October Marks Agritourism Month

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing
& Public Relations - MDAC

The month of October marks Agritourism Month. It also coincides with my favorite time of the year. One of the things that I enjoy the most is visiting agritourism operations in the state. Visiting these farms certainly take me back to my childhood growing up on a farm. Although I no longer live on a farm, I want my child to experience a little bit of farm life, and most importantly, I want him to know where his food comes from and what it takes to get food from the farm to the table.

Mississippi has over 70 registered agritourism operations. These farms include row crop farms, fruit and vegetable farms, dairy farms, alpaca farms, Christmas tree farms, goat farms, ranches and even demonstration farms. The activities offered at each farm are diverse and include attractions such as u-picks, petting zoos, pumpkin patches, hayrides, corn mazes, train rides, farmers markets, hay mazes, tours, horseback riding, educational activities, demonstrations, music, festivals and much more.

As you are preparing to visit some of our state's outstanding farms, you may want to keep a few things in mind to ensure that you make the most of your visit and create fun memories that will last a lifetime.

1. Dress Comfortable. Remember that you will be on a working farm so comfortable shoes and dress are a must. You will probably be doing some walking. Many operations offer hay rides around the farm so you may be climbing on and off a trailer. If you will be visiting during the day, you may want to bring along sunscreen and a hat. For late afternoon or night activities, you may want to have mosquito repellent handy.

2. Bring extra money. The cost of admission varies for each farm. It is always good to bring extra money with you in addition to the admission fee. Many farms have a store where you can purchase a variety of goodies ranging from jams and jellies made on the farm to t-shirts, toys and other souvenirs. Some farms even offer snacks and meals in case you get hungry.

3. Allow yourself plenty of time to visit the entire farm. Just as you would when visiting any other attractions, allow ample time to explore the entire farm. You can find lots of different activities at the various agritourism operations across the state. Pumpkin patches, u-picks, corn mazes, pony and train rides, playgrounds, and educational activities are just a few of the activities that you will find on these farms. Depending on the number of visitors, you may have a small wait to participate in some of these activities.

4. Come prepared to the farm. Do some research ahead of time by calling the farm or visiting the farm's website or social media pages to discover more about the farm's offerings and to inquire if there is anything extra that you may want to bring to enhance your experience. For instance, if you are visiting a u-pick farm, you may want to inquire if you need to bring your own baskets or buckets for the produce that you pick or if they will be made available to you. Some farms may offer some great picnic spots for those that enjoy outdoor picnicking. By knowing this ahead of time, you will know whether to pack your picnic basket and blanket.

5. Check out MDAC's online listing of agritourism farms. The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce offers a listing of agritourism operations on its website, msagritourism.org. You will find a description of each farm, including activities that you can expect to find, links to social media and websites, and contact information. No matter what your interests are, whether you are a history buff looking to learn more about farming in the past, or you want a place with lots of outdoor, family activities where the children can run and play, you will find something to suit your needs.

Genuine MS Agritourism Spotlight

For those looking for a true 'genuine' farm experience, consider a visit to a Genuine MS farm. Several Genuine MS members offer unique experiences that are not only educational but also entertaining.

If you are in the Poplarville area, visit Shroomdom Inc. & MisBeehaving Bee's, a 160 acre mushroom farm, where you can learn how to grow gourmet mushrooms. Then take a tour or have a tea party at the Pearl River Tea Company. Coastal Ridge Farm in Picayune hosts a sunflower u-pick on Saturdays and Sundays in October. Lazy Acres Farm Fun in Chunky offers activities throughout the fall from pumpkin picking to choose-and-cut Christmas trees. The Christmas light display is a must-see during the holiday season. Travel back in time and experience rural life in the 1940's in Smalltown, Miss. at the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum in Jackson. For more information on these and other Genuine MS members, visit GenuineMS.com.

*Subtitle USDA Designates 28 Mississippi Counties
as Primary Natural Disaster Areas*

By USDA

This Secretarial natural disaster designation allows the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) to extend much-needed emergency credit to producers recovering from natural disasters through emergency loans. Emergency loans can be used to meet various recovery needs including the replacement of essential items such as equipment or livestock, reorganization of a farming operation or the refinance of certain debts. FSA will review the loans based on the extent of losses, security available and repayment ability.

Delicious Fall Recipes

Cranberry Pumpkin Bread

3 3/4 cups all-purpose flour
3 cups sugar
4 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
4 eggs
1 15-ounce can solid-pack pumpkin
1/2 cup canola oil
2 cups fresh or frozen cranberries, thawed
1 cup chopped walnuts

In a large bowl, combine flour, sugar, pumpkin pie spice, baking soda and salt. In another bowl, whisk the eggs, pumpkin and oil; stir into dry ingredients just until moistened. Fold in cranberries and walnuts. Spoon into two greased 9 x 5-inch loaf pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 70-80 minutes or until a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean. Cool for 10 minutes before removing from pans to wire racks to cool completely. Yield: two loaves (16 slices each).

Spicy Sausage Stew

1 pound hot Italian sausage
1 large onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 cup fresh mushrooms, sliced

2 carrots, thinly sliced
1/2 cup fresh parsley, chopped, plus more for garnish
1/2 teaspoon dried sage (or 1 teaspoon fresh)
1 16-ounce can chickpeas (also called garbanzo beans)
3 cups chicken stock
Salt and pepper, to taste

In a medium skillet, fry sausage until brown; remove from heat. In the same pan, add onion, garlic, mushrooms and carrots. Sauté mixture until tender, about five minutes. In a larger pot, add chicken stock, spices, sausage and vegetable mixture. Add chickpeas with liquid, and simmer, covered, for 30 minutes. Serve stew with fresh parsley sprinkled on top.

Maple Apple Pork Medallions

1 1/2 cups apple cider or 100% apple juice
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 cup pure maple syrup
2 tablespoons apple cider vinegar
2 teaspoons stone-ground mustard
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon allspice
1 pork tenderloin (1 - 1 1/4 pounds), cut into 8 medallions
1 tablespoon canola oil
2-3 apples, cored and sliced
In a medium bowl, whisk apple cider or juice with cornstarch. Add maple syrup, vinegar, mustard, pepper, cinnamon and allspice, and whisk until thoroughly blended; set aside. In a large (12-inch) skillet over medium-high heat, heat oil. Add pork medallions and brown on each side for two minutes. Continue cooking four to six minutes, or until pork reaches 145 degrees when checked in the middle with a meat thermometer. Remove medallions to a plate and cover to keep warm. Add spiced maple mixture to skillet and bring to a boil, stirring frequently. Add apple slices, stir well, cover and reduce heat to medium-low. Cook four to six minutes, stirring occasionally, until apples begin to soften but are still firm. Add pork medallions back to skillet and warm additional one to two minutes.

Cranberry Apple Punch

2 cups apple cider
2 cups ginger ale
2 cups cranberry juice
1 cup frozen cranberries

Combine all ingredients and pour over ice.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. It's FREE to advertise, just include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale.

The Southern Cutting Futurity Returns for The 39th Year

By Donna Huff Owen
Brainstorm Creative Group

Many of the nation's leading cutting horses will return to the Kirk Fordice Equestrian Center in Jackson to participate in the 39th Annual Southern Cutting Futurity. The show kicks off on Thursday, October 21, with a Championship Cutting, and on Friday, the major Aged Event begins. Cutting competition of all levels will continue through Saturday the 30th. With $225,000 added to the Aged Events, another $62,680 to the Stallion Incentive Fund plus $5000 to the five Championship Cuttings, the over all purse is expected to mirror the 2020 over all purse of $746,790.

The "Southern" held annually in Jackson, Miss., welcomes the returning title sponsor Metallic Rebel. He is a phenomenal 2012 stallion with lifetime earnings of $438,271. His prestigious titles including NCHA Horse of the Year and Hall of Fame Horse. He is owned by Tom and Lisa Guinn of Philadelphia, Miss.

If you want to see a first class cutting horse in action, here's your chance. Professionals, novices and amateurs of all ages take to the arena in this nationally ranked show—classified among the top 15 of the more than 1,500 cutting horse shows held in 2020. Spectators will be treated to ten days of action in one of the most popular equine sports—all with free admission.

The Sport of Cutting:

When a rider puts their hand down and feels the rush and momentum, the big moves, the hard stops, it's hard to imagine that a horse can do this on its own. It's electrifying and addictive. You just want one more cow! Thousands of people annually experience the thrill and beauty of riding a cutting horse.

The horse and rider walk slowly into a large group of cattle. Four mounted helpers are present to contain the herd. The contestant calmly separates a number of cattle from the herd, without unsettling the rest, and gradually allows all but one to peel off and return to the herd. The horse should remain calm and go about his work quietly. Once a cow is selected and the cut is made, the rider then lowers his rein hand, giving sufficient slack to allow the horse to work on his own. The horse must now prevent the cow from returning to the herd.

In the Metallic Rebel Southern Cutting Futurity aged events, a panel of five judges score the 2.5 minutes of work. Each entry begins with a score of 70 and can drop to 60 or rise to 80. Penalties—such as hot quit, cattle scatter, second hand on reins, failure to make a deep cut, back fence horse quitting a cow, losing a cow, or switching cattle—range from 1 to 5 points and are subtracted from the score. Factors such as herd work, driving a cow, setting up a cow, loose reins, working center of the arena, degree of difficulty, courage, eye appeal, and time worked on each cow are considered and added in the "run content" portion of the score card.

Everyone is invited to the Metallic Rebel Southern Cutting Futurity, which gets started each morning at 8:00 a.m. and continues throughout most evenings. Spectators are encouraged to ask others in the stands if they have any questions, as most cutters find pleasure in sharing about the sport they love. Follow Best Practices With Backyard Bird Feeders

By Dr. Adam Rohnke
MSU Extension Service

After an active year for disease-related wild bird deaths in the U.S., people should follow best practices when providing backyard feeders and water sources for wild birds this fall and winter.

Disease in wildlife populations is normal and is one of the many mechanisms that regulate wildlife populations. Many things can cause diseases in wildlife, including viruses, bacteria and parasites, along with exposure to toxic substances.

The prevalence of infectious diseases is often influenced by environmental stressors like weather, change in or loss of habitat, and reduced access to food and water. For example, harsh winters can reduce food and water availability for wild birds, causing them to concentrate at higher-than-normal levels at backyard feeders and water sources. Food and water can become contaminated with disease-causing organisms from their feces and spread easily among local bird populations.

This is what led to a salmonella outbreak among songbirds and 19 humans earlier this year across eight states. Humans contracted it through contact with contaminated bird feeders, dead birds or pets that had access to areas frequented by birds. One human case was confirmed in Mississippi. No bird cases were confirmed due to a lack of funding for surveillance.

In May, reports of sick and dying birds began streaming into to wildlife agencies in the states of Delaware, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, as well as the District of Columbia. Citizens reported finding mainly juvenile birds with crusty eyes, tremors and paralysis. As a result, these states and others issued orders against wildlife feeding.

Nearly as fast as the reports came in May and June, they dissipated to nearly zero by September.

Many federal and state agencies and laboratories have been involved in trying to identify the illness. All major known bird-related diseases like West Nile, salmonella, avian influenza and others have been ruled out. Wildlife disease specialists are not sure how it was transmitted or whether it was caused by a disease organism or something toxic in the environment.

While we wait for more information and answers to these important questions regarding the mysterious illness, we should take time to reflect on best management practices related to feeding wild birds in our backyards.

Follow CDC guidelines for cleaning and disinfecting bird feeders and water sources for wild birds:

- Clean bird feeders outside with warm, soapy water. Rinse well. If cleaning bird feeders inside, use a bathtub, or a laundry sink, and immediately clean and disinfect it. Never use the kitchen sink or any other area where food is prepared or stored.
- Soak bird feeders in a bleach solution of 9 parts water to 1 part bleach for 10 minutes.
- Rinse well and let dry.
- Wash your hands well after cleaning feeders.
- The frequency of cleaning should be determined by the amount of use. If feces are present, it's time to clean.

Here are some other best practices:

- Put out only as much seed as will be consumed in a day. Discard wet seed into a garbage receptacle. Do not dump it on the ground.
- In addition to cleaning feeders and bird baths regularly, rotate the feeder station's locations in your yard even if birds appear healthy. If rotating is not an option, consider not feeding for two to four weeks to give these areas a rest.
- To minimize the possibility of pets spreading salmonella to humans, the CDC recommends keeping pets away from bird feeders, bird baths and the areas underneath them.
- People should always wash their hands with soap and water after handling bird feeders, bird baths and dead birds and after touching pets or their toys, food and bowls.

These practices are particularly important during fall migration and winter as feeder use increases dramatically this time of year.
