Producers Plant Truck Crops Early, Avoid Most Problems

By Susan Collins-Smith
MSU Extension Service

This year's early spring temperatures allowed some fruit and vegetable growers to plant their crops a little earlier than usual.

Jeremy Maness, Mississippi State University Extension agent in Smith County, said growers in his county have not experienced any problems so far despite a late freeze.

"Everything is going well," he said. "Tomatoes grown in greenhouses or high tunnels are ready now. We project watermelons will be ready around mid- to late June, and field tomatoes should be ready to start coming off the vine around

Early spring temperatures allowed some truck crops producers to plant their fruit and vegetable crops a little early this year.

the first week of June."

In north Mississippi, a few fruit crops bloomed early.

"The earliest blooming varieties of peaches and blueberries were hurt by the late freeze," said Jeff Wilson, Extension horticulture specialist at the MSU North Mississippi Research and Extension Center in Verona. "But we think that both crops will be ready for harvest around the usual time because these crops were only about 10 days ahead before the freeze."

Shoppers can find yellow squash, strawberries, greenhouse tomatoes and other early-producing fruits and vegetables at farmers markets now.

Although most growers have not faced major challenges so far, blueberry growers should remain vigilant in scouting for spotted wing drosophila -- a type of fruit fly that can quickly cause large yield losses of small fruit crops, including blueberries, figs and blackberries.

"This pest will continue to be a problem for large-scale producers," said Eric Stafne, Extension fruit and nut specialist. "It is unlikely to be a problem for homeowners who consume or freeze their fruit soon after harvest, but those who market it can have ill effects since there may be eggs, larvae and adult fruit flies on or in the fruit. Although it is not harmful to consume the insect, it does soften the fruit, makes it leak and provides an 'ick' factor that consumers dislike." The insect can be monitored with homemade traps, but a good integrated pest management strategy is necessary to manage the pest. Growers can consult with local Extension agents for proper management methods.

Locally grown horticultural crops remain popular among consumers. The high demand has increased the number of farmers markets around the state. Mississippi now has 85 farmers markets registered with the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. In 2010, the state had 52 registered farmers markets. Look on pages 20-21 in this issue for a complete listing of Mississippi farmers markets.

This level of demand has created plenty of room in the market for new growers and more crops.

"Blackberries, strawberries, mayhaws and grapes are all in demand, but we have very few producers,"

Stafne said. "Small, local markets are good for these types of crops. However, there may not be enough money in these crops to justify commercial-scale production for some growers."

Maness said there is room in the market, not just for new crops, but for crops that won't grow in the summer heat, such as yellow squash.

"Around mid-June, the plants die because of the heat," Maness said. "Our growers end up taking those plants out and putting in late tomatoes, but if growers could put in high tunnels to regulate the temperature, they could continue to sell squash."

Horticultural crops, which include fruits, vegetables, nuts and nursery plants, ranked 11th among Mississippi's 16 agricultural commodities and had an estimated value of $105 million in 2016, according to statistics gathered by the MSU Division of Agriculture, Forestry and Veterinary Medicine.

Creamy Cantaloupe Pops

- 1 1/2 cups cubed cantaloupe
- 1 cup heavy whipping cream
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 8 Popsicle molds or plastic cups (3 ounces)
- 8 Popsicle sticks

Place cantaloupe in a blender. Cover and process until smooth; set aside. In a small saucepan, combine the cream and sugar. Cook and stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Remove from the heat. Stir in pureed cantaloupe. Pour 1/4 cup into each mold; insert the Popsicle sticks. Freeze until firm.

- 1/2 cup finely chopped seeded tomato
- 1/4 cup chopped red onion
- 2 tablespoons minced fresh parsley
- 1 jalapeno pepper, seeded and chopped
- 4 1/2 teaspoons minced fresh cilantro
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 1/4 cup reduced-fat sour cream
- 1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1 1/2 teaspoons lime juice
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1/4 teaspoon seasoned salt
- Baked tortilla chip scoops

In a small bowl, combine the first seven ingredients. In another bowl, combine the sour cream, lemon juice, lime juice, cumin and seasoned salt. Pour over cucumber mixture and toss gently to coat. Serve immediately with chips.

Ravishing Radish Salad

- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 6 green onions, chopped
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced fennel bulb
- 6 fresh basil leaves, thinly sliced
- 1/4 cup snipped fresh dill
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 2 tablespoons champagne vinegar
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts, toasted

Place radishes in a large bowl. Sprinkle with salt and pepper; toss to coat. Add the onions, fennel, basil and dill. In a small bowl, whisk the oil, vinegar, honey and garlic. Pour over salad and toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate for at least one hour. Sprinkle with walnuts just before serving.

Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper. In a large skillet, cook chicken in butter over medium heat for six to eight minutes on each side or until a thermometer reads 170°. Remove and keep warm. In the same skillet, combine the preserves, vinegar, blueberries and mustard, stirring to loosen browned bits from pan. Bring to a boil; cook and stir until thickened. Serve with or drizzle over chicken. Sprinkle with basil or tarragon, if desired.

Yellow Summer Squash Relish

- 10 cups shredded yellow summer squash (about 4 pounds)
- 2 large onions, chopped

- 1 tablespoon celery seed
- 1 tablespoon ground mustard
- 1 tablespoon ground turmeric
- 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper

In a large container, combine squash, onions, green pepper and salt. Cover and refrigerate overnight. Drain; rinse and drain again. In a Dutch oven, combine sugar, vinegar and seasonings; bring to a boil. Add squash mixture; return to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer 15 minutes. Remove from heat. Carefully ladle hot mixture into six hot one-pint jars, leaving 1/2-inch headspace. Remove air bubbles and adjust headspace, if necessary, by adding hot mixture. Wipe rims. Center lids on jars; screw on bands until fingertip tight. Place jars into canner with simmering water, ensuring that they are completely covered with water. Bring to a boil; process for 15 minutes. Remove jars and cool. Refrigerate remaining relish for up to a week.

The Mississippi Timber Price Report (MTPR) is a quarterly survey of stumpage timber prices in Mississippi. It is developed to provide a picture of timber market activity. The state average prices for common forest products are listed. Values given are offered as a guide to help individuals assess the fair market value of their timber. The average price should not be applied as the exact value for a particular tract. This report is updated quarterly and available at MSUCares.com/forestry, or by contacting your local county Extension office.

The Generosity of People Just Keeps on Coming at the Mississippi Ag Museum

By Fred Temple
Director of Maintenance
Mississippi Ag Museum

At the Mississippi Ag Museum, we have live demonstrations throughout the year. One of our working exhibits is the 1947 Corley sawmill. Several times during the year we demonstrate at the mill by sawing logs into lumber. The lumber is then stacked leaving air space and gaps so that the lumber will air dry over time. For the average visitor, that may seem like the end of the process, but the cut lumber isn't just for display purposes. The lumber from the demonstration is used to make repairs on existing buildings or to construct new exhibits. This not only provides an educational experience for our visitors but also makes wise use of our resources.

Several weeks ago we had the ribbon cutting for our newly renovated 1947 Corley sawmill. With funding assistance provided by the Mississippi Forestry Association, we were able to make necessary and much needed repairs as well as construct a large observation deck.

The 48 inch saw blade that was on the sawmill was in very bad shape. Last year, we took the saw blade to Poole's Sawmill Supply, Inc. in Shreveport, La. The owner, Al Poole, worked on the old blade and informed us that we probably needed to consider purchasing a new blade in the very near future. The funds for a new saw blade were just not available at that time. We used the old blade for our annual Harvest Festival in November of 2016 as well as for the ribbon cutting in April of this year.

Last week, I received a call from Mr. Poole. He asked me how the old blade was working. I explained that it was cutting the lumber but still had a slight problem. He asked if I would bring the blade back to him so that he could try to tweak it at no cost to us. He also asked if I could bring my wife with me.

As some of you may know, my wife, Donna Temple, has been fighting cancer since September of last year. Donna and I made a day of transporting the old blade to Mr. Poole as he requested. Upon arriving, Mr. Poole and his wife took us to their warehouse. They informed us that they wanted to honor Donna and I in her fight with cancer by donating a new 52 inch, carbide tip saw blade to the Mississippi Ag Museum.

Donna and I were totally blown away by their generosity.

This generous donation of the new blade will be the finishing touch on the restoration of the old sawmill. This, along with the donation made by the Mississippi Forestry Association, will ensure that everyone who visits the Museum will have the ultimate experience of a "time gone by."

We are so thankful for all the volunteers that help with the needs and special events at the Museum. We are also appreciative of all the people and companies that are generous with giving financially or through the donation of artifacts. Without these wonderful people and companies, it would be impossible to present quality experiences and education of the history of Mississippi agriculture.

The Mississippi Ag Museum is located at 1150 Lakeland Drive in Jackson and is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. In addition to our gallery and exhibit spaces, the Mississippi Ag Museum also has room for your event, whether it's a meeting, a wedding or other special event. For more information call (601) 432-4500.

Mississippi Horseman Earns National Award

By Linda M. Breazeale
MSU Extension Service

A long-time volunteer with the Mississippi 4-H program is the American Youth Horse Council Adult Leader of the Year.

Tom McBeath of Union, Mississippi, received the honor at the recent American Youth Horse Council symposium in Wakefield, Massachusetts. He has spent nearly four decades working with youth to establish strong foundations for successful experiences with horses.

"Tom realizes the importance of 4-H and often judges state 4-H horse shows across the country," said Dean Jousan, 4-H livestock specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service. "He regularly has a group of 4-H members who train under his direction and are very competitive from the local to the national levels."

Jousan said McBeath's commitment to the 4-H horse project is not limited to equestrian skills.

"Tom always engages youth to not only help them become better riders and stewards of horses, but he also wants them to become better people," Jousan said. "He wants to see them become good citizens who want to give back to other youth inside and outside of the horse industry."

Sabrina Turner of Gulfport was one of McBeath's former students who wrote a letter of support for his nomination as the American Youth Horse Council Leader of the Year.

She was 5 years old when she began taking riding lessons from him. McBeath recently helped her prepare to compete with the MSU Equestrian team and in other American Quarter Horse shows.

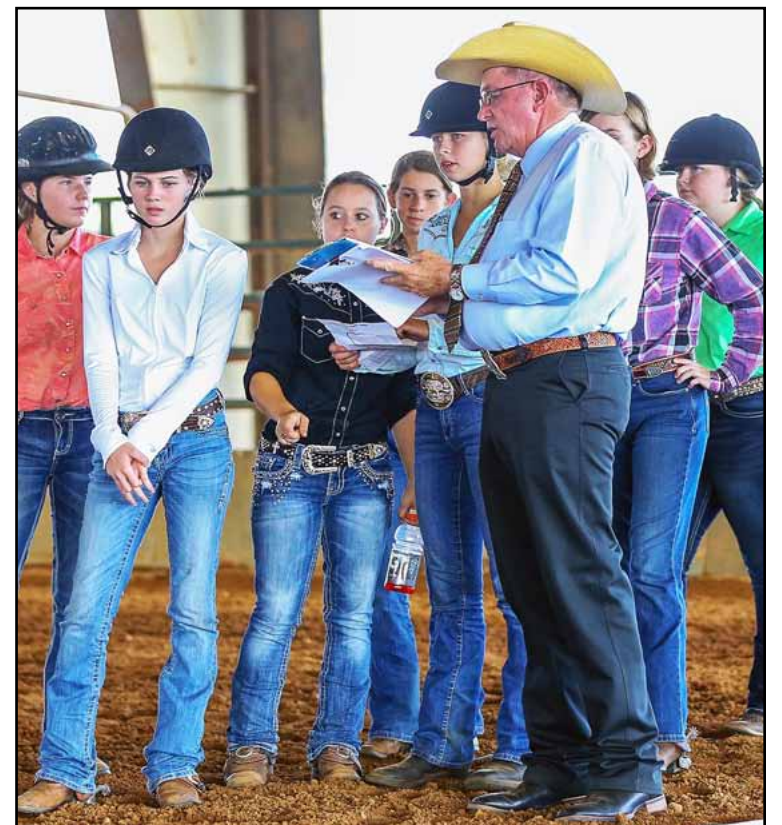

"Mr. Tom taught me the value of giving back to the equine industry and today's youth through his volunteering voluminous amounts of his time to organize and direct the Mississippi 4-H horse show program," Turner wrote. "He also taught me the value of giving back to others less fortunate than myself through his volunteer work with the Dixie National Equestrians with Disabilities Horse Show."

Another of his former students, Aprille Watts of Union, wrote that she valued the life lessons as much as the horse lessons he taught.

"Tom models and teaches life lessons such as hard work, dedication and fairness, just as he teaches the skills for riding and caring for the horse," Watts said.

She also commended his service to the Mississippi 4-H horse club, including riding and judging clinics, along with help in organizing and managing district, state and regional shows.

Jousan said the Mississippi 4-H Horse Program depends on volunteer leaders to help establish strong foundations for the future of the equine industry. For more information about becoming involved in 4-H as a leader or as a member, contact the local county Extension office.

Tom McBeath of Union, Mississippi, guides a group of young women learning how to judge horses in competition. McBeath, a long-time volunteer with the Mississippi 4-H Program, is the American Youth Horse Council Adult Leader of the Year.
