Abundant Poinsettia Colors Bring Beauty to Holidays

By Dr. Gary R. Bachman
MSU Extension Service

In this year of COVID-19, we will celebrate our holidays differently than in past years. But despite any accommodations we have to make, there's one thing that will always be associated with the Christmas season, and that is beautiful poinsettias.

The range of poinsettia colors available is truly remarkable.

However, some folks have tried to expand the color palette by painting and dyeing in totally nontraditional and unnatural colors. Those people are really naughty and should get coal in their stockings!

Red is the traditional poinsettia color in many people's minds. Let's face it: A red poinsettia is beautiful. My favorite continues to be the traditional red.

But red is not the only color available. Now, we can purchase white, pink, maroon, speckled and marbled poinsettias. And many of these unexpected and unusual colors are not artificial.

Autumn Leaves is an unusual poinsettia with bright bracts that resemble leaves of the fall season. It displays a rich, golden-yellow color with small, pink flecks. The yellow and pink colors intensify as the bracts begin to mature.

A similar poinsettia called Gold Rush has bracts displaying a bold, golden-yellow coloration with fewer pink notes.

Marbled poinsettias offer a change from the standard solid colors.

Ice Punch has reverse red bracts and white centers. Now, there's Sparkling Punch, which has pastel-pink bracts with a creamy-white streak down the center. This coloration stands out against the dark-green foliage.

Tapestry is a variegate selection that has grayish-green leaves with pale-yellow margins and bright, cherry-red bracts.

Red Princettia is a different breed of poinsettia. This hybrid is more compact than normal, with more bountiful, colorful bracts. The bracts look like they are edged in white.

Take your time when shopping for poinsettias, and don't just grab the first pretty plant you find. Look for plants that are compact with good branching. Don't be afraid to carefully pick plants out of the crowd and look at them.

Check for signs of stem and branch breakage. I like to buy poinsettias that are not sleeved and have the protective sleeves put on at check out. Never try to slide the shipping sleeves off; always tear or cut the sleeve off to avoid damaging the branches.

For at-home care, give poinsettias at least six hours of indirect sunlight a day combined with comfortable room temperatures. If you're comfortable, then the poinsettias will be happy. Avoid temperature changes from drafts -- either cold or warm -- as these will cause the leaves and bracts to drop.

Poinsettias are sensitive to wet feet, so don't overwater. Feel the top of the potting mix or pick the pot up to get a sense of the weight before adding water. When watering, remove the decorative sleeve and water in the sink, letting the pots completely drain. Use a protective saucer to protect furniture that the poinsettia is set on.

Despite the alarming memes that are going to be shared on social media, poinsettias are not poisonous to our pets. According to the ASPCA Animal Poison Control, eating poinsettia leaves will only induce GI tract irritation.

A more likely scenario would be you getting a skin rash or contact dermatitis from handling your poinsettia. Always wash your hands after handling your poinsettia.

As you shop, look for these and other gorgeous poinsettias at your local garden center to enjoy this holiday season.

When cared for carefully at home, poinsettias such as this Tapestry can be enjoyed throughout the entire holiday season. (Photo by MSU Extension/Gary Bachman)

USDA Launches AskUSDA, Improves and Streamlines Customer Experience

By USDA Rural Development

On November 18, 2020, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced the official launch of the AskUSDA Contact Center program. The AskUSDA Contact Center will serve as the "one front door" for phone, chat, and web inquiries, transforming how the public interacts with USDA and providing an enhanced experience for the public.

Prior to the creation and implementation of AskUSDA, members of the public had to navigate dozens of phone numbers and had no chat function or online platform for self-service, creating frustrations and inefficiencies. AskUSDA was created to make USDA more responsive to the public by providing a single destination for phone, chat, and web inquiries. Whether it's talking to a USDA representative via phone, chatting with a live agent on our website, or communicating with USDA via e-mail, the public will have streamlined access.

The launch of AskUSDA delivers a centralized contact center that offers customer service and consistent information for the public. With over 29 agencies and offices, USDA's mission impacts every single person in the U.S. and hundreds of millions around the globe. AskUSDA assures that farmers, researchers, travelers, parents, and more have efficient access to the information and resources they need.

AskUSDA is set up to handle common questions across programs that service a variety of audiences. For example, customers who may have basic questions about USDA's nutrition services can be assisted across phone, e-mail, and web chat by trained AskUSDA representatives, and customers who may have complicated questions about loan programs can be quickly connected to agency experts. AskUSDA also hosts over five thousand articles for a self-service option to help with more common questions such as food safety inquiries or pet-travel guidance.

Over the course of its pilot program, AskUSDA successfully assisted with over 93,000 citizen inquiries, and the AskUSDA website resulted in over 1.4 million knowledge article page views. USDA looks forward to continuing to implement this enhanced best in class contact center across the Department.

The public can contact AskUSDA by phone at (833) ONE-USDA with representatives available 9:00am-5:30pm EST weekdays. The website (<https://ask.usda.gov/>) is available 24/7 and includes live chat agents available 10:00am-6:00pm EST on weekdays. Inquiries can also be sent via email at any time to askusda@usda.gov.

1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup hot water

Preheat oven to 350° F. Grease and flour a 9-inch square pan. In a large bowl, cream together the sugar and butter. Beat in the egg, and mix in the molasses. In a separate bowl, sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, ginger, and cloves. Blend into the creamed mixture. Stir in the hot water. Pour into the prepared pan. Peppermint Chocolate Bark

12 ounces high-quality semisweet chocolate chips
12 ounces high-quality white chocolate chips (not almond bark)
1/4 cup peppermint candy, crushed
2 tablespoons vegetable shortening or coconut oil, divided

In a microwave-safe bowl, melt the semisweet chocolate with 1 tablespoon shortening. Stir every 30 seconds or so, just until the chips begin to lose their shape. Stir them until chocolate is very smooth, and spoon into a parchment-lined 9-by-13-inch baking dish. Set aside to cool. Let set completely. Combine the remaining shortening with the white chocolate chips, and microwave following the same instructions above. When smooth, spread the melted white chocolate over the semisweet layer. Evenly sprinkle crushed peppermints on top. Let set 1 to 2 hours. Break into pieces when you're ready to serve. Source: farmflavor.com.

Brown Sugar Fudge

3/4 cup unsalted butter, cut into chunks
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 3/4 cups powdered sugar
1 cup toasted walnuts, optional

In a heavy medium-sized pot, bring first four ingredients to a boil over medium-high heat, stirring constantly. Reduce heat to low and stir frequently until candy thermometer reads 240 degrees, about 20-30 minutes. Pour into a metal bowl (a plastic one will melt) and add vanilla. Beat with electric mixer at medium speed. Add powdered sugar slowly and continue beating until fudge is thick and smooth, about 3-4 minutes. Add walnuts and stir with spoon. Spread in an ungreased 8-inch square pan; refrigerate uncovered for about 30 minutes. Cut into small squares before serving. Source: farmflavor.com.

Chocolate Chip Raspberry Bars

1-3/4 cups all-purpose flour
1 cup sugar
1 cup cold butter, cubed
1 large egg
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1 cup seedless raspberry jam
1/2 cup miniature semisweet chocolate chips

In a large bowl, combine flour and sugar. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in egg and extract just until moistened. Set aside 1 cup crumb mixture for topping. Press the remaining mixture into a greased 11x7-in. baking pan. Bake at 350° for 5 minutes. Spread with jam and sprinkle with reserved crumb mixture. Bake 35-40 minutes longer or until golden brown. Sprinkle with semisweet chips. Return to the oven for 30 seconds or until chips are glossy. Cool completely on a wire rack. Cut into bars. Source: farmflavor.com.

Tis' The Season to be Genuine MS®

By Lane Milton
Genuine MS Brand Manager - MDAC

Genuine Mississippi® ventured into the retail side of business this year at the 2020 State Fair. We wanted to give producers the opportunity to showcase their products while giving consumers the chance to buy exclusive Mississippi products. After the fair, Genuine Mississippi® popped up at the Mississippi Farmers Market and will be there through December 19, 2020.

During the holiday season there are many events, social gatherings and fellowshiping with family. We start with Thanksgiving and go into the new year with joy and celebration for another year that has passed and another that is coming. Genuine MS® currently has thirty-six producers participating in the store. There are approximately 213 products available and ready to add into your festivities. We have grown, raised, made and crafted items that fit all types of preferences.

Genuine MS® crafted items in the store have a wide range in variety. As holiday entertaining starts, our store offers beautiful serving dishes that represent Mississippi. Etta B Pottery and Rhoads Design have serving dishes for entertaining family and friends and even the occasional special event. These items are great for birthdays, weddings and all gatherings. We have wonderful items that would fill these dishes such as: Flathua's shortbread cookies and key lime cookies, Grumpy Man salsas, Indianola Pecans and Robicheaux's Candy's. As crowds arrive at your events, drinks are necessary. Pearl River Tea, MS Cold Drip, Brown Bottling and High Point Coffee would be great to offer your guests. These are all great gifts to be given by the host as well. Genuine MS® raised products such as honey and creamed honey are great additions to any stocking or holiday event for sweetening up things a little. Covenant Creek Farms raises goats and crafts goat milk soap in several scents. They are available at the store in special Christmas scents. Their products are good for colder temperatures and help with moisturizing skin.

Everyone loves mealtime during the holidays. Genuine MS® grown and raised products are a healthy addition to the table. There is nothing like knowing that while supporting a farmer, you're serving your family and friends the best nutrients possible. Delta Blues Rice, Honestly Beef, and Crop to Pop are a few of the farms that are participating in the Genuine MS® store this year. These products are great for serving your family and your guests but would also be fabulous gifts.

If you've run out of ideas come shopping with us the next few Saturdays at the Mississippi Farmers Market, located in downtown Jackson at 929 High Street, Jackson, MS 39202. We have sauces, grits, polenta, corn flour, spices, rubs and candles. Sidney Blue Leather will custom make gun holsters, wallets, purses and belts. Southern Stamped Jewelry will custom make your personalized jewelry but also bring back a memory of a lost loved one.

This year is an especially different year with Covid-19 out there. Mississippi has their very own company that produces facial masks. They are for sale at the Genuine MS® store. And at the end of the day, when all is quiet, you can relax with B Graham bath bombs and Mississippi Miracle Clay and think of the great things you've done by staying safe and supporting local.

Merry Christmas
