Sweet Potato Growers Face Challenges

By Robert Nathan Gregory
MSU Extension Service

This year's sweet potato harvest is ramping up, and initial reports from the field indicate an average yield for 2020.

The variability in expected yield from field to field can be chalked up to location and soil moisture, said Mark Shankle, a researcher and professor with the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station at the Pontotoc Ridge-Flatwoods Branch Experiment Station.

"Some fields benefited from timely rains," Shankle said, "while others either received not enough or too much."

Trent Barnett, an agent with the Mississippi State University Extension Service in Calhoun County, offered a promising forecast for his area. About a third of the state's crop is planted there. For the last five years, the state's total sweet potato acreage has hovered between 27,000 and 30,000 acres.

"I would say a good estimate for Calhoun County acreage would be 9,000 to 10,000 acres," Barnett said. "I am excited about what I have seen of the sweet potato crop at this time, but we are still early in the season."

Roughly one-fifth of this year's planting had been harvested as of September 21, according to a recent report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture National Agricultural Statistics Service. So far, 64% was graded in fair condition, with 26% rated good.

In the age of COVID-19, the amount of water in sweet potato producers' rain gauges has hardly been their most pressing challenge. Labor and product delivery are two issues that have presented difficulties for growers.

"Sweet potato production requires a tremendous labor force, and with the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, the greatest challenge has been the availability of workers,"

Shankle said. "Movement of product from storage sheds to food-processing facilities, restaurants and commercial cafeterias has been interrupted due to the COVID-19-related slowdown or complete shutdown in certain areas. This has required some growers to establish new marketing channels to sell their crop."

Extension agricultural economist Alba Collart said growers have to take extra steps to protect the health of their workers, including social distancing.

"As the harvest season began, farmers faced uncertainty regarding how COVID-19 will impact the availability of workers and how to handle and prevent COVID-19 cases in their farms and communities," Collart said.

The pandemic has not made a major dent in sweet potato market prices.

"So far, this year's average price for a 40-pound carton wholesale is $25.68. That is near last year's average of $26 and higher than the five-year average of nearly $24 from 2015-19," Collart said.

MSU supports the state's sweet potato industry with research plots, new variety testing and other activities. Research at the Pontotoc Ridge-Flatwoods Branch is driven by input from industry stakeholders.

"Recent sweet potato research includes soil fertility requirements for different commercial varieties, replant scenarios based on missing plants, and evaluation of new cultivars for commercial production for environmental performance, insect tolerance and yield potential," Shankle said. "We are also studying sweet potato tolerance to off-target movement of auxin herbicides and new technologies that promote propagation of certified clean sweet potato plant material in greenhouses."

Commissioner Gipson Announces Mississippi Agriculture Stabilization Act Application Period

By Adam Choate
Deputy Commissioner

Mississippi Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson announced on October 15, 2020, that the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) will be accepting applications for the Mississippi Agriculture Stabilization Act (MASA) Thursday, October 15 through Monday, November 16.

MASA went into law on October 9, 2020, through Senate Bills 3058 and 3061, and provides roughly $13 million to assist producers in Mississippi with CARES Act funds. This program is a self-certified application program for assistance due to the negative effects of the COVID-19 pandemic on Mississippi agriculture producers, and has three separate funds within it: the Poultry Farmer Stabilization Grant Fund ($3 million), the Sweet Potato Farm Sustainment Grant Program Fund ($500,000), and the Mississippi Supplemental CFAP Grant Program Fund ($9.5 million).

"We are excited to be able to accept applications from eligible producers for these funds, and we want to thank the Legislature for their consideration of farmers during this difficult year," said Commissioner Gipson. "We will begin accepting applications for one month starting today, and I encourage producers to apply early."

Submitted applications will be evaluated based on sales, inventory and other records. However, since MASA is a self-certification program, this documentation may not need to be submitted in its entirety with the application. Applications are subject to review and spot check audits; some producers will be required to provide documentation at a later date to substantiate their claims. Producers should retain the records and documentation they use to complete their applications.

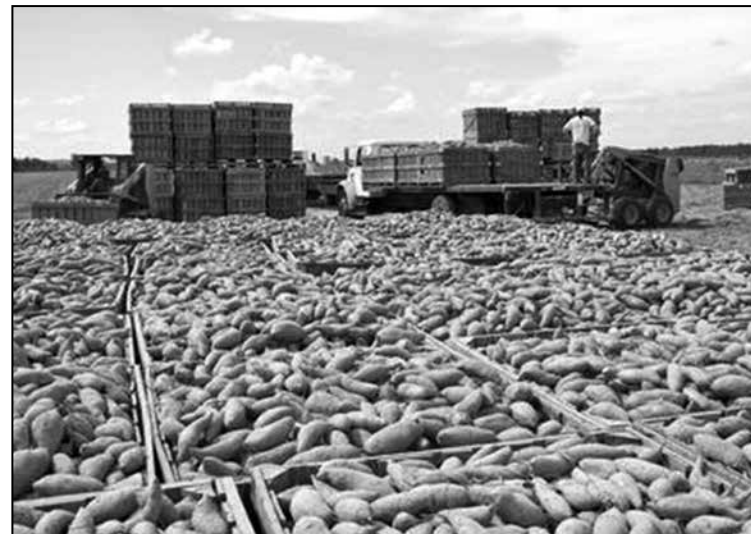

Producers may apply at mscare-sact.com and applications must be submitted online. If application requests exceed available funding, funds will be awarded on a first come, first serve basis. All funds must be dispersed by the Depart-

Ag Commissioner Andy Gipson Announces Organic Certification Cost-Share Program

By Hannah East
Marketing Specialist
Market Development - MDAC

Commissioner Andy Gipson announced that the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) is currently offering a cost-share program for Mississippi organic producers and handlers receiving certification or continuation of certification by a United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) accredited certifying agent.

“This is a great opportunity for farmers that have received the USDA Organic Certification in the past year to help offset some of the costs associated with this certification,” said Commissioner Gipson, “I am glad that we are able to offer this program again for 2020, and I encourage our farmers to take advantage of this opportunity during these unprecedented times.”

Funding is available for those that received the certification between October 1, 2019 and September 30, 2020. Individual organic operators are eligible for reimbursement of 50 percent of their fiscal year 2020 certification costs up to a maximum of $500 per category of certification. The National Organic Certification Cost-Share Program currently recognizes the following categories of certification eligible for reimbursement: crops, wild crops, livestock and handler.

To be eligible for reimbursement, the following must be provided to MDAC by applicants: proof of certification issued by a USDA accredited certifying agent, a reimbursement form, an itemized invoice for certification-related expenses, an IRS W-9 form and documentation of the payment in the form of a cancelled check. Applicants must be Mississippi organic producers and handlers located within the State of Mississippi. Funds are available on a first-come, first-serve basis until the funds are depleted. Operations may receive one reimbursement per year. The deadline to submit applications is December 15, 2020.

For more information about this program or to obtain an application, visit www.mdac.ms.gov/market-development/national-organic-cost-share-program or contact Susan Lawrence at susan@mdac.ms.gov or (601) 213-7542.

Mississippi College Equestrian Team Saddles Up for New Season

By Andy Kanengiser
Mississippi College University
News Coordinator

River is the name of her favorite horse during fall practices at Providence Hill Farm, Aleix Scott says.

An 18-year-old Mississippi College (MC) freshman, Aleix enjoys spending time with River as a newcomer to MC's equestrian team starting its 14th season.

"I think what I love most about riding is its ability to take my mind off the stress I am dealing with," the Tennessee resident says. "It allows me to build a relationship with a horse I am riding. I can get on and ride and focus on what is in front of me, instead of worrying about schoolwork."

A biology major, Aleix says her focus after graduation will be going to veterinary school. So riding horses is clearly a great fit.

Aleix Scott is a member of the MC equestrian team.

MC's equestrian team begins a new season making adjustments due to the COVID-19 pandemic. There are no competitions set this fall. But that's not stopped the student-athletes from practicing twice a week to advance their skills.

"Riding gives me a goal to work towards," Aleix Scott says. "It's a never-ending challenge."

Hanna Fowler, 19, a transfer student from Baptist College of Florida, is just as excited to be a Lady Choc-taw.

Her passion for horses began as a high school student in the Sunshine State. Her favorite horse at Providence Hill Farm? The name is Oliver. "In the short time that I've been here, he is the horse that I have ridden the most, and I have just fallen in love with him."

A Graceville, Florida resident, Hanna was first introduced to Mississippi College as a Fuge camper several years ago. "When I came here, I could just feel the Lord's presence, and I knew this is where He was calling me to go to school," says the psychology major. "MC was like a home away from home during the summer."

Aleix Scott also pointed to Mississippi College as a Christian university as a big factor drawing her to enroll in August. "It would allow me to surround myself with like-minded people who would hopefully have a positive impact on my life." A tour of Central Mississippi's beautiful Providence Hill Farm convinced her she made the right choice.

Kaitlin Williams, 20, of Hernando is among the returning riders on the equestrian team. She cares for two horses, Tres and Cassini, at the farm this fall, but mainly rides Lew at practices.

A biology major, Kaitlin was initially attracted to Mississippi College because of the strength of its academic programs. She quickly discovered MC's equestrian team is among the best in the South.

Coach Claudia Billups has been a tremendous help, the sophomore says. "Coach Claudia has improved my skills at both English and Western riding," she says. "I love working with horses and learning all their different personalities."

Williams is anxious to see competitions start again. Meanwhile, Kaitlin cherishes the time spent with teammates in Blue & Gold uniforms. MC's squad of talented riders is located in an Intercollegiate Horse Show Association division, including colleges in Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

Trump Administration Invests $99,900 through Value-Added Producer Grant Program in MS

By Justin Wilkes
Public Affairs and Community
Economic Development Coordinator
Rural Development - USDA

The Trump Administration today announced that the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) is investing nearly $100,000 to help agricultural producers in Mississippi increase production of value-added goods. Funding will come from USDA's Value-Added Producer Grant Program.

The goals of the program are to generate new products, create and expand marketing opportunities, and increase producer income by assisting agricultural producers with entering value-added activities related to the processing and/or marketing of new products.

"This program can help bring your ideas to life, whether you're a rancher that wants to market your products to local restaurants, a producer that needs assistance funding your new line of jams and preserves, or supplying local restaurants with local produce," said John Campbell, State Director for Rural Development in Mississippi. "Under the leadership of President Trump and Agriculture Secretary Perdue, USDA has been working tirelessly to be a strong partner to rural Mississippi in building stronger and healthier communities, because we know when rural America thrives, all of America thrives."

Examples of projects in Mississippi include:

- Salad Days, LLC – Salad Days

is a hydroponic farm that is family owned and operated in Flora, a small community located in Madison County, Mississippi. Salad Days specializes in growing pesticide-free produce and is able to supply a wide variety of lettuce 365 days a year. Salad Days' working capital grant funds will be used to capitalize on an emerging niche market for hydroponically grown lettuce. With this project, Salad Days will double its production to serve the demand of the existing customer base and could supply additional customers in a larger geographical area. With this assistance, they'll be able to supply a healthy and safe source of lettuce that encourages a greater consumption of leafy greens, while added revenue from additional lettuce production will benefit the business and local community.

- Uncle Jerry's Farm - Uncle Jerry's Farm, located in the unincorporated community of Pocahontas, Hinds County, Mississippi, specializes in growing specialty mushrooms. The working capital grant funds will be used to focus on and support the marketing and expansion of Mississippi locally grown specialty mushrooms to individuals, restaurants, chefs, farmers' market and grocery stores.

USDA Rural Development provides loans and grants to help expand economic opportunities and create jobs in rural areas. For more information, visit www.rd.usda.gov.

Southern Act of Kindness Brings Genuine MS® Honey to Taiwanese

By Lane Milton
Genuine MS Brand Manager
Market Development Division -MDAC

Doug Stone grew up in Clinton, MS. He has been in the Honeybee industry for thirty years. When Doug was 14-years-old, he attended the Mississippi State Fair. The Central Mississippi Beekeepers Association was looking for younger generations that might be interested in the industry. Their promise to Doug was this; if he attended the once-a-month meeting at the Natural Science Museum, they would provide him with a beehive, smoker and a bee suit.

That is where he met J.N. Russell of J. N. Apiary. Mr. Russell had hundreds of hives. Doug would go to Raymond for the weekend and spend those two days soaking in the knowledge from this seasoned beekeeper. That is where Doug Stone fell in-love with the honeybee industry.

While Doug was attending Mississippi State University majoring in Forestry, he continued as a honeybee hobbyist, under the mentorship of Harry Fulton and Dr. Clarence Collison until 2008. Doug went on to work as a registered forester and now with the federal government to provide for his wife and three children.

About 16 months ago his 16 and 14-year-old boys began to ask about the honeybee industry. This began the rebirth of Bee's Best Honey, LLC. Doug and his family have relationships with several farmers that allow them to rest beehives on their property in return for honey. One of these farmers is Mississippi State Senator, Charles Younger, District 17. Younger facilitated a tour of the Golden Triangle for Taiwanese Delegates and happened to share Bee's Best Honey as a small gift for these delegates.

A few months ago, Senator Younger got a surprising phone call from one of the delegates wanting to order 100 more jars of Doug Stone's honey for a fall festival. Who knew this opportunity would arise out of this southern act of kindness?

Our Genuine MS® producers have so much southern hospitality and as Doug Stone said, "I believe in Mississippi. I stand with all of our Mississippi products above and beyond anyone else's."

If you have the opportunity sometime soon, take a look at all of the great Genuine MS® producers on www.genuinemms.com.

COVID Couldn't Stop These Bodacious Bovines From Competing in the 2020 MS State Fair "Pretty Cow Contest"

This year's livestock shows looked a little different at the Mississippi State Fair, but it didn't stop the state's best and brightest youth from competing. At the 2020 Pretty Cow Contest, FFA and 4-H students from across the state put on quite the show for the panel of celebrity judges. Judge Kenny Griffis, Associate Justice of the Mississippi Supreme Court; Mrs. Katie McRae, wife of State Treasurer David McRae; and Chloe Ortega, Morning News Anchor for WJTV, acted as this year's judges and chose the Grand and Reserve champions of this annual, beloved show. Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson presented a plaque, ribbon and banner to both winners of the 2020 Pretty Cow Contest.

Alena and Kacey O'Conner of Tate County are 'Ready to Deliver Your Milk Quickly!' with their very own 'Milk Wagon Races.' They were announced Grand Champion of the 2020 Pretty Cow Contest at the Mississippi State Fair by a panel of celebrity judges, consisting of Judge Kenny Griffis, Associate Justice of the Mississippi Supreme Court; Mrs. Katie McRae, wife of State Treasurer David McRae; and Chloe Ortega, Morning News Anchor for WJTV. Jaylynn and Payton Cloy of Lincoln County are 'Making America Great Again – One Drink of Milk at a Time.' They were announced Reserve Champion of the 2020 Pretty Cow Contest at the Mississippi State Fair by a panel of celebrity judges consisting of Judge Kenny Griffis, Associate Justice of the Mississippi Supreme Court; Mrs. Katie McRae, wife of State Treasurer David McRae; and Chloe Ortega, Morning News Anchor for WJTV.
