High Costs and Low Prices Stress State Dairy Industry

By Bonnie Coblentz
MSU Extension Service

High input costs and low milk prices have made it hard to be a dairy farmer anywhere in the U.S., but Mississippi producers have it harder than most.

Amanda Stone, dairy specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service, said the number of dairy farms in the state continues to dwindle.

"Today, Mississippi has 55 dairy farms with an average herd size of 145, for a total of about 8,000 dairy cows in the state," Stone said. "That number has declined drastically in recent years. Just six years ago, there were 87 dairies in the state."

Aside from problems associated with the high cost of maintaining a dairy herd and low market prices for milk, another issue is the aging population of dairy farmers.

"Children of dairy farmers are not always ready or willing to take over the farm, likely in part to them seeing how hard a life it is," she said. "Many of our dairies simply go out of business upon the retirement of the dairy farmer."

Another significant problem in the industry is receiving a lot more attention in recent years than ever before.

"Mental health struggles and suicide are big issues in the dairy industry as a result of its tumultuous state over the last several years," Stone said.

Heat is an enemy of milk production, and Mississippi's long, hot summers make dairies difficult to maintain. A lot of work goes into keeping dairy cows comfortable so they continue to produce milk despite the heat.

Mississippi does have some advantages: a long growing season for forage, excellent access to water and good grazing land for cattle. Not all parts of the country have these features.

Mississippi's dairy industry produces a state average 6.2 gallons of milk per cow per day. That amount puts the state No. 42 nationally, a low ranking that has not changed much over the years, despite per-cow production rising.

"Milk production per cow continues to increase everywhere as genetics, nutrition and management improve," Stone said.

Josh Maples, Extension agricultural economist, said that at the national level, the U.S. Department of Agriculture projects the 2022 all-milk price will average $25.75 per hundredweight, up from the 2021 average of $18.53.

"Even with stronger milk prices, higher input costs are a major headwind to dairy producers in Mississippi," Maples said. "For example, MSU agricultural economists estimate that forage production will be approximately 50% more expensive in 2022 than 2021.

"So, while producers may earn higher milk prices than in recent years, it is much more costly to produce milk," he said.

MSU scientists continue to support the dairy industry with research into pressing topics.

Stone and MSU graduate student Kevin Braman are working to understand how sprinkler systems affect milk production and behavior in a pasture-based herd. Past research from Stone's lab has shown positive results with the pasture-based sprinkler system.

Another project Stone is conducting with graduate student Michelle Fenstermaker is an effort to better understand how the mental health of dairy farmers, such as their anxiety, depression and compassion fatigue, affects their ability to perceive pain in their animals.

"The results of this research and follow-up papers and workshops will highlight ways for dairy producers to improve their mental health, which, in turn, can improve their animals' welfare," Stone said.

Genuine MS Highlights Local Dairy

By Lane Milton
Genuine MS Program Director - MDAC

Beason Family Farm is a name that has grown in Mississippi, in grocery stores, farmers markets, coffee shops and restaurants. Shelby's dream started as a young boy in 4-H, showing dairy cattle. His passion grew for the breed, but he knew it would be hard making a living in dairy cattle. Starting out, he grew his heard of beef cattle, dabbled in the poultry business and grew a hay business.

Shelby and Marlo started talking with other dairy farmers about bottling milk to determine if they wanted to take this adventure. They visited with local merchants about carrying their product. In the fall of 2012, the dream came true. With six jersey cows and a new facility they started supplying Williams Brothers General Store. The herd grew to twenty in the second year and to thirty in the third year, and they are currently milking fifty jersey cows. They produce and hand bottle approximately two-thousand gallons of milk a week that is delivered across the state.

The Beasons have a small store front on the farm for the locals to buy their ice cream. You can choose from vanilla, chocolate, strawberry, or lemon. They open the doors shortly after the a.m. milking and close the doors around 8:00 p.m. They also sell their whole milk, chocolate milk and buttermilk there as well. The most impressive part is that the store is run on an honorary system.

"One of the most rewarding things about this business is knowing the customer and receiving that 'thank you' for providing such a nutritious product", says Shelby Beason. The Beason's are proud members of the Genuine MS® program and hope to have their milk in the Genuine MS® store very soon.

Conflict Abroad Impacting U.S. Agriculture

By Andy Gipson

Since late February, we have been watching as the Russian invasion of the Ukraine plays out. We have seen the devastating scenes of separated families with little to no belongings seeking refuge in other countries and cities marked by near-total destruction. Although we may seem worlds apart, we are feeling the impacts of this war right here at home in America – pressures of greater inflation, trade disruptions, and market volatility.

This evil invasion by Russia of Ukraine - the breadbasket of Europe - is not only killing Ukrainian civilians but will contribute to more death around the globe as those in poverty lose access to food or the food becomes unaffordable. While Ukrainian farmers are fighting the Russian invaders, they are not harvesting wheat and barley; they are not planting corn and sunflowers, and people around the world will go hungry. Grain crops remain in storage in the Ukraine because they can't be exported due to port disruptions. The Ukrainian farmers that are able to plant some of their crops do not have access to adequate fuel, fertilizer, and seeds.

Ukraine and Russia are both major exporters of wheat and corn; their combined exports account for 30 percent of global wheat exports and 20 percent of global corn exports. Ukraine is the largest producer of sunflowers and largest exporter of sunflower-seed oil in the world, accounting for 80 percent of the world's supply. Russia and Ukraine combined exported 102 million tons of wheat and coarse grains for the 2021-2022 season, during the same season the U.S. exported 94 million tons. The European Union imports 60 percent of its corn from the Ukraine, which could turn to the U.S. to fill those gaps.

We're blessed in the United States to be net exporters of food. We have plenty of food in Mississippi. But even so, Mississippians and all Americans are experiencing increased food prices due to inflation. In February, world food prices hit a record high, increasing more than 20 percent from February 2021 to February 2022. Food prices will continue to climb as agricultural input costs, including fuel and fertilizer, increases as a result of inflation, greater demand, and the lack of Russian and Ukrainian exports due to sanctions and port closures.

The war in the Ukraine is also causing volatility in the commodity markets. The Chicago Board of Trade has seen extreme volatility in grain futures markets with wheat futures hitting 14-year highs, corn growing to a nine-year high, and cooking oils climbing to new highs with fears of global shortages.

As farmers know well, higher commodity market does not translate into greater profits. Farmers are feeling the impact of rising input costs as they begin to plant this year's crops. Russia and Ukraine are top suppliers of fertilizer products, agricultural minerals, and fossil fuels. This creates additional pressure and increased costs on agricultural inputs which have already increased substantially for the 2022 growing season prior to the Russian invasion. Even before the Russia-Ukraine conflict, fertilizer costs had nearly doubled over the past year. Increased fuel costs will impact farm production as well as transportation of raw and processed agricultural products, further driving up food costs. Russia is one of the top oil exporters globally, so that any interruption in exports will further increase the price leading to higher prices at the pump.

Farmers are no strangers to facing adversity. Rather, farmers are accustomed to taking risks each year whether they are risks associated with markets, weather or which crops to plant. This year farmers are facing additional challenges, many of which are being exasperated by the Russia-Ukraine conflict. We need Washington to pursue policies to make America energy independent again, address inflation, and retreat from environmental regulations and decisions that only increase costs to farmers while lowering food productivity during this global crisis.

From Our Kitchen To Yours

Delicious Dairy!

Buttermilk Banana Bread Muffins

1 cup mashed ripe banana
1⁄3 cup buttermilk
4 tablespoons butter, melted
1 large egg
3⁄4 cup packed brown sugar
1 1⁄8 cups all-purpose flour
1⁄4 cup ground flaxseed meal
3⁄4 teaspoon baking soda
1⁄4 teaspoon salt
1⁄2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 cup chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 350°. Combine first four ingredients in a large bowl; beat with a mixer at medium speed. Beat in sugar. Combine flour and next four ingredients (flaxseed through cinnamon). Add flour mixture to banana mixture; mix just until blended. Spoon batter into a 12-count muffin tin filled with nonstick paper liners. Sprinkle each muffin with 1 teaspoon walnuts and bake at 350° for 20-25 minutes or until a wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from oven; cool 5 minutes in pan. Remove muffins to wire rack and cool completely.

Grilled Cheese Harvest Sandwich

2 slices multigrain bread
2 slices white Cheddar cheese
2 slices yellow Cheddar cheese
2 slices Black Forest ham, thinly sliced
10-12 apple slices, very thinly sliced (about 1⁄4 of a medium apple)
1 teaspoon Dijon mustard, divided
1 tablespoon butter, softened

Heat a nonstick or cast-iron skillet over medium heat. Spread Dijon mustard evenly on each slice of bread, then place 2 slices of white Cheddar on one slice. Place ham on top of cheese, distributing evenly. Add apple slices on top of ham layer, then finish with yellow Cheddar and remaining slice of bread. Spread top of bread with softened butter and place that side down in heated pan. Cook for approximately 4 minutes (if necessary, turn the heat down so the bread doesn't burn). While sandwich is cooking, spread remaining softened butter on top of bread. Flip sandwich over and cook another 3-4 minutes or until lightly browned.

Chocolate Brownie Lovers Ice Cream

1⁄2 cup milk chocolate chips
1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk
1⁄2 cup cocoa powder
2 cups heavy whipping cream, plus 1 tablespoon
1 cup whole milk
1 tablespoon vanilla extract
2 cups brownie pieces, chopped

Place chocolate chips and 1 tablespoon heavy whipping cream in a large microwave-safe bowl and heat for 30-45 seconds, or until chips are melted. Remove from microwave and whisk together until smooth. Whisk in sweetened condensed milk, stirring until well combined. Gradually whisk in heavy whipping cream, milk and vanilla extract. Pour mixture into freezer canister of ice cream maker according to your ice maker's instructions. Before transferring out of freezer canister, stir in 1 1/2 cups brownie pieces. Transfer the ice cream to a freezer-safe container with lid, top with remaining brownie pieces. Cover, place in freezer and allow it to harden for at least 4 hours or overnight.

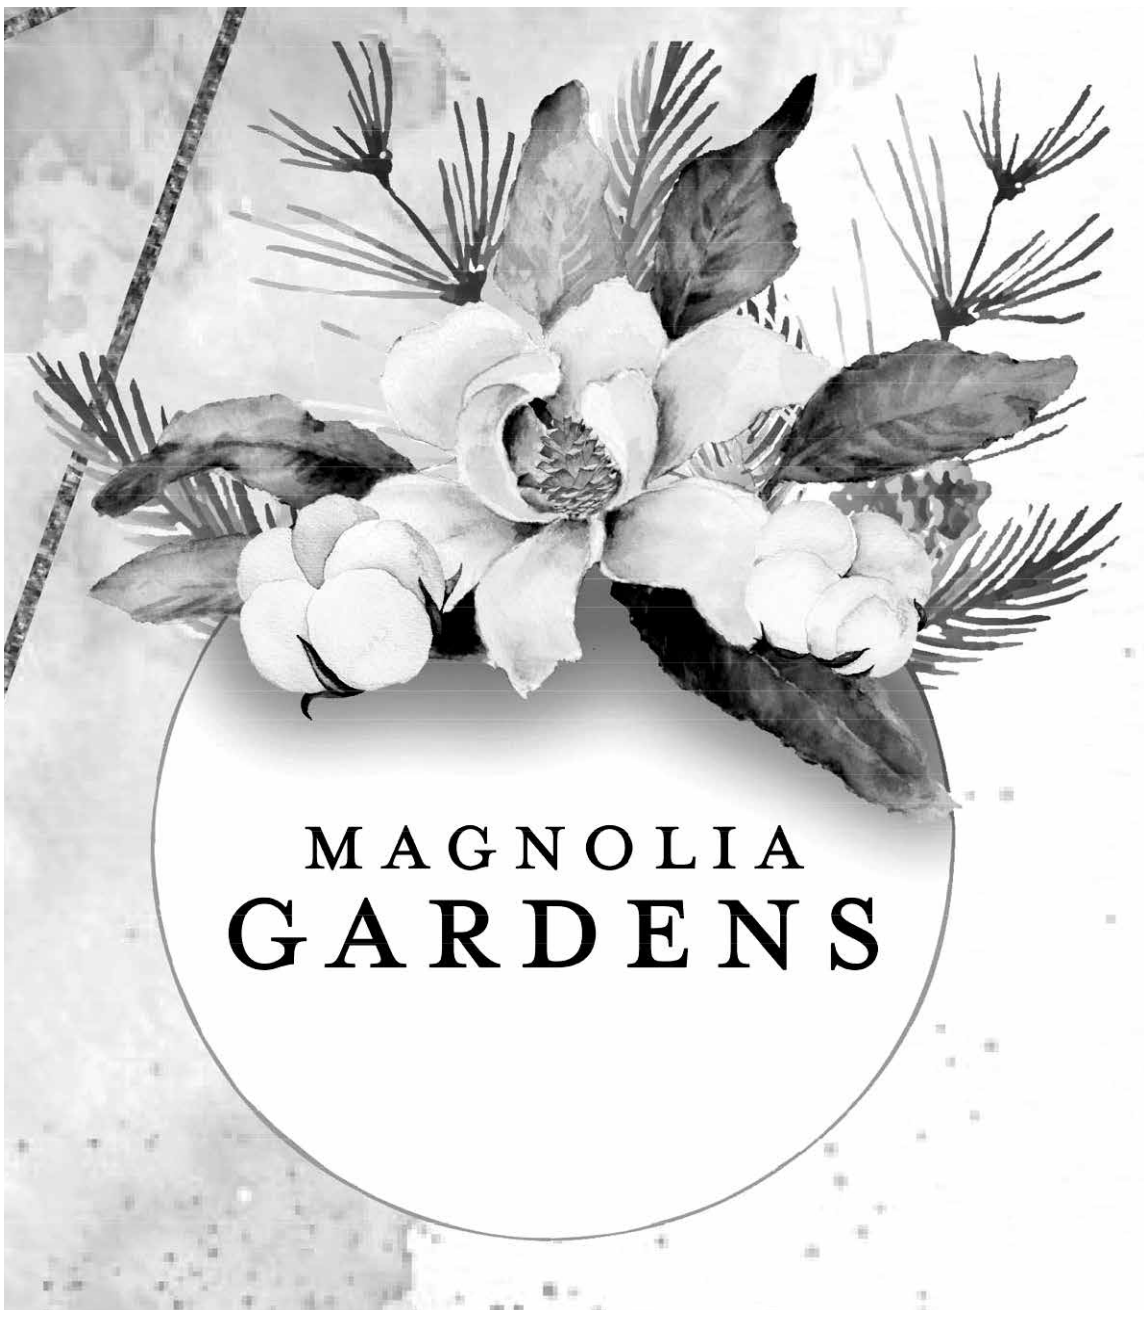
Magnolia Gardens

Phase 1 of Magnolia Gardens is complete, and it is beautiful! Located at the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum in Jackson, Miss. This project is 100% doner funded and is a beautiful way to honor the achievements such as graduation, promotions, excellence in work, birthdays, anniversaries, new baby, retirement, and any special occasion you can imagine. You can also donate in memory of a loved one.

All donations go directly to the Gardens for beautification and for maintenance. For every donation we will mail certificates to the honoree and to the designated person for memorial gifts. You will receive an acknowledgement letter for your contribution.

Please contact Ginger Williamson, ginger@mdac.ms.gov or 601-359-1150 with questions or go to www.Msmagnoliagardens.com or scan the code to go directly to the contribution page. Thank you for choosing Magnolia Gardens to honor and to memorialize your loved ones.



MAGNOLIA
GARDENS

For six decades, patrons have contributed funds in exchange for a magnolia tree planted in honor of or in memory of loved ones. Over the years the program has planted tens of thousands of magnolia trees along state highways. Due to new regulations, the program needed adjustments. Enjoy the beautiful garden created in honor of your loved ones located at the Mississippi Ag and Forestry Museum in Jackson, Mississippi.

The main garden has a formal design incorporating a variety of plants, trees, flora, stone, water, and wood. The gardens will be strategically lighted to enhance the beauty of the design at night. Enjoy the lush landscape encircling the bronze "Working Man" sculpture donated to the Ag Museum in 2011. Relax on the cypress wood seating to enjoy the container gardens and water features framed with cypress shutters. Floral beds offer seasonal beauty outside of the central area.

The goal is to complete the entire project in 2021, honoring the 60th anniversary of Magnolia Gardens, formerly known as Avenue of Magnolias. We thank you for your contributions thus far. In order to complete the gardens, including the Avenue of Magnolias, $150,000.00 in additional funds are needed.

All donations, regardless of amount, will receive a letter acknowledging their donation. Recipients will receive our Magnolia Garden certificate honoring their loved ones.

Donations exceeding $5,000 will be acknowledged with a plaque at the garden site.

To donate, visit www.msmagnoliagardens.com and select the Contribution Form.

Gifts are Tax Deductible .

Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum Hosts Summer Day Camps

By Hannah East
Marketing Specialist

The Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum is hosting two day camps this summer for students around the state. Any child entering first through the sixth grade is eligible to register.

"I'm excited to announce the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum is hosting summer camps this June and July for our younger students," said Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson. "I encourage parents to take advantage of this opportunity to allow their children to learn the importance of agriculture and farmstead living in a fun and stimulating environment."

The 'Grow a Farm' camp is for students entering first through third grade and will be held on Monday, June 27, through Thursday, June 30, from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. each day. Over these four days, campers will learn about the various aspects of designing and managing farmland, such as the importance of water quality, soil stability and both crop and livestock management. The registration fee is $125 per student.

The 'Field to Market' camp is for students entering fourth through the sixth grade and will be held on Monday, July 18, through Thursday, July 21, from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. each day. Over these four days, campers will discover creative ways to run a successful farm, including how to sell products at a farmers market. The registration fee is $125 per student.

Breakfast and lunch will not be included; students are encouraged to bring a lunch. Availability is limited, so contact the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum to secure your child's entry as soon as possible. For more information about the summer day camps, contact Rachel Bone at rachel@mdac.ms.gov or 601-432-4500.

The Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum, located at 1150 Lakeland Drive in Jackson, is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. For more information about the Museum, call 601- 432-4500 or 1-800-844-8687, visit www.msagmuseum.org or visit the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum on Facebook. MISSISSIPPI CERTIFIED FARMERS MARKET
Where Freshness Grows!
MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE & COMMERCE

The Mississippi Certified Farmers Market program is a voluntary branding program, created and administered by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce to promote and identify a market place for Mississippi grown fruits, vegetables, plant materials, and other products made and/or processed in the state.

Certified Farmers Markets allow consumers the opportunity to personally interact with the farmers, while providing them the satisfaction of knowing the origin of their food and the opportunity to support the local economy.

For more information about the Certified Farmers Market (CFM) program contact Donna West at 601-359-1118.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. It's FREE to advertise, just include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale.

Celebrate Mississippi Dairy Farmers This National Dairy Month

By The Dairy Alliance

June is recognized as National Dairy Month, which began as a way for grocers to distribute extra milk during the warm months of summer. The commemoration was established in 1937 by grocer organizations sponsoring National Milk Month. By 1939, June became the official dairy month, encouraging families to make milk their beverage of choice based on its nutritional value.

Trusted for decades, dairy farm families pride themselves on producing dairy foods that help their families grow up strong and healthy. Dairy farmers strive every day to produce wholesome milk and milk products that families can feel good about eating. June is recognized as National Dairy Month to pay tribute to nutritious dairy products like milk and the hard-working dairy farmers who help produce it for us all.

Dairy's rich history continues with communities, companies and people from across the region observing National Dairy Month in a variety of ways. This June, recognize the contribution of dairy farmers. Participate in one of the events planned for your area or visit a dairy farm to learn directly from Mississippi's hardworking dairy farmers.

Milk contains thirteen essential nutrients that are important for building healthy bodies, and Mississippi's dairy farmers work every day to ensure their communities have access to nutritious dairy products. These local dairy farms help supply schools, restaurants, and grocery stores with delicious milk, cheeses, ice cream, yogurt and more.

Several of Mississippi's dairy farms are open to visitors seeking to learn about the local dairy industry.

Mauthe Farms in McComb is owned and operated by third and fourth-generation dairy farmers. It is truly a family run operation, as Kenny and Jamie Mauthe's children all play a role on the farm. Sarah and Katie help with the milk and cheese processing while Travis and Daniel help with engineering or electrical issues. The farm pasteurizes and bottles non-homogenized milk and other fresh, wholesome dairy products like creams, cheesecakes, and creole cream cheese to sell at their on-farm store and across Louisiana and Mississippi.

Havens Down Home Creamery in Lucedale is owned and operated by Preston and Kristen Havens, who raise all Jersey or Jersey Holstein. Havens Down Home Creamery products include cream line milk, cream, chocolate milk, buttermilk, ice cream, cheese and beef--all sold on the farm.

Middleton Farms in Moss Point is owned and operated by third-generation dairy farmers Shane and Kerra Middleton. Middleton Farms teaches visitors about farming and dairy foods. The farm offers a milking demonstration, as well as opportunities to bottle feed calves and learn how milking has evolved over the years.

Southern Cultured Creamery in Pontotoc is owned and operated by first-generation dairy farmers Jake and Kaitlyn Anderson and Kaitlyn's father, Scott Hardin. The creamery currently offers delicious cream top milk and chocolate milk, but yogurt smoothies and a selection of cheeses will soon be on the menu.

Beason Family Farm in Philadelphia is owned and operated by third-generation dairy farmer Shelby Beason and his wife Marlo. Beason Family Farm is a beef, hay and dairy operation. The farm processes and bottles milk and ice cream available for purchase at the on-farm store. Their herd is comprised of approximately 40 Jersey cows that are primarily grass-fed.

These are only a few of the dairy farms across the state working to help their communities in more ways than one. Not only do these farms produce dairy products providing several health benefits. In Mississippi, the dairy industry's total economic impact is $3.3 billion and provides directly and indirectly 18,500 jobs in total.
