Beekeeping Requires Planning, Patience

By Susan Collins-Smith
MSU Extension Service

People interested in beekeeping should take time to answer some important questions and develop a plan before beginning this hobby.

One of the best ways people can learn about the hobby is to join a beekeeping group, said Jeff Harris, Mississippi State University Extension Service bee specialist.

"Local beekeeping clubs often have members with many years of beekeeping experience, and they are absolutely a great way for you to learn about the hobby before you begin," Harris said.

"They give great advice about any of the major issues new beekeepers may face, invite knowledgeable speakers to their meetings and often offer hands-on demonstrations with live beehives," he said. "Many people learn more by being immersed in the hive with a skilled beekeeper helping them than they would ever learn just by watching a lecture."

Beekeeping can be done in cities and rural areas, but Harris recommends checking local ordinances and laws before beginning, no matter the location, because rules vary. Some places may limit the number of hives a person can have, and some states may have laws regarding hive registration.

The next step is to think about the everyday logistics of beekeeping, including where the hives will be kept and when the hives will be worked.

"Even if there are no laws restricting beekeeping, all new beekeepers need to consider where they want to keep their bees," Harris said. "The most problematic issues can be with neighbors in urban and suburban settings who fear your bees. Honeybees can be safely kept in these areas, but careful consideration about how best to protect your neighbors, and therefore, future problems with you, should be a priority."

Keep hives in an area that are shielded from view, such as behind trees or shrubbery. Make sure they are kept away from pets and high traffic areas, such as where children play. Confined pets are especially susceptible to a swarm of upset, stinging bees.

Place hives near ample food supply and easy access to water. Bees forage for food within one to two miles of the hive. The best locations provide several acres of a wide variety of floral sources rather than just a single flower type. In these locations, bees will be healthier, have enough food to store for winter and can produce higher honey yields.

Provide water sources close to the hive, such as shallow pools or dishes filled with pea gravel and water. Consider installing a drip irrigation line to keep the water sources filled.

"Bees are lazy. If they can get water from sources close to the hive, they are much less likely to venture to water features or swimming pools in your neighbor's yard," Harris said.

Buy gentle bee stock, and work bees during quiet periods when nearby neighbors are indoors and when pets and children are not rowdy.

"Honeybees can vary widely in their level of defensiveness, or their tendency to sting in response to a perceived threat," Harris said. "There are very gentle stocks of bees, and there are grumpy and easy-to-irritate stocks of bees. Word of mouth among beekeepers is a good way to find the gentlest bees."

Labor is not a huge concern for hobbyists with only a few hives. Hives are worked at least once every one to two weeks during the active, spring growing season, once a month during summer and winter, and again every one to two weeks in the autumn growing season. A typical hive inspection takes 10 to 30 minutes.

Cost is another factor to consider. Start-up costs can run between $450 and $550. People should expect to spend between $300 and $400 to purchase all the woodenware that houses the hive. A starter bee colony with one queen and 10,000 worker bees costs about $150.

"The cost is substantial in the beginning, but the boxes can be used for seven to 10 years if they are painted, and beekeepers learn to propagate their own stock," Harris said. "So, as beekeepers learn, the cost goes down."

Michael Scheel, a member of the Southwest Mississippi Beekeepers

Beehives, like these that belong to Poorhouse Market in Starkville, are worked at least once every one to two weeks during the active, spring growing season, once a month during summer and winter, and again every one to two weeks in the autumn growing season. (Submitted photo/Poorhouse Market)

Association who got into beekeeping as a hobby after finding his late father-in-law's equipment, said beginners should expect a learning curve.

"I read and researched methodically, but I still struggled in the beginning," said Scheel, who now has 70 hives and plans to expand to a total of 150 by the end of 2022 to supplement his income in retirement. "But I am very competitive and very inquisitive, and I decided I was going to learn to keep my bees alive. I had a lot of bees die in the beginning, and I spent a lot of money in a short amount of time replenishing my bees."

Scheel said experienced beekeepers make up the most important learning resource.

"Google is a nightmare for a beginning beekeeper because there is so much information out there and no way to know what is right and what is wrong," he said. "The best thing to do is find a club and a mentor, or someone who is willing to answer your questions and show you how to do things."

"Beekeeping is an art, and you've got to learn the skill set," Scheel said. "It can be overwhelming for a beginner. But don't get discouraged. You will have bees die, but that is part of learning."

Commissioner Andy Gipson Announces February 2022 Wild Hog Control Program Application Period

By Chris McDonald
Director of Federal and
Environmental Affairs - MDAC

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson announced that the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) is accepting a new round of applications for its Wild Hog Control Program (WHCP). The application period will close on Tuesday, February 15. All Mississippi counties are eligible for the application period. In Mississippi alone, wild hogs cause more than $60 million in damages annually.

Through the WHCP, MDAC provides "smart" wild hog traps to landowners and managers for the control of wild hogs on private agricultural and forestry lands in Mississippi. MDAC provides the training necessary to use the "smart" traps and technical guidance regarding the most effective methods to trap and control wild hogs on private lands.

"The next trapping period will coincide with the upcoming crop planting season. I urge farmers that have experienced historical agricultural loss from wild hogs to submit an application," said Commissioner Gipson. "We want to work with farmers and their neighbors to prevent agricultural loss by supplying the correct trapping equipment and technical guidance on how to successfully trap wild hogs."

Applications must be completed and submitted online at www.mdac.ms.gov/whcp. Submitted applications will be evaluated based on the number of acres available for trapping, historical agricultural losses caused by wild hogs on the property and current trapping efforts on the property. A cooperative application is encouraged for small acreage (i.e., adjoining land managers of small parcels should work together to submit one application). Traps will be available for one-month intervals, dependent upon use and success. One trap per 500 – 1,000 acres is recommended, depending on landscape

Commissioner Andy Gipson announced that the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce is accepting a new round of applications for its Wild Hog Control Program, which provides "smart" traps to landowners and managers for the control of wild hogs on private agricultural and forestry lands in Mississippi. ## From Our Kitchen To Yours

Honey – Nature's Sweetener

*****

Savory Honey Muffins

3/4 cup - low-fat milk
4 T - butter, melted
2 - eggs
1/4 cup - honey
1 1/2 cups - all-purpose flour
1 tsp. - baking powder
1/2 tsp. - salt
2 tsp. - chopped chives
3/4 cup - shredded Gruyere cheese, + 1/4 cup for sprinkling on top of muffins

Line 8 cups of a muffin tin with paper liners, or coat with non-stick cooking spray. Whisk together the milk, butter, eggs, and honey in a large mixing bowl. Stir in the flour, baking powder, salt, chives, and cheese, setting aside 1/4 cup of Gruyere for sprinkling on top of muffins. Divide the batter evenly among the cups, filling them three-quarters full. Bake muffins at 350° for 20-25 minutes, until golden on top and remove from oven. Sprinkle remaining Gruyere cheese over tops. Turn oven to broil and broil muffins for another 2-3 minutes until cheese is melted and lightly browned. Source: National Honey Board.

Honey Chicken Wings

1/2 cup - honey
1/3 cup - soy sauce
1/4 cup - chili sauce

1 tsp. - garlic salt
1/4 tsp. - ground black pepper
8 drops - red pepper sauce
3 lbs. - chicken wings or drumettes

Combine honey, soy sauce, chili sauce, garlic salt, pepper and red pepper sauce. Arrange chicken in single layer in a 9x13-inch baking pan and pour on sauce. Turn chicken over to coat with sauce. Bake at 350°F for one hour, turning over once. Cool slightly and serve. Source: National Honey Board.

Pineapple Honey Glazed Ham

1 (4 to 5 pound) fully cooked boneless ham
1 can (8 ounces) pineapple slices
1/3 cup honey
1 T ground mustard
Ground cloves

Bake ham on rack in shallow baking pan at 325°F for one hour or to 120°F on meat thermometer. Drain pineapple; reserve liquid. Combined reserved liquid, honey, mustard and cloves; mix well. Score top of ham, if desired, and arrange pineapple slices on top. Generously brush honey mixture over entire surface. Bake about 30 to 45 minutes longer or to 140°F; baste every 10 minutes. Let stand 10 to 15 minutes before slicing. Source: National Honey Board.

Grilled Corn with Spiced Honey Butter

1/2 cup butter, softened
1/3 cup honey
1 tsp. chili powder
8 ears fresh corn
8 lime wedges
1/4 cup fresh cilantro, chopped

In a small bowl stir together the butter, honey and chili powder; set aside. Fold back husks and remove silk from corn; pull husks back up over corn. Place corn in a large bowl of ice water and soak for 15 minutes. Remove and shake off excess water. Place on grill over medium hot coals and cook for 15 to 20 minutes, turning frequently. Remove husks and spread each ear with seasoned butter. Sprinkle with cilantro and serve with lime wedges. Source: National Honey Board.

DOGS*ONLY HERDING, HUNTING & WORKING Dog Breeds Will Be Published.

All dogs must be purebred. Mix breed dogs will not be allowed to advertise. Each subscriber is allowed to advertise only two dog breeds. We cannot accept ads from any individual who is engaged in any type of puppy mill operation or acts as a dealer, broker, buncher, or agent in the business of buying and selling dogs and/or bred solely for profit rather than protection of breed integrity (as defined by the United States Department of Agriculture).

We do not list ads for any type of dogs at stud service. Only in-state residents are allowed to advertise within this category.

The Herding, Working & Hunting dog breeds list utilized by the Mississippi Market Bulletin is endorsed by the Mississippi State Veterinarian and the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce.

It is the sole discretion of the Mississippi Market Bulletin to accept or reject any dog ad for submission.

Alcorn Receives Second Round of USDA Funding to Train Farmers, Ranchers, and Veterans

By Aundrea Coleman
Project Assistant
Alcorn State University
Mississippi Small Farm and Agribusiness Center

The United States Department of Agriculture is awarding Alcorn State University's Mississippi Small Farm and Agribusiness Center another grant.

The funding comes from the agency's National Institute of Food and Agriculture and will enhance the sustainability of new farmers, ranchers, and veterans. The funding allows the center to recruit, train, and equip new farmers, ranchers, and veterans in Mississippi to implement viable farm business plans.

Alcorn received the first round of funding from 2018 to 2021. The second round was given in late 2021 and will continue through 2024.

Participants will have access to resources for farm management, farm operations, access to land, and much more.

Velma Oliver, farm management/loan specialist and co-director, said the funding will assist new beginning farmers, ranchers, and veterans with the tools and resources necessary to become profitable and sustainable.

"The grant funding enhances our capacity to educate new beginning farmers, ranchers, and veterans to attain and sustain economic viability," said Oliver. "The grant benefits our students by providing hands-on experience through grant-related activities and provides opportunities for them to interact with the participants.

Oliver is proud that the proposal for more funding was granted.

"I am delighted that we, again, have written a winning proposal to train a new cohort of beginning farmers, ranchers, and veterans in our state and connect them to available resources for their farm operations."

Registration is currently open and is free and open to the public. To register, click on the link: <https://forms.gle/mZLwcddNEzVFv7Tu5>.

For more information, please contact Aundrea Coleman, project assistant, at aundreac@alcorn.edu or 601-877-6449.

Beef Cattle Field Day Set for March 31

By Susan Collins-Smith
MSU Extension Service

Individuals interested in the beef cattle industry are invited to a field day hosted by Mississippi State University.

The Beef Cattle Field Day will be held March 31 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the MSU Coastal Plain Branch Experiment Station located at 51 Coastal Plains Road in Newton. Topics include herd improvement, weed control, grazing cover crops and variety selection of grazing and hay crops.

The field day is open to beef producers, hay producers, government personnel, agricultural industry personnel and members of the general public.

Preregistration is required by March 25. Contact Jenna Mosley at 601-683-2084 or jlt205@msstate.edu to register. Lunch will be provided. Onsite registration begins at 9:30 a.m.

MSU is an equal opportunity institution. For disability accommodation or other information, contact Jenna Mosley at 601-683-2084 or jlt205@msstate.edu.
