Celebrating Dairy's Undeniable Goodness

By Southeast United Dairy Industry Association, Inc.

A delicious slice of cheddar on a burger at the family barbecue, a cold glass of milk or a scoop of ice cream on a piece of birthday cake. There is no denying the enjoyment that dairy can bring to special moments and to our favorite foods. However, with so many choices in the dairy aisle – including non-dairy and plant-based alternatives – many people are seeking credible information about what dairy actually is, and they have questions about the practices of the dairy industry.

In a multiyear effort to reintroduce America to dairy, the Innovation Center for U.S. Dairy – in partnership with America's Dairy Farm Families and Importers – is launching "Undeniably Dairy™," the first category campaign of its kind.

"Through the Innovation Center for U.S. Dairy, the dairy community has worked together to establish common ground on our top priorities and values, from responsible production and sustainable nutrition to economic value," says Barbara O'Brien, president of the Innovation Center for U.S. Dairy. "We feel that now is the absolute right time to come together with one voice to share the community's story – to celebrate the delicious, nutritious foods in the dairy aisle and the people who bring them to your table."

Undeniably Dairy

In addition to showcasing the undeniable taste and enjoyment that comes from dairy – like a warm slice of pizza or a yogurt parfait on a summer day – the campaign will also spotlight the undeniable positive role the dairy community plays in America today.

"Despite dairy farms being in all 50 states and most of us living within 100 miles of a dairy farm, many people have never set foot on a farm," says Beth Engelmann, chief marketing communications officer at Dairy Management Inc., which represents America's nearly 42,000 dairy farmers and importers. "Undeniably Dairy is about reestablishing the connection between the enjoyment of the product and the hard work and pride of the people who make it possible. This campaign is unprecedented in that it unifies a vast and diverse dairy industry and array of dairy products behind a single platform."

A variety of multimedia content will remind people of the starring role dairy plays in special moments, while also sharing how the industry continues to evolve – from using innovation and technology to deliver exceptional animal care and a nutrient-rich product, to supporting local communities.

"We are excited by the opportunity to not only remind people in the Southeast about all the tasty ways that dairy makes their lives safer, healthier, and more fulfilling, but also to showcase the many different ways that dairy contributes to a better planet, says Doug Ackerman CEO of the Southeast Dairy Association. "Consumers these days want to know everything they can about where their food comes from and how it gets to them, and we are thrilled to be able to proudly share what is Undeniably Dairy."

Today, farmers use 65 percent less water and 63 percent less carbon per gallon of milk produced. And for every $1 million of in-store U.S. milk sales, 17 new jobs are generated.

Celebrate June Dairy Month

By Southeast United Dairy Industry Association, Inc.

As the weather is getting warmer, and summer is upon us, what better way to enjoy the fun and sun than with ice cream, frozen yogurt or your other favorite dairy treat to celebrate National Dairy Month. June is the month that honors and allows us to indulge in all those delicious, wholesome dairy products, many of which are made right here in Mississippi.

What began as National Milk Month in 1937 to promote drinking milk, National Dairy Month developed into an annual tradition that gives a nod to the dairy industry and all of their contributions to the world. Dairy products like milk are an important part of our diet, providing calcium for strong bones, along with eight other essential nutrients that contribute to maintaining a healthy weight and heart.

As you prepare to celebrate June Dairy Month and honor the farmers that produce milk, here's a fun fact: It takes about 50 licks to finish a single ice cream scoop. So, go ahead and order one today and celebrate National Dairy Month!

From Our Kitchen To Yours

Delicious Dairy!

*****

Grilled Cheese Harvest Sandwich

2 slices multigrain bread
2 slices white Cheddar cheese
2 slices yellow Cheddar cheese
2 slices Black Forest ham, thinly sliced
10-12 apple slices, very thinly sliced (about 1/4 of a medium apple)
1 teaspoon Dijon mustard, divided
1 tablespoon butter, softened

Heat a nonstick or cast-iron skillet over medium heat. Spread Dijon mustard evenly on each slice of bread, then place two slices of white Cheddar on one slice. Place ham on top of cheese, distributing evenly. Add apple slices on top of ham layer, and then finish with yellow Cheddar and remaining slice of bread. Spread top of bread with softened butter and place that side down in heated pan. Cook for approximately four minutes (if necessary, turn the heat down so the bread doesn't burn). While sandwich is cooking, spread remaining softened butter on top of bread. Flip sandwich over and cook another three to four minutes or until lightly browned.

Easy Skillet Creamed Corn

2 tablespoons oil
1/2 medium onion, chopped
3 cups fresh, frozen or drained, canned whole-kernel corn
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons cornmeal
1 1/2 cups regular milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
Crumbled cooked bacon (optional)

Heat oil in a large skillet on medium heat; add onion and cook five minutes or until tender. Stir in corn and cook five more minutes. Sprinkle in flour and cornmeal, stir and cook one minute. Stir in milk, salt and pepper; keep stirring and cook an additional three minutes or until thick. Top with cooked bacon, if desired. Yield: Six servings.

Tangy Apple Cooler

16 ounces low-fat Greek yogurt
1 medium Granny Smith apple
1/2 cup orange juice
1/4 cup raw almonds
1 tablespoon honey
1 cup ice cubes

Peel and dice apple. Combine yogurt, apple, orange juice, almonds and honey in a blender; blend until smooth. Add ice and blend again until smooth and frothy. Serve in a chilled glass immediately. Yield: Two 10 ounce servings.

Homemade Peach Ice Cream

3 cups peeled, chopped peaches
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar, divided
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
2 cups whole milk
1 1/2 cups heavy cream
1 1/2 tablespoons pure vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt

Peel, core and roughly chop peaches; place in a large mixing bowl. Add 1/2 cup sugar and lemon juice to peaches, stirring until well combined. Set aside for about an hour. Combine milk, cream, remaining one cup of sugar, vanilla and salt in a medium bowl and stir until sugar is mostly dissolved, about two minutes. Add milk mixture to peaches and stir well. Pour mixture into freezer canister of ice cream maker and follow manufacturer's instructions. If peaches are not in season, frozen unsweetened peaches work great in this recipe. Yield: 14 (1/2 cup) servings.

Grits Breakfast Bowl

1/4 cup dry quick grits
3/4 cup reduced-fat or skim milk
Salt to taste
1 egg, scrambled
1/2 teaspoon butter
Black pepper to taste
2 tablespoons Cheddar cheese (2%), shredded
1/2 piece bacon, cooked, chopped

Combine grits and milk in a microwave-safe bowl. Mix until completely blended. Microwave on high three to four minutes or until thickened, stirring occasionally. Season with salt as desired. In a small skillet, scramble egg with butter over medium heat until cooked. Season with a pinch of salt and pepper, if desired. Place grits at bottom of a bowl, top grits with scrambled egg and sprinkle cheese and bacon over the top. Yield: One serving.

Livestock Brand Renewal Notice

Livestock Brand renewal notices were mailed in April 2017. All livestock brands which are registered within the state must be re-registered by June 30, 2017, in order to be a valid brand. # Value, Volume of State Milk Production Falling

By Robert Nathan Gregory
MSU Extension Service

Fewer dairy cows than last year roam Mississippi pastures, so the state's milk production continues to steadily decline.

In the first quarter of 2017, milk production was down 7 percent from that time a year ago. From January to March of 2016, producers collected 42 million pounds of milk compared to 39 million pounds this year.

"This was primarily due to a lower number of dairy cows," said Mississippi State University Extension Service livestock economist Josh Maples. "There are approximately 9,500 dairy cows in Mississippi -- down from 10,000 in the first quarter of 2016."

The value of Mississippi milk production is also falling. Last year, that value was an estimated $25 million, down from $32 million in 2015. As of 2016, the state had 83 dairy herds. There were 85 in 2015.

For those staying in the industry, there is promising news. Producers received $17.97 per hundredweight of milk in April, which is an upswing from $16.34 a year before. The U.S. Department of Agriculture forecasts higher demand and exports will drive the nationwide average price per hundredweight into the $17.55-$18.55 range in 2018, an increase from this year's $17.35-$17.85 projection.

With dwindling interest from future generations in dairy production, however, fewer people are actually staying. Infrastructure -- including milking equipment companies, industry field specialists, dairy-focused veterinarians and nutritionists -- is also disappearing.

"The biggest long-term challenges dairy producers face right now are not having a next generation to take over the farm and not having infrastructure to support their industry," said Extension dairy specialist Amanda Stone. "The average dairy producer in the U.S. is about 55 years old. If no one is there to take over the farms in the future, there will be a rapid decline in smaller family dairy farms and an increase in herd size on larger ones that can add more cows to compensate for the lost herds."

"Dairy producers work 365 days a year because cows need to be milked multiple times per day every single day," she added. "They work hard and often see dairying as a way of life instead of a profession because it really does encompass everything they do."

Milk prices are still relatively low, Stone added, because nationwide production is up. Expected U.S. milk production this year is 216.9 billion pounds, which would be 4.5 billion more than in 2016. High feed costs and maintaining consumer markets are also challenges in Mississippi.

"Milk cooperatives have a harder time making money from small farms as well as when farms are spaced far apart and trucking costs increase," she said. "Dairies in Mississippi are small and spread out, making it difficult to maintain a market here and to find milk cooperatives that want to purchase their milk."

Mississippi dairy producers have the added challenge of oppressive summer heat and humidity -- two factors that cause stress and decrease milk production per cow. The average dairy cow in Mississippi produced 14,769 pounds of milk in 2016. The national average was 22,775 pounds per cow.

"Dairy cows start feeling the effects at a temperature humidity index of 68, which hits this state early in spring and often lasts through late fall," Stone said. "Cows housed inside are often provided with shade and sprinklers to keep them cool through evaporative cooling. Pastured animals are often cooled with shade, either from trees, portable shade structures or permanent shade structures."

Last year, that heat came with a dearth of rain in late summer and early fall, leading to a drought and forage issue.

"We are in drought conditions currently, but things are not as bad right now as they were last year," Stone said. "Last fall, producers weren't able to get their cows on ryegrass until almost winter. Luckily, we have gotten some rain, so producers are at least able to get out into the fields now."

MSU Beef Field Day Covers Herd Health, Production

By Susan Collins-Smith

Cattle producers in south Mississippi can learn about techniques to improve herd health and advancements in production systems during an upcoming field day in Raymond.

The Mississippi State University Extension Service and Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station are hosting the Beef Cattle Herd Health Field Day on June 16 at the MSU Brown Loam Branch Experiment Station. The station is located at 1676 Brown Loam Road. The field day begins at 9 a.m. and ends at 2 p.m.

Topics include rotational grazing, market values, artificial insemination, bull trait expectations, the veterinary feed directive, herd-health best management practices, and unmanned aerial vehicle technology for beef production.

The field day is free, but preregistration is required for a lunch count.

MSU partnered with the Alcorn State University Extension Program and Hinds Community College for the event.

To register or for more information, call 601-857-5952.

MSU Field Day Addresses New Herbicide Technology

Row crop producers can learn best practices for adding auxin herbicides to their weed control tool box at a field day June 29.

The Mississippi State University Extension Service and Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station will host the event at the Pontotoc Ridge-Flatwoods Branch Experiment Station, located at 8320 Hwy. 15 South in Pontotoc.

Attendees will learn about auxin herbicides for use on 2,4-D- and dicamba-tolerant cotton and soybeans, how to manage these crops for maximum weed control, and methods to prevent the chemicals from affecting other crops and the environment.

This free event is open to the public, but attendees should preregister. On-site registration begins at 8:30 a.m., and tours begin at 9 a.m. Lunch will be provided. Certified Crop Advisor continuing education credits are available.

The field day is sponsored by the Mississippi Chapter of the American Society of Agronomy and industry partners.

To preregister and for more information, contact Mark Shankle at mark.shankle@msstate.edu or Stephen Meyers at stephen.meyers@msstate.edu or 662-489-4621.
