Support Dairy Farmers by Buying Their Products

By Nathan Gregory
MSU Extension Service

June is National Dairy Month and it is a great time to consider the numerous health benefits dairy products provide and how supporting the industry indirectly helps a variety of people.

Data from the International Dairy Foods Association shows the dairy industry had more than 6,000 direct jobs in Mississippi in 2017. It paid more than $182 million in wages and had an economic impact of $871 million.

"Dairy farmers buy seed to grow crops to feed their cattle, support local feed cooperatives to buy feed they can't grow themselves, purchase equipment, and pay utilities and taxes. They employ farm workers, truck drivers, construction crews, retailers and factory workers," said Amanda Stone, dairy specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service. "The harder-to-quantify benefit they provide is stewardship of their land to keep it in good condition for the future."

Many of the state's 65 dairy farms have been in families for generations. Buying dairy products helps these businesses keep going.

"The average dairy farmer is nearing retirement age, so, although they are capable of doing many tasks after being on a farm for so long, it would be difficult to find someone to hire them," Stone said.

Another consideration for consumers is the amount of nutrition contained in just one 8-ounce cup of milk. For starters, that cup contains 8 grams of protein, which supplies energy and assists in tissue and muscle growth and repair. Other than dairy products, only meats, dried beans and soy contain this critical nutrient.

"Milk is a good recovery drink for athletes because it includes both carbohydrate and protein," said Brent Fountain, MSU Extension nutrition specialist. "The body uses carbohydrate for energy and protein to build and repair muscles after exercising."

Dairy products, including everyday foods like cheese, ice cream and yogurt, also contain calcium, phosphorous and Vitamin D, all of which play roles in strengthening bones.

"Your bones continue to grow through your mid to late 20s, which is why it's so important for young people to consume good sources of dairy and calcium-containing foods during this crucial phase of their lives," Fountain said. "It is also important for older adults to continue to consume dairy products and spare the body's calcium stores from being used for other body processes."

Fountain recommends three servings of fat-free milk, cheese or yogurt each day. Six ounces or 3/4 cup of yogurt is considered a serving, as is 1 1/2 ounces of hard cheese.

Being an advocate for dairy products means supporting people who, because of price fluctuations and supply, are not profiting. They are actually paying to produce the food consumers need to survive.

"Buying dairy products will help reduce the oversupply and help get prices back to a more reasonable level. We are losing small- to medium-sized family dairy farms at an alarming rate because of the current state of the dairy industry," Stone said. "Call your legislators and tell them how important the American family farm is to you. Go visit a dairy farm and learn about what they do so you have a better understanding of the human aspect of this situation, and thank farmers for devoting their lives to feeding your family."

June Dairy Month

Get More with Milk: Celebrate June Dairy Month

Since 1939, June Dairy Month has encouraged families to make milk their beverage of choice based on its nutritional value. Dairy's rich history continues with communities, companies and people from across the region observing June Dairy Month in a variety of ways.

In the Southeast, dairy farm families often open their gates to visitors for tours, while local fairs and festivals offer taste testing and events featuring delicious dairy products.

Touring a dairy farm as a classroom, family, or tour group can be a fun and educational way to see dairy cows up close and identify with the farmers who produce the wholesome dairy products your family enjoys.

This June, pay tribute to dairy farmers across the Southeast by participating in one of the many local, county, parish, or state events planned for your area.

Delicious Dairy

****

Herbed Parmesan Crisps

1 (4-ounce) wedge fresh Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon fresh rosemary, finely chopped
1 tablespoon fresh thyme, finely chopped

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Line a large baking sheet with parchment paper or use a silicone baking mat. Using a box grater, grate two ounces of the cheese using the fine-grate side and then shred two ounces of the cheese using the side with the large holes that make long shreds of cheese. Mix them together in a small mixing bowl. Drop rounded teaspoons of grated cheese on parchment paper to make neat mounds. Mix finely chopped herbs and sprinkle evenly over cheese. Bake 8-10 minutes until golden brown and edges are crispy. Cool slightly and loosen with a metal spatula. Serve at room temperature. Number of servings: 24.

Cheddar Fondue

1 1/3 cups low-fat milk
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 cloves garlic crushed and peeled
2 dried bay leaves
1/2 teaspoon Dijon mustard
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
2 cups grated 50% light Cheddar cheese
2 cups raw broccoli florets
2 cups baby carrots
1/2 pint cherry tomatoes
1 pound small new potatoes, cooked

In a medium saucepan, whisk together milk and cornstarch until cornstarch is completely dissolved, tilting pan to check for any remaining lumps. Add garlic, bay leaves, mustard and nutmeg. Place pan over medium-low heat. Whisking constantly, bring mixture to simmer; continue whisking for one minute. Add cheese and whisk just until cheese is melted and smooth. Remove from heat, discard bay leaves and transfer mixture to a fondue pot or place the saucepan on a warming tray. Serve with assorted vegetables. Number of servings: four.

Peachy Gouda and Ham Skewers

4 medium peaches, sliced
12 thin slices deli ham
1 (7-ounce) round Gouda cheese
48 fresh basil leaves
24 (4-inch) wooden skewers
1/4 cup balsamic glaze (optional)

Cut ham slices into 24 (1-inch-wide) strips approximately five inches in length. Remove paraffin covering from cheese and cut cheese into 12 wedges. Thread one peach slice, one basil leaf, one ham slice, and one cheese wedge, a second basil leaf, a second ham slice and a second peach slice onto each skewer. Repeat with remaining skewers. Drizzle with balsamic glaze just before serving, if desired. Number of servings: 24.

Crustless Swiss Chard Tomato Quiche

6 large eggs
1 1/2 cups lactose-free milk
1/2 teaspoon smoked paprika
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons olive oil
4 cups torn Swiss chard leaves
4 scallions, finely chopped
2 cups sliced plum tomatoes
1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese

Preheat oven to 375 degrees and grease two (8-inch) pie plates. In a mixing bowl, whisk together eggs, milk, paprika and salt until well combined. In a large skillet, heat olive oil over medium heat and add Swiss chard. Cover and cook two or three minutes, until just beginning to wilt. Divide scallions, Swiss chard, tomatoes and cheese evenly between pie pans. Pour egg mixture over vegetables, dividing it evenly between pans. Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned and eggs are set. Let stand at least 10 minutes before slicing into wedges. Serve warm or at room temperature. Number of servings: 12.

Watermelon Feta Salad

1 medium red onion, very thinly sliced
4 cups cubed (1/2 inch) seeded watermelon (discard rind)
2 cups cubed (1/2 inch) peeled jicama
8 ounce block feta cheese, cut into ½ inch cubes
16 fresh basil leaves, chopped
Vinaigrette
1 small jalapeno, minced
1/4 cup olive oil
Juice of 1 lime
2 tablespoons honey
1 teaspoon salt

In a large mixing bowl combine onion, watermelon, jicama and feta cheese and set aside. In a small mixing bowl whisk together the vinaigrette ingredients until well combined. If serving immediately, pour vinaigrette over salad, add fresh basil and gently toss to evenly coat. Watermelon, vegetables and feta can be cubed and combined six hours ahead, covered and chilled. Add vinaigrette and fresh basil just before serving.

USDA Designates Eleven Mississippi Counties as Primary Natural Disaster Areas

By USDA-FSA

Emergency Support to Producers in Surrounding Counties/Border State Also Available

Administrator Richard Fordyce designated eleven Mississippi counties as primary natural disaster areas. Producers in Clarke, Hinds, Kemper, Leake, Madison, Monroe, Neshoba, Noxubee, Rankin, Scott, and Smith counties who suffered losses caused by high winds and tornadoes that occurred on April 13, 2019, and also on April 18, 2019, may be eligible for U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) emergency loans.

This natural disaster designation allows FSA to extend much-needed emergency credit to producers recovering from natural disasters. Emergency loans can be used to meet various recovery needs including the replacement of essential items such as equipment or livestock, reorganization of a farming operation or the refinance of certain debts.

Producers in the contiguous Mississippi counties of Attala, Chickasaw, Claiborne, Clay, Copiah, Covington, Holmes, Itawamba, Jasper, Jones, Lauderdale, Lee, Lowndes, Newton, Oktibbeha, Simpson, Warren, Wayne, Winston, and Yazoo are also eligible to apply for emergency loans.

Devastated flooding of farmland, woodland, livestock and wildlife throughout the south Delta.

The deadline to apply for these emergency loans is January 13, 2020.

FSA will review the loans based on the extent of losses, security available and repayment ability.

FSA has a variety of additional programs to help farmers recover from the impacts of this disaster. FSA programs that do not require a disaster declaration include: Emergency Assistance for Livestock, Honeybees and Farm-Raised Fish Program; Emergency Conservation Program; Livestock Forage Disaster Program; Livestock Indemnity Program; Operating and Farm Ownership Loans; and the Tree Assistance Program.

Farmers may contact their local USDA service center for further information on eligibility requirements and application procedures for these and other programs. Additional information is also available online at https://www.farmers.gov/recover.

Mississippi Farmers Market Celebrated June Dairy Month at Annual Summer Kickoff

On Saturday, June 1, at the annual summer kickoff—Grillin' & Chillin'—held at the Mississippi Farmers Market in Jackson, Miss., shoppers and members of the community came out to enjoy a host of activities, including a live demonstration hosted by Nancy Strickland of the Mississippi Beef Council and mini educational lessons on live farm animals near the Pizza Garden.

In addition, shoppers had an array of fresh and local produce, dairy products, baked goods, and handmade arts to choose from. June Dairy Month was celebrated with free Blue Bell ice cream and cow milking demonstrations with Commissioner Andy Gipson's Jersey cow, "Blossom."

Celebrating June Dairy Month—Robby Sullivan, manager of the Mississippi Farmers Market demonstrated cow milking during the Mississippi Farmers Market Summer Kickoff.

Dairy Cow Facts

1. Cows have four stomachs. Technically, cows only have one stomach, but it has four distinct compartments. It is very different than a human stomach, so that's why people often say cows have four stomachs. The first three compartments process feed in a way that people cannot. Due to this unique digestive system, cows have the ability to convert plants humans can't eat into nutritious milk.

2. A cow that is milking eats about 100 pounds of feed each day. The feed is typically a combination of grass, grain, and a mixture of other ingredients like citrus pulp, almond hulls and cottonseeds. These are items that may otherwise be thrown away. We like to think of cows as the ultimate recyclers. The ingredients that we can't eat can often be nutritious for them. Farmers employ professional animal nutritionists to develop scientifically formulated, balanced, and nutritious diets for their cows.

3. A cow that is milking drinks about 30 to 50 gallons of water each day. That's enough water to fill a bathtub. During periods of heat stress, water intake may double. Water weighs 8.35 pounds per gallon, so a milking dairy cow may consume as much as 420 (or more) pounds of water daily.

4. There are six main breeds of dairy cows. The main breeds are Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Holstein, Jersey, and Milking Shorthorn. A seventh, Red and White, is a variation of the Holstein breed.

5. An average Holstein dairy cow weighs about 1,500 pounds. That's nearly one ton. A cow's size depends on a variety of factors like age, breed, feeding, genetic potential, and other factors. A cow's weight can vary between 1,000 and 1,800 pounds.

6. An average dairy cow produces 7 to 9 gallons of milk a day. That's about 128 glasses of great-tasting, nutrient-packed goodness.

7. Cows like it cool. Due to their thick skin, hair and natural insulation, dairy cows prefer temperatures between 40˚ and 65˚F. Farmers in colder climates have several ways to take care of their cows in the winter, such as closing the barn doors or hanging plastic curtains over the open sides of the barn. During the summer, farmers keep their cows cool by turning on their barns' fans and water misters.
