milk. Line a square 9x9-inch (or 8x8-inch) pan with foil and generously grease with butter or shortening. Microwave dark chocolate for 30 seconds, stir. Microwave 15 seconds longer and then stir vigorously until chocolate is smooth. Transfer mixture into prepared pan and spread into an even layer. Microwave white chocolate for 30 seconds; stir until smooth. Spread mixture on top of dark chocolate layer. (This will take some finesse to spread into a thin layer.) Top with mini marshmallows gently pressing them down. Refrigerate at least six hours to set. Remove fudge and foil from pan. Carefully peel all foil from fudge. Cut fudge into bite sized pieces and serve.

Mom's Best Peanut Brittle

2 cups sugar
1 cup light Karo syrup
1 cup water
2 cups raw peanuts
1/4 cup butter
1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
Extra butter for greasing cookie sheet

Grease a cookie sheet with butter and set it aside. Combine 1/4 cup butter, baking soda and vanilla in a bowl and set aside. Combine sugar, Karo syrup and water in a large sauce pan over medium heat. Cook until mixture spins a thread when drizzled from your spoon. Add peanuts and stir while cooking until mixture turns light brown (approximately the same color as a paper bag). Add the butter mixture set aside earlier. Mix until butter is melted and mixture is foamy from the baking soda. Pour onto your prepared cookie sheet and use forks to spread it out as thinly as possible (approximately 1/4-inch). Let cool completely and use a butter knife to break it into pieces.

Dark Chocolate – Pecan Toffee

1 cup unsalted butter, cubed, plus more for baking sheet
1 1/2 cup pecan halves, divided
3/4 cup granulated sugar
1/4 cup packed light brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon kosher salt
1/2 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 3.5-ounce dark chocolate bar, chopped
3/4 teaspoon large flaked sea salt

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Butter a rimmed baking sheet. Spread pecan halves on a second rimmed baking sheet and toast just until fragrant, seven to eight minutes; cool. Arrange one cup toasted pecans, flat side down, in a single layer on prepared baking sheet, leaving a two to three inch border along sides of baking sheet. Chop remaining 1/2 cup pecans; set aside. Combine butter, sugars, salt, vanilla, and 1/4 cup water in a medium saucepan. Cook over medium-low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches 290 degrees F, 18-20 minutes. Slowly pour hot caramel mixture over pecans, making sure to fully cover each nut and leaving the two to three inch border around the baking sheet. Sprinkle chocolate evenly over toffee; let sit until slightly melted. Spread chocolate, in an even layer, with a small rubber scraper or offset spatula. Sprinkle with chopped pecans and sea salt. Let stand for 20 minutes, and then refrigerate until cool and set, 40 to 45 minutes. Break into small pieces.

Coconut Cream Truffles

1/4 cup butter, softened
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 teaspoon coconut extract
2 tablespoons cream of coconut
Pinch of salt
1 1/2 cups powdered sugar
1 cup shredded coconut
6-8 ounces chocolate candy melts or semi-sweet baking chocolate

Beat butter with a hand mixer until smooth. Mix in extracts, cream of coconut and salt. Slowly add the powdered sugar until it is thoroughly combined. Stir in coconut and mix well. Drop tablespoon sized balls on a wax-paper lined cookie sheet and roll into uniform balls. Chill for at least one hour before dipping. Wrap the cookie sheet with foil and chill overnight, if needed. When ready to dip, melt candy melts according to package directions. Dip each ball into the melts, tapping off the excess, and place on a new cookie sheet lined with wax paper. If your truffles start to soften, pop them in the freezer for a few minutes before continuing. Sprinkle with coconut or sprinkles, if desired. Chill until set; store in the refrigerator. Truffles are best served at room temperature.

Mississippi Counties Designated Disaster Areas by USDA

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing and Public Relations - MDAC

Twenty Mississippi counties have been designated as primary disaster areas by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Sonny Perdue due to crop losses caused by excessive rainfall and prolonged flooding that occurred from April 1 to June 30, 2018.

Farm operators in the designated primary counties and the counties contiguous to the primary counties are eligible to be considered for certain assistance from the USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA), provided that eligibility requirements are met. This assistance includes FSA emergency loans. Farmers in eligible areas have eight months from the date of the Secretarial disaster declaration to apply for emergency loans.

"I appreciate Governor Phil Bryant's assistance in requesting a disaster designation, and I appreciate Secretary Perdue and USDA for their prompt review and approval of our request. This designation will provide our farmers with needed assistance. I encourage our farmers in designated counties to reach out to their local FSA offices," said Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson.

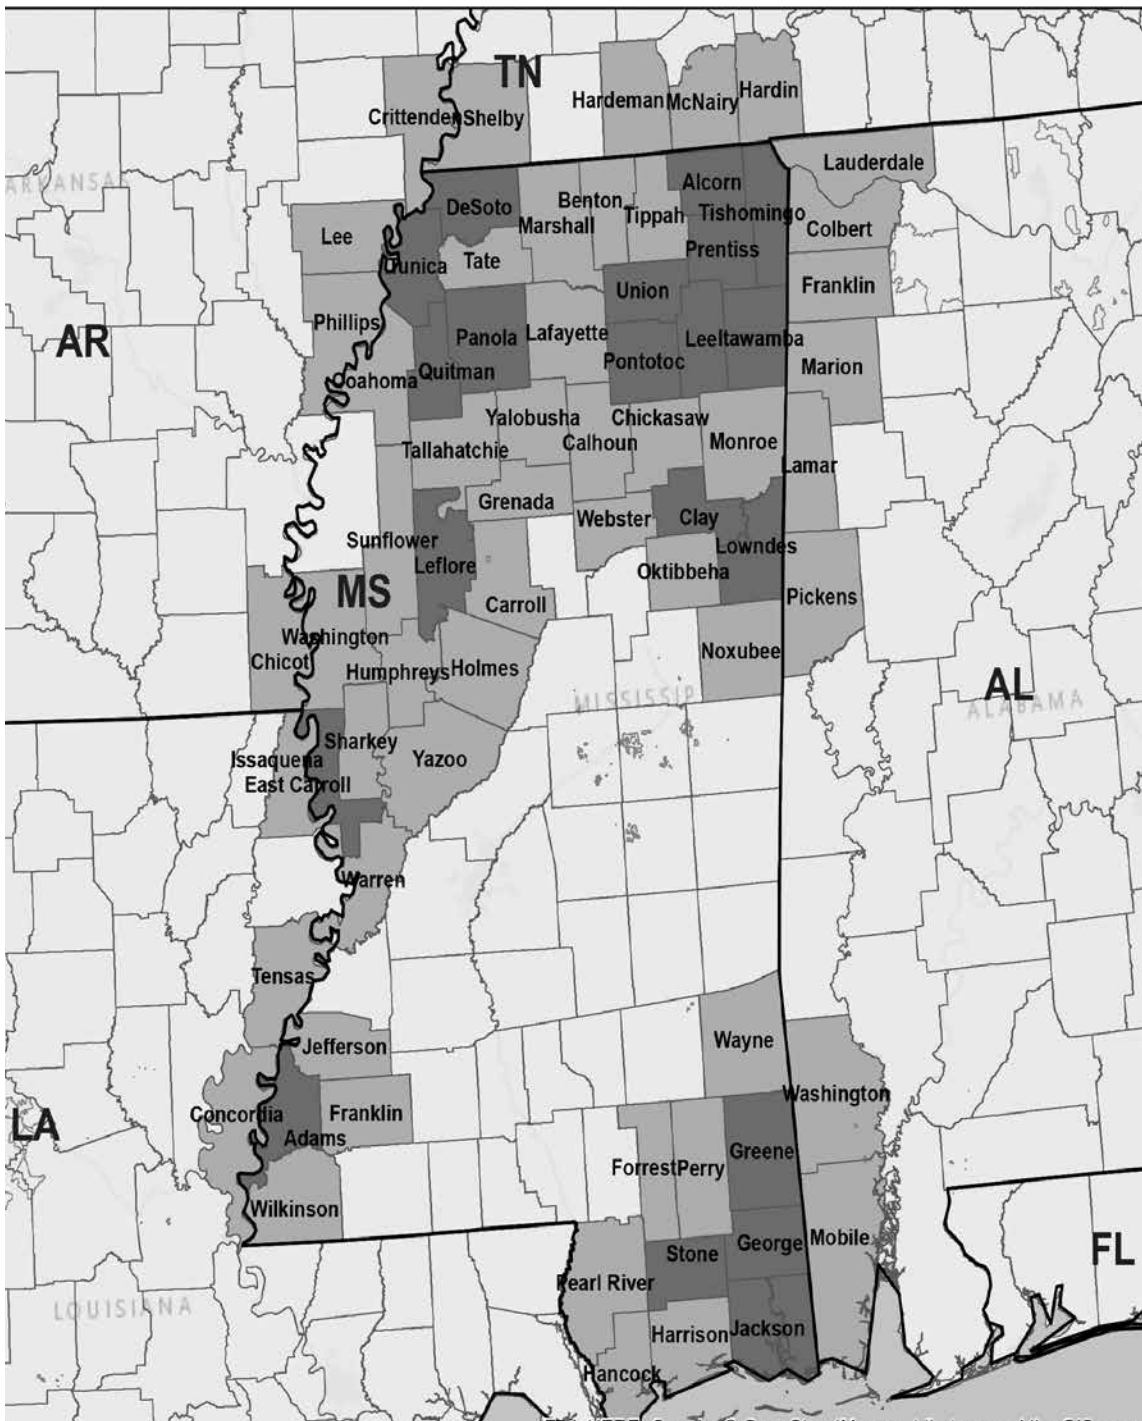

The primary counties named in the Secretarial disaster designation include: Adams, Alcorn, Clay, DeSoto, George, Greene, Issaquena, Itawamba, Jackson, Lee, Leflore, Lowndes, Panola, Pontotoc, Prentiss, Quitman, Stone, Tishomingo, Tunica, and Union.

Contiguous counties in Mississippi include: Benton, Calhoun, Carroll, Chickasaw, Coahoma, Forrest, Franklin, Grenada, Hancock, Harrison, Holmes, Humphreys, Jefferson, Lafayette, Marshall, Monroe, Noxubee, Oktibbeha, Pearl River, Perry, Sharkey, Sunflower, Tallahatchie, Tate, Tippah, Warren, Washington, Wayne, Webster, Wilkinson, Yalobusha, and Yazoo. Contiguous counties and parishes in the adjacent states of Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Tennessee are also included.

Farmers impacted in these areas can obtain further information from their local FSA offices.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. To place an ad, you must include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale.

Hollies Time Berry Color for Christmas Displays

By Dr. Gary R. Bachman
MSU Extension Service

The Christmas season is a time for decorating, as we put up wreaths, poinsettias and trees. But Mother Nature is always in on the plan, too. I love the timing that allows our landscape hollies to get into the decorating action with their bright and colorful berry displays.

The most prevalent holly berries we see right now in Mississippi are on our native yaupon holly.

If you do any driving, you will see this plant on full display, as it seems to literally pop out of woodland edges everywhere. Yaupon holly has very distinctive berries. Sure, they're red -- and I mean bright, candy-apple red -- but they also have a translucent quality that imparts a gem-like appearance. So, in other words, yaupon hollies are garden jewels that will sparkle in your landscape.

But yaupon hollies provide color beyond just their berries. The bark of yaupon is a bright gray that accentuates the berry color.

The native yaupon holly should actually be called a small tree, as it grows up to 20 feet tall. Its size could overwhelm a typical home landscape, but there a couple of interesting selections that are landscape worthy. Weeping yaupon is a small tree that can grow to about 12 feet high, and its branches have a weeping, cascading growth habit.

Nellie R. Stevens is a hybrid holly that is a wintertime favorite. Its leaves are a dark, glossy green year-round, and it has a nice, triangular growing habit. But the real attraction is its berry production -- literally thousands of brightly colored red berries.

Nellie R. Stevens has the potential to be a big plant, up to 20 feet tall and wide. This is a tough and durable plant that will accept pruning to keep it under control, but the best practice is to plant it in a space that will accept the growth potential. Prune merely to shape and maintain the pyramidal form.

Because of the plant's impeccable timing, the berries color up at exactly the right time and are perfect for homemade Christmas wreaths and decorative garlands. Or, why not bring some of the dazzling displays of red berries indoors? Trim some branches, and bring them indoors for a winter arrangement on the table or fireplace mantle. What can be more appropriate heading into the holiday season than decorating with something gathered from the landscape?

Along with adding beauty to our landscapes and tables, these winter-fruiting hollies also play an important role as a winter food source for wildlife. They also provide habitat for nesting birds.

If you are looking for a way to bring seasonal color into your landscape, consider the year-round beauty of a Mississippi native yaupon holly or a beautiful hybrid.

Pecans Yields Decline, Future Looks Promising

By Linda Breazeale
MSU Extension Service

Mississippi's pecan yields will be down from last year, but the future looks promising.

Mississippi Pecan Growers Association President Max Draughn of Raymond explained that pecan yields alternate from year to year.

"We had a strong year in 2017, so we would expect this year to be down. We may be down about 40 percent," Draughn said. "Trees in the northern counties, mainly in the Delta, lost some yields to a late freeze. Trees in the southern counties suffered from pollination and disease problems. The central counties have a good crop, about 80 to 85 percent of last year's yields, which is about where it should be after a strong year."

Draughn said some pecan varieties are smaller than normal because of cloudy days in June and July, followed by a lack of moisture.

"Mississippi is the birthplace of the modern pecan industry dating back to the 1920s, when there were 33 pecan tree nurseries in Jackson County," he said. "Mississippi pecan production peaked in mid-1960s with just under 40 million pounds. Then, catastrophic hurricanes and ice storms took their toll on the state's orchards."

In recent years, the state's pecan industry has begun a slow rebound.

"We produced about 1 million pounds annually for about 15 years. Then, about 10 years ago, China started buying more pecans and prices improved. That motivated growers to expand or rejuvenate old orchards," he said. "We have been producing nearly 8 million pounds on our stronger years. This year, we are looking at up to 4.5 million pounds."

Draughn said he hopes to see significant increases in state production in the next five years or so.

Eric Stafne, fruit and nut crops specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service, said growers saw a fairly typical season regarding weather, disease and insect problems.

"One of the opportunities would be if market prices are better because of the hurricane damage," Stafne said. "It is looking like the Georgia crop will be down 50-60 percent, and Georgia is the nation's leader in pecan production."

Stafne said most of Mississippi's pecans leave the state. China has been a big buyer of U.S. pecans, but those exports have bottomed out because of the tariff situation and a surplus from past years.

Extension agricultural economist Alba Collart said reviews of prices in the Atlanta market show how volatile the pecan market has been in recent decades.

"I would expect prices for 2019 to increase relative to this year's prices," Collart said.
