Boldly Marching Into 2021 at the Mississippi Farmers Market

By Donna West, Division Director
Market Development - MDAC

What a difference a year makes. As we stumbled into the 2020 spring season, the coronavirus had already raced at breakneck speed across oceans, countries, continents, and throughout America, invading all 82 counties in Mississippi. Lost were lives, jobs, homes, normalcy, and freedom as we knew it. Instead, we became afraid, uncertain, and anxious about many things. We learned to work from home, perfecting Zoom meetings, quarantined solo or with immediate family members, and home schooled our children. As time progressed, most of us adjusted to this new way of life, rediscovering a love of gardening, baking, reading actual books and treasuring time spent at home with loved ones.

As we persevered in our never-ending quest for paper products, cleaning items and facemasks, the realization that COVID would not be going anywhere anytime soon made us re-think day-to-day activities, whether in the long-term or just in the moment.

Along the way we became innovative and creative, modifying what we used to do into what we can now do. Part of that innovation and creativity included how those businesses regarded as essential conducted day-to-day operations.

Because agriculture, farms and farmers markets were deemed as essential businesses or operations by Governor Tate Reeves, the Mississippi Farmers Market, run by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC), and located in the capital city of Jackson remained open and continued to operate as usual, albeit in a modified and innovative manner.

By the vendors selling from the inside out, the customers could shop around the outside perimeter of the market without having to enter the interior of the building.

With vendors and customers wearing face masks and practicing social distancing, shopping at the Mississippi Farmers Market continued to be a Saturday destination for locally grown fresh produce, and delicious food items.

"During the past year, the American people faced challenges like never before. However, throughout the ever-changing operations and uncertainty, agriculture never stopped. People still needed the basic fundamentals of food, fiber and shelter, and so the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce never stopped," said Andy Gipson, Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce. "To ensure the public could still find fresh produce, our agency worked to modify operations at the Mississippi Farmers Market. In addition to offering disposable face masks and hand sanitizer, we redesigned the entire layout of vendor booths and highly traveled walkways. MDAC employees enforced CDC guidelines as well as our own set of practices adopted from similar markets being held around the nation. As a result, we saw a steady gathering of people throughout the pandemic who were able to safely and securely shop all their favorite produce stands."

Throughout 2020 and into early 2021, the pandemic setup at the market maintained its outside perimeter mode of shopping, with vendors and customers alike adjusting agreeably.

With COVID numbers trending downward in Mississippi, and the market well into the spring season, the decision was made to return to the market's pre-pandemic format.

In April, and the summer season rapidly approaching, the Mississippi Farmers Market threw open its doors and invited everyone back inside. What shoppers discovered was a renewed, energetic, welcoming market.

A new eatery, The City Limits Café opened inside the market with dine-in seating spilling into the newly air-conditioned breezeway. Custom-built cypress sliding barn doors connect the breezeway with the north and south areas of the market. Genuine MS®, MDAC's state-wide branding program has evolved into The Genuine MS® Store located within the market, selling Mississippi-made items.

Those growers who are Genuine MS® members can sell some of their produce and meat products through The Genuine MS® Store during the week when the market is not open.

Along with our long-time growers, foodies and artisans, the Mississippi Farmers Market continues to welcome new vendors to this extended market family, greet customers, old and new, and remains the largest market in the state.

"The Mississippi Farmers Market is a staple of the Jackson community and a great way for the public to support our Mississippi farmers, crafters, and small business owners, while enjoying fresh produce and Genuine MS® products that have been locally sourced," continued Commissioner Gipson. "Now as we look to the future, we are boldly marching forward with a vision that will offer new opportunities to the consumer, the vendor, the community, and the entire state of Mississippi."

The Mississippi Farmers Market, located on High and Jefferson Streets and adjacent to the Mississippi State Fairgrounds in downtown Jackson, is open Saturdays from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m. and on Thursdays seasonally. For more information, subscribe to the weekly What's Fresh newsletter at www.msfarmersmarket.com, and follow us on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

Due to the coronavirus pandemic, the Mississippi Farmers Market vendors were asked to turn their stalls facing outside for social distancing.

This month, Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson announced the members of the new Mississippi Agriculture Youth Council. Members were chosen by a board made up of representatives of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC).

"I'm proud to announce the very first members of our department's Mississippi Agriculture Youth Council," said Commissioner Gipson. "I appreciate each and every student who applied, and applaud the 12 finalists selected for this distinguished honor. This council is an initiative close to my heart that will provide students interested in the agriculture industry a hands-on experience that cultivates leadership, work ethic and life skills while developing Mississippi's future workforce. With agriculture being the state's leading industry, it is important that we teach our youth about the different opportunities to be found within agriculture."

Council members will visit Mississippi agricultural companies and organizations, learn about the legislative process and how it affects the agriculture industry, shadow industry professionals and hone professional skills. Council members will serve for one year, from August 2021 to June 2022, and attend a minimum of four meetings at the MDAC headquarters located in Jackson.

From Our Kitchen To Yours

Fresh from the Farmers Market

Old-Fashioned Peach Cobbler

5 peaches, peeled, cored and sliced (about 4 cups)
 3/4 cup granulated sugar
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 For the batter:
 6 Tablespoons butter
 1 cup all-purpose flour
 1 cup granulated sugar
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 3/4 cup milk
 ground cinnamon

Add the sliced peaches, sugar and salt to a saucepan and stir to combine. Cook on medium heat for just a few minutes, until the sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat and set aside. Slice butter into pieces and add to a 9x13" baking dish. Place the pan in the oven while it preheats, to allow the butter to melt. Once melted, remove the pan from the oven. In a large bowl mix together the flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in the milk, just until combined. Pour the mixture into the pan, over the melted butter and smooth it into an even layer. Spoon the peaches and juice over the batter. Sprinkle cinnamon generously over the top. Bake at 350° for 38-40 minutes. Serve warm, with a scoop of ice cream, if desired. Source: TastesBetterfromScratch.com.

Oven-Fried Okra

1 quart fresh okra, sliced thick
 1 cup cornmeal
 Butter-flavored nonstick cooking spray
 Salt and pepper, to taste

In a large bowl, sprinkle okra with cornmeal, tossing to coat. Spread on a baking sheet that has been coated with nonstick spray. Lightly coat okra with nonstick spray, and season with salt and pepper. Bake at 375° for 45-50 minutes, stirring occasionally, until golden brown. Source: FarmFlavor.com.

 1 cup sour cream
 2 ounces Monterey Jack cheese, shredded (about 1/2 cup)
 1/4 cup whole milk
 1 teaspoon kosher salt
 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
 2 (15 oz.) cans sweet whole kernel corn (1 can drained, 1 can undrained), divided

Stir together eggs, corn muffin mix, sour cream, cheese, milk, salt, pepper, and drained can corn in a large bowl. Process undrained can corn in a food processor until smooth, about 1 minute; stir into egg mixture in bowl. Pour into baking dish lightly coated with cooking spray. Bake at 350° until center is set and top is lightly browned, 40-45 minutes. Source: SouthernLiving.com.

 1/4 cup reduced-fat sour cream
 1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
 1 1/2 teaspoons lime juice
 1/4 teaspoon ground cumin

For six decades, patrons have contributed funds in exchange for a magnolia tree planted in honor of or in memory of loved ones. Over the years the program has planted tens of thousands of magnolia trees along state highways. Due to new regulations, the program needed adjustments. Enjoy the beautiful garden created in honor of your loved ones located at the Mississippi Ag and Forestry Museum in Jackson, Mississippi.

The main garden has a formal design incorporating a variety of plants, trees, flora, stone, water, and wood. The gardens will be strategically lighted to enhance the beauty of the design at night. Enjoy the lush landscape encircling the bronze "Working Man" sculpture donated to the Ag Museum in 2011. Relax on the cypress wood seating to enjoy the container gardens and water features framed with cypress shutters. Floral beds offer seasonal beauty outside of the central area.

The goal is to complete the entire project in 2021, honoring the 60th anniversary of Magnolia Gardens, formerly known as Avenue of Magnolias. We thank you for your contributions thus far. In order to complete the gardens, including the Avenue of Magnolias, $150,000.00 in additional funds are needed.

All donations, regardless of amount, will receive a letter acknowledging their donation. Recipients will receive our Magnolia Garden certificate honoring their loved ones.

Donations exceeding $5,000 will be acknowledged with a plaque at the garden site.

Pick-Your-Own Farms

By Claude Nash, Editor
Mississippi Market Bulletin

Nothing beats the taste of fresh fruits, vegetables and nuts, but most of us lack the time and space to grow our own. Hundreds of Mississippi farmers statewide offer us the opportunity to teach our children and remind ourselves that food doesn't grow at the grocery store.

What better way to enjoy a family outing than picking your own blueberries, blackberries, corn, okra, butterbeans, peas, pecans, plums, peaches, etc. The Mississippi Market Bulletin wants to help you find these farmers who offer pick-your-own opportunities.

We will have a county-by-county listing of farmers with pick-your-own crops featured in the Mississippi Market Bulletin until July 15th. As farmers look for alternative crops and marketing methods, the number of pick-your-own farms is growing in Mississippi. We urge all farmers to participate in advertising their pick-your-own crops in these next few upcoming issues, and we encourage all citizens of Mississippi to pick the bounty of our great state firsthand.

The form below will assist those farmers wishing to list their pick-your-own crops. So don't miss out on the opportunity to advertise your farm and share your crops with our 34,000 subscribers.

Mississippi Ag and Forestry Museum Breaks Ground on New Magnolia Gardens

By Hannah East
Marketing Specialist - MDAC

On April 22, 2021, Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson broke ground on the new Magnolia Gardens exhibit at the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum. Commissioner Gipson was joined by Hayes Patrick, director of the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum; Pat Rutledge, representative of the Garden Clubs of Mississippi, Inc.; Matt Gates, owner of ARK Design + Build; and Ginger Williamson, deputy bureau director at the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC).

"We're proud to establish the new Magnolia Gardens," said Commissioner Gipson. This exhibit provides families across the state a centralized location to visit and honor their loved ones. I'd like to thank the Garden Clubs of Mississippi, Inc. and ARK Design + Build for their support in this endeavor."

The Magnolia Gardens is a cooperative project involving the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum, the Garden Clubs of Mississippi, Inc. and ARK Design + Build. This initiative will continue in the spirit and intent of the "Avenue of Magnolias" as a means of honoring or memorializing loved ones with a living legacy. Phase 1 of the project will include a premier garden with lighted pathways and water features. Phase 2 will include a Magnolia tree lined boulevard with landscaping. Cicadas Emerge Annually in Mississippi's Forests

By Bonnie Coblentz
MSU Extension Service

Many states are expecting an extra loud chorus of chirping cicadas this summer with the emergence of a massive 17-year brood of the insects, but Mississippi will not be part of this phenomenon.

Cicadas are known for their loud song and the empty, tan husks they leave clinging to trees and structures as the nymphs emerge as adults. Mississippi is home to annual cicadas and three broods of 13-year cicadas. The 17-year cicadas will be seen in Indiana, Pennsylvania and parts of Georgia, Tennessee, Ohio, Maryland and nearby states.

Blake Layton, entomologist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service, said cicadas, whether annual or periodical, are noisy insects with short aboveground life spans.

"The young of cicadas are known as nymphs, and they feed on the roots of hardwood trees quietly underground for years," Layton said. "They emerge through 1/2-inch holes in the ground, shed their nymphal skins and become adults to mate and lay eggs."

The males are the noisy ones, singing as they try to attract mates. Adult cicadas live only a few weeks in their winged, aboveground form.

"Individual cicadas can sing pretty loud, but population densities can exceed 1 million cicadas per acre, and the combined songs of this many cicadas can drown out backyard conversations," Layton said.

In Mississippi, annual cicadas begin appearing in June. Although they appear every year, they do not have a 1-year life cycle. Some live in pine forests, while other species are more common in hardwoods.

"Depending on the species, it takes 2 to 3 years or more for them to complete a generation, but the generations overlap so that some adults emerge every year," Layton said.

Annual cicadas in Mississippi are winged and have greenish bodies and prominent, bulging eyes. Mississippi has 20 species of annual cicadas, mostly in the Tibicen genus, and their songs vary considerably.

Mississippi is also home to all three broods of 13-year periodical cicadas. The broods are given numbers. Brood XXII will emerge next in 2027, Brood XXIII in 2028 and Brood XIX in 2024.

These periodical cicadas in the Magicicada genus have black bodies and orange eyes, legs and wings.

Terry Schiefer, curator of the Mississippi Entomological Museum at MSU, said adult cicadas are completely harmless. The immature forms can do limited damage to trees.

"The nymphs of cicadas suck the sap from tree roots, which may weaken young trees, but annual cicadas are rarely numerous enough to cause appreciable damage," Schiefer said. "The adult cicadas make slits in small branches of trees in which the females lay eggs. These branches often break and hang down in a condition known as 'flagging.'"

Schiefer said this flagging causes little harm to older trees, but young trees can be weakened or killed if this damage is extensive. This level of damage only happens when large numbers of periodical cicadas are present.
