The Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo Celebrating 55 Years of Tradition at the Greatest Show on Dirt

By Donna West, Division Director
Market Development – MDAC

What is it about recalling the past that fascinates us so? Fond memories of days gone by, or an awareness of previous mistakes? It could be the amazing costs comparison of everyday living. The realization of striving for and finally arriving at the pinnacle of a select group of people, places and creations. Remembrances of past traditions but reawakening them with today's unique style. For without the past, we would have no present nor a future.

If, in 1965 a group of Mississippians, including Si Corley, who was the Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce at the time, had not had the desire to salute and celebrate the state's livestock programs, encourage competition, and introduce top notch entertainment, we might not enjoy the Dixie National today!

"For 55 years, people have come from all over the United States to attend the Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo," Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson said.

"Each year, from its inception, those tasked with planning and running the Dixie National have continued to preserve the integrity and objective of those before them, which is providing great family fun and preparing our youth for future leadership roles through hard work and competition."

ruary 1st and runs through February 16. A complete schedule of events can be found on pages 14 and 15.

One of the most significant gatherings each year is the Dixie National Junior Round-up, the largest in the state. For 51 years, members of Mississippi's FFA and 4-H chapters have worked hard for the opportunity to exhibit their hogs, cattle, dairy cattle, beef cattle and sheep, striving for the definitive title of "Grand Champion" at the Sale of Junior Champions.

The Dixie National Rodeo, always full of thrills, fun and excitement, begins Thursday, February 6 and continues through Wednesday, February 12. Talented yet daring cowboys and cowgirls will keep you on the edge of your seat as they vie for the ultimate gold buckle. Special entertainers, which follow the rodeo each evening, include Tracy Byrd, Hardy, Confederate Railroad, Gene Watson, Jordan Davis, Craig Morgan and Russell Dickerson. Other events include the Dixie National Rodeo Dance, Intercollegiate Beef Judging Contest, Farriers Competition and the Southern Classic Horse Sale. Don't miss any of the impressive horse shows or the educational and interesting Equine Expo, beginning February 1 through February 14. And, if you are searching for something hot, free and good to eat, stop by the Mississippi Farmers Market on February 9, 8:00 a.m. – 10:30 a.m. for Dixie National's annual Rodeo Breakfast.

Since 1971, a cavalcade of horse clubs, marching groups and colorful floats have entertained thousands at the enduring and energetic Dixie National Parade. The finale of every parade is the resilient Dixie National Wagon Train, celebrating 40 spirited years of riding the trails. This year's parade gets underway at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, February 8, with best viewing on High and North West Streets, around the State Capitol.

USDA Seeks Applications for Grants to Help Agricultural Producers and Small Rural Businesses Develop and Market New Products

By John Rounsaville
State Director
USDA Rural Development

To survive in the competitive world of agribusiness, agriculture producers must be innovators. In fact, farmers and ranchers have always been innovators, often making do with whatever is at hand in order to get the job done. But, there's certainly more to innovation than being handy with bailing wire and duct tape. Farm families are adept at nurturing Mother Nature's bounty and then applying entrepreneurial spirit, innovation, and sweat to make it even better.

USDA Rural Development is the economic development arm of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Our agency provides grants and loans to assist in the development of public infrastructure, utilities, housing, community facilities, and businesses in rural communities. This year, Rural Development invested more than $800 million into our rural Mississippi communities. Among our many programs, we offer financial assistance to assist agricultural entrepreneurs in bringing business ideas to life.

This month, USDA is announcing funding availability for our Value-Added Producer Grant (VAPG) program. The purpose of this program is to assist agriculture producers in generating new products, creating and expanding marketing opportunities, and increasing on-farm income. Grants can be used for planning activities or for working capital expenses related to producing and marketing a value-added agricultural product. Examples of planning activities under the VAPG can include conducting feasibility studies and developing business plans for processing and marketing value-added products. Working capital grants can cover expenses such as processing costs, marketing and advertising expenses, and inventory and salary expenses.

Across the country, farmers and ranchers have used the VAPG to make and sell organic ice creams and butters, produce and sell pasture-raised chickens and eggs, and process and package grains, fruits, and vegetables – among numerous other value-added initiatives. Last year, Home Place Pastures in Como, Mississippi was awarded a VAPG for working capital to raise, market, and sell its unique line of grass-fed beef.

Do you have an innovative idea to develop a value-added product from your own farm or ranch? If so, applying for the Value-Added Producer Grant through USDA Rural Development may provide you an excellent opportunity to further your farm's business objectives. Contact our office at 601-965-4316 or visit USDA Rural Development online at www.rd.usda.gov/ms to learn more.

A New Look at the Mississippi State Fairgrounds

By Erin Williams
Public Relations
Professional & Writer

As an integral part of Mississippi's Capital City, the Mississippi State Fairgrounds plays a huge role in economic development for the area and state as a whole – larger, perhaps, than most realize. In fact, the 105-acre campus that consists of 27 buildings including the Mississippi Coliseum, the Mississippi Trade Mart, and the Kirk Fordice Equine Center, welcomes over 1.2 million visitors and hosts over 550 event days each year. The Mississippi State Fair and Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo are two of the top events, among many more.

After the appointment of Andy Gipson as Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce, and the resulting immediate hire of Steve Hutton as Executive Director of the Fair Commission, the Fairgrounds have become a major priority of revitalization and modernization. While both residents and tourists alike have surely noticed the construction surrounding the campus, many don't know about all the intricate improvements taking place that will contribute to an overall improved, beautiful, and updated campus.

In March of 2018, after our state legislature approved construction of a new Trade Mart, then Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy Hyde Smith broke ground on the new facility. The very next month, Hyde-Smith was appointed to the U.S. Senate and Andy Gipson became the new Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce, inheriting quite a large, new project.

"Beginning April 2, 2018, just a few days after I came in office, I spent three days walking around in every building on the Fairgrounds," said Commissioner Gipson. "I went in basements, the livestock barns, the equine center, the armory, etc. because I wanted to see for myself what needed to be done. It was very noticeable to me during those three days just how much these buildings were in need of repair."

Although construction of the new $30 million Trade Mart – which will include 3, giant bays, a brand new entryway and foyer that will be finished with Mississippi-made lumber and wood, 3 café areas, and a brand new commercial kitchen – had already been approved and began in 2018, Commissioner Gipson, Steve Hutton, and the rest of their team, didn't want to neglect the other improvements that needed to be made around the campus as well.

"We knew with the new Trade Mart we'd also need improvements to the Coliseum since the new Trade Mart will be connected to the Coliseum. After all, the Coliseum was built in 1962, so it was time for improvements," said Commissioner Gipson. "One of the first improvements we made was repairing all 44 white, exterior columns on the Coliseum. Many don't realize that these columns are actually water drains that drain underground and they were leaking and causing structural challenges so we repaired the concrete and added new epoxy coating."

While the columns were being repaired, they also cleaned and shined up all of the windows, leading many to believe that new windows had been added. Another needed, and much welcomed, improvement to the Coliseum will come in the form of new seating.

"The chairs in the Coliseum are actually so antiquated that no one makes them anymore; in fact, you can't even buy the parts to replace them now. Throughout the years, we've had to tear out chairs from the top to replace seating down low because we don't have the ability to buy replacement parts," said Commissioner Gipson. "Because of that, the legislature approved for all new seating in the Coliseum which is a very great thing. We are very excited about that and hope to have the seating fully complete next year."

The livestock barns have also had improvements made. New signage was added to the livestock barns for the first time in 20 years, air conditioning – which will also serve as heating during the winter months – was added to the livestock barn bathrooms for the very first time, and all of the drains were cleaned out and repaired.

"One major thing we did to the livestock barns was updating the wiring. The barns were built in the 1950s and the wiring was due for an overhaul," said Commissioner Gipson. "We hired an in-house certified electrician who rewired the entire livestock barn, completely bringing all the electrical wiring and plugs to current code. He also rewired all of the RV connections outside, which resulted in over 500 outlets and breakers being repaired and 165 new RV slots being added."

According to Commissioner Gipson, these improvements made in the livestock barns and RV park alone allows for new doors to be open for the Coliseum to host much larger livestock shows and events than ever before, which will generate additional revenue throughout the years.

"While I'm passionate and excited about the new Trade Mart and the improvements we've been able to make to the Coliseum and Fairgrounds as a whole, I'm most excited about the agricultural and livestock improvements," said Commissioner Gipson. "Agriculture and livestock is why we even have the Fairgrounds, these year-round events, and the fair. It's how it all started, and it needs to remain the focus."

In addition to these improvements, new LED, energy-efficient lighting has been installed throughout the Coliseum, new security cameras and lighting are in the process of being installed throughout the property, and over 1,000 horse stalls are being renovated along with corresponding barns.

Even though these improvements to the fairgrounds campus will positively affect the state in terms of more, larger events that bring in additional revenue, as well as an overall better experience for existing events, the affects of these improvements also go further than that.

"Not a lot of people know that the Mississippi Fairgrounds is the primary staging ground of natural disaster response in Mississippi," said Brian Perry, Chief of Staff for the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. "There have been times where the Coliseum has opened up as a Red Cross shelter, like during Hurricane Katrina years ago, and we may have to feed and house people in need. These repairs directly impact that as well. These repairs are for everybody."

Looking forward, future improvement goals would be to repave and concrete the parking lot, transform the old, vacant Amory building, and continue to add additional parking spaces.

"It's hard for me to talk about these repairs without mentioning how vital Steve Hutton has been in every aspect. I've got to give him a lot of credit; he executes and implements the vision for all of this impeccably," said Commissioner Gipson. "He is someone that gets something done if he sees it needs to be done and this is just as much a part of his success story as it is for the state of Mississippi. When all of this is finished, I truly believe this will be a brand new beginning for the Mississippi Fairgrounds, and I'm excited to witness it all."

Dixie National Junior Round-Up Livestock Shows

By MSU Extension Service

Every year, for one week in early February, youth who raise livestock and participate in the 4-H & FFA livestock programs in Mississippi head to Jackson for the annual Dixie National Junior Round-Up Livestock Shows. These youth bring show entries from their junior livestock projects to compete for champions of their individual categories.

The Dixie National is the showcase for the 4-H & FFA livestock programs and livestock industry; it is also the site of the largest junior market livestock shows in Mississippi. The Champion and Reserve Champion of the Junior Steer Show, Junior Market Lamb Show, Junior Market Swine Show, Junior Market Goat Show, and Overall Champion Mississippi Bred steer, lamb, and hog are singled out for a special tribute at the Dixie National. The exhibitors purchased many of these animals last spring, and these young exhibitors with champions have worked long and hard to raise their outstanding animals.

First, boys and girls exhibit their animals at one of the five district shows within the State. If they receive a blue ribbon on their animal at the district show, they can then participate in the Dixie National. There were over 1,600 market animals at the five district shows and over 1,100 ended up at the Dixie National Junior Round-Up, from which the champions were selected. These champion animals were sold to the highest bidder at the Sale of Junior Champions auction.

Commissioner Gipson Applauds Signing of Phase One Trade Agreement with China

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing
and Public Relations - MDAC

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson applauds President Donald J. Trump for signing Phase One of the Economic and Trade Agreement with China. This historic agreement is a significant step in achieving fair and balanced trade and will further open China's food and agriculture market to American products.

"I applaud President Trump's persistence in negotiating new trade deals that will benefit American industries, especially agriculture. Agriculture is Mississippi's number one industry, and it has been greatly affected by trade disputes with China. Our farmers have made sacrifices so our President could negotiate, with strength, a better trade agreement that protects American interests and security," said Commissioner Gipson. "The signing of the Phase One Trade Agreement with China is a welcomed beginning to resolve these trade disputes, and serves as a symbol of the patriotism of our farmers. I'm grateful for the work President Trump is doing on behalf of agriculture and trade."

As part of the agreement, China has agreed to make substantial purchases of American manufacturing goods, agricultural products, energy products, and services, marking a monumental win for American farmers and businesses. China will purchase and import on average at least $40 billion of U.S. food, agricultural, and seafood products annually for a total of at least $80 billion over the next two years. These products will cover the full range of U.S. food, agricultural, and seafood products.

Increased sales of U.S. agriculture products to China will benefit Mississippi farmers. Over the past two years, Mississippi has seen a decline in exports to China. Mississippi exported nearly $58 million of agricultural commodities to China in 2019, down from $125 million in 2018 with top exports being cotton and forest products.

Commissioner Gipson Applauds Passage of USMCA

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing
and Public Relations - MDAC

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson praised the passage of the U.S.-Mexico-Canada Trade Agreement (USMCA) by the U.S. Senate.

Commissioner Gipson said, "I applaud the passage of USMCA by the U.S. Senate today. USMCA modernizes the trading relationship between the U.S. and two of our most important trading partners: Canada and Mexico. I'm thankful for the efforts of, and votes of support from, Senator Roger Wicker and Senator Cindy Hyde-Smith, as well as the entire Mississippi U.S. House delegation for their unanimous support."

Canada and Mexico make up the largest global market for U.S. farm and food exports. Mississippi produces nearly $8 billion in farm commodities each year, making it the state's largest industry and a signifi-

Gipson continued, "Last year, Mississippi exported nearly $91 million of agricultural products to Canada, and more than $44 million to Mexico. It is crucial that our farmers, ranchers and agribusiness continue to have access to international markets, and USMCA will be a powerful tool in those pursuits. President Trump has been a champion for this trade deal, and I look forward to him signing it soon."

The U.S. House of Representatives previously passed USMCA on December 19, 2019.
