Celebrating 163 Years at the Mississippi State Fair

By Donna West, Division Director
Market Development Division - MDAC

On the heels of autumn's arrival each year, Mississippi's State Fair makes its homecoming to thousands of eager people who just can't wait to hop on their favorite ride while others are finally ready to test their courage by shrieking through the newest hair-raising roller coaster or human rocket launch. Many fairgoers delight in the talent, whether it's a homegrown favorite or a blast from the past each night. Some have a fondness for the livestock shows, contests for beauty, talent, and blue-ribbon pickles, pies and preserves. One of the most popular missions of all those who walk the midway is to create their own progressive banquet one food vendor at a time.

Whatever your preferred point of origin is, whether you have one goal to meet or if you would rather savor it all, you'll have a terrific time at Mississippi's most enduring and endearing tradition, the Mississippi State Fair.

Opening day is Thursday, October 6 at Gate 1, and with a hospitable scissor snip of ribbon at 11:00 a.m. Commissioner Andy Gipson will officially welcome one and all to the 2022 Mississippi State Fair. "For 11 days in October, the Mississippi State Fair provides a safe and friendly location for family fun, top entertainment and the celebration of Mississippi's heritage: agriculture."

said Commissioner Gipson. "On behalf of the Mississippi State Fairgrounds and the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, I welcome you and your family to the 163rd Mississippi State Fair."

The fair runs through Sunday, October 16, with gate admission price of $5.00, children under the age of 6 are admitted free of charge. For a complete fair guide listing, see pages 16 through 19.

Each year, as the gates swing wide to over 100 acres of open space, livestock barns and exhibit buildings, thousands of people embark on a journey into Mississippi's heritage, customs and good family fun.

As you feast your way down the monumental midway, be sure to enjoy the petting zoo, pig races and the Zerbini Family Circus. New to the returning Frontier Village this year is the Great American Wild West Show. Packed with action, music, history and thrills this wild west show is an exhilarating addition to the state fair.

The MS State Fair Talent Show is BACK! We're looking for the best talent in the state, so sign up for a chance to win $1,000! New addition to the fair this year is the Miss Mississippi State Fair Pageant. From babies to age 17, we want to see you on stage competing for the first Miss Mississippi State Fair! Other contests include the Horse, Mule & Pony Pull, the Fiddle Contest and the always fun Pretty Cow Contest!

There's lots of action to enjoy with the 4-H and FFA livestock shows, Xtreme Bull Riding Fall Nationals, and the Tri-State Rodeo. And, we have days for everyone – Kids Day, Senior American Day, and Mississippi Heroes Day. Over in the Trade Mart you'll find wonderful exhibits, including the Ag Expo, arts and crafts, and FFA and 4-H. Enjoy vendors from across the state and US selling unique products. For Mississippi-made products, check out the Genuine MS® Store – you'll be charmed.

Back on the midway look for the MDAC Biscuit Booth and stop for a free old-fashioned syrup-filled southern-style biscuit. A staple for decades – you will not be able to resist these mouthwatering southern comforts.

"As always, we strive to keep the thousands of fairgoers safe and secure as they enjoy the entire fair," said Michael Lasseter, Executive Director of the Mississippi State Fairgrounds.

"With new security measures being implemented, and an added presence of law enforcement, this year's Mississippi State Fair will be safe, fun and one of the best," said Lasseter.

Elephant Ears

- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 3/8 cup shortening

- 4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 quart oil for frying
- Topping:
- 6 tablespoons white sugar
- 3 tablespoons ground cinnamon

Prepare dough: Combine milk, shortening, sugar, and salt in a small saucepan over medium heat. Cook and stir until shortening melts and sugar dissolves. Remove from heat and let cool to lukewarm, 110 degrees F (43 degrees C). Sprinkle yeast into the cooled dough mixture and let sit until foamy. Transfer mixture to a large bowl and stir in flour to form a dough. Knead until smooth; cover and let rise 30 minutes. Heat oil in a deep fryer or large saucepan to 375 degrees F (190 degrees C). Roll out 2-inch balls of dough into thin sheets; fry in hot oil until puffed and golden, about 1 to 2 minutes per side. Drain on paper towels. Prepare topping: Combine sugar and cinnamon in a bowl. Dip the cookies into the batter one at a time, and carefully place into the hot frying oil. Fry only 4 or 5 at a time to avoid overcrowding the deep fryer. WELCOME

TO THE 2022 MISSISSIPPI STATE FAIR

Dear Fairgoer,

On behalf of the Mississippi State Fairgrounds and the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, I welcome you and your family to the 163rd Mississippi State Fair!

We are proud to bring you the Mississippi State Fair, October 6-16, 2022, an 11-day event full of great entertainment, livestock shows, and so much more.

Once again, we have transformed the 105-acre campus at the Fairgrounds into an amusement park filled with all your favorite fair foods, carnival rides, games, shows, and contests. During the 2022 Mississippi State Fair, spectators and participants can find excitement in numerous livestock shows, great musical entertainment on our Main Stage, the Zerbini Family Circus, a new Great American Wild West show, X-Treme Bull Riding Fall Nationals, and the Tri-State Rodeo.

State fairs originated with the purpose of promoting agriculture, and the Mississippi State Fair carries on that tradition. Livestock shows take place on the Fairgrounds each day, and I invite you to experience the shows firsthand. These shows give 4-H and FFA students the opportunity to exhibit their animals, build a community of friends, and even earn scholarship money. Come learn more about agriculture and its importance to our state at the Ag Expo in the Trade Mart. Stop by the Genuine MS® Store at the Ag Expo to find unique products grown, raised, crafted, and made by Mississippi producers. Come meet the dedicated employees of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce who continue the longstanding tradition of handing out complimentary hot, homemade biscuits to fairgoers every night on the Midway.

Returning to the Fair this year is the 'Mississippi Frontier Village,' an outdoor area featuring western-style vendors, exhibits, and entertainment! Be sure to stop by with your family to experience the incredible things we have in store for you. New to the Frontier Village this year is the exciting, thrilling, and action packed Great American Wild West Show featuring daredevil riders, cowboys, Indians, history, music, thrills, and live animals!

Also, new to the State Fair this year is the MS State Fair Talent Show and the Miss Mississippi State Fair Beauty Pageant. These events will take place in the Coliseum.

Make the most of your visit by following the schedule of events and activities in this guide. For additional information, including concert and event schedules, a map of the attractions, livestock show information, the parked car finder, and more, download the Mississippi State Fair's free mobile app. Also, we would like for you to share your pictures and memories on social media outlets and tag the Mississippi State Fair in your posts on Facebook.com/mississippifairgrounds, Instagram @mississippifairgrounds and Twitter @msfairgrounds.

Thank you for letting the Mississippi State Fair be a part of your family tradition this year. We all owe a debt of gratitude to those who dedicate their time and talents in bringing the Fair to life, as well as the sponsors who support this fun-filled, family event.

I look forward to seeing you at the 163rd Mississippi State Fair!

Attention Sugarcane Growers

It's time to take orders for sugarcane seed stock. The cost is 50 cents per stalk. We will start cutting seed cane in mid-October and have it available for pickup shortly after. As the sugarcane is cut, we will assemble orders and notify buyers of the pick-up date.

PLEASE INDICATE THE NUMBER OF STALKS WANTED IN THE BLANKS BELOW AND RETURN TO THE BELOW ADDRESS OR EMAIL/CALL BY OCTOBER 1st.

Growers will be notified if there is not adequate seed stock to fully fill each request.

To allow us an opportunity to replant the CP52-48 variety in a new location this year, we will not be offering it for sale. The following varieties will be available in 2022.

Syrup varieties (sold in 100 stalk lots - stacked in loose piles, not tied):

_____ Stalks CP 36-111- pale green to greenish yellow and a purplish color appears when leaves and sheaths are removed, and the stalks are exposed to sun. This cane tends to make a light-colored syrup and can be prone to lodging.

_____ Stalks CP 67-500 - a bluish-gray color with a heavy waxy bloom. The stalks are shorter and slightly larger in diameter than CP 36-111. Has a good resistance to lodging.

Chewing variety (sold in 50 stalk lots - stacked in loose piles, not tied):

_____ Stalks CP 31-511- bluish red with a less tough outer wall for easier cutting and a softer interior for easier chewing.

Payment is due at pick-up (cash or check).

Please include your phone number so that we can call to set a specific date to pick up your sugarcane order.

If you decide to cancel your order, please let us know ASAP.

Opening New Doors to Our Future

By Amie C. Clark
Mississippi Agriculture
& Forestry Museum - MDAC

They are nothing unique, just doors made of glass and steel; ones that we pass by what seems like a thousand times a day. We reach for the handles and swing them to the side as we hurry through the opening, intent on completing our business. Our guests approach eagerly knowing adventure awaits just on the other side. We have cleaned the little smudged fingerprints of a million children from their glass. Each one a sign of anticipation as they, not so patiently wait for the door to be opened for them.

These doors have welcomed dignitaries, politicians, historians and educators. They have ushered countless artifacts to their new home. They have been the beginning of hopes and dreams and the end of bitter disappointments. These are more than just doors, they are the portholes to imagination, history and wonder. We are excited that these special doors have gotten a facelift here at the Ag Museum.

During the month of August, the museum welcomed the instillation of new automatic doors that will welcome guests as they enter the Heritage Gallery to begin their tour. These new doors replace the three sets of manual ones at the front of the main building. The doors themselves are not only automatic sliding doors, but they are wider and taller than their predecessors.

Updating this critical feature helps to propel the Ag Museum to the front of the pack when it comes to accessibility for our guest. This allows the museum to be more accessible to families with younger children in strollers, larger school groups can flow in and out of the building easily and guests who have mobility challenges can more easily enter and exit the building. It's not just guests who will benefit from the new doors. Our Director of Collections, Sarah Pair notes, "We will be able to move large artifacts in and out of the gallery more easily. Also, it will be easier to accept larger artifacts from potential donors."

During October the Ag Museum hosts our Pumpkin Adventure event. It is exciting to have our new doors welcome a host of school field trips, family groups, and visitors to this year's fun family activity. We are excited to invite you to come out to the museum for Pumpkin Adventure to meet Uncle Story, enjoy the multitude of fall games, ride on the hayride, play in the corn pit and pick your pie pumpkin. We look forward to seeing you and your family at the Ag Museum this October.

For more information on upcoming events, educational opportunities, camps and field trips visit our website at www.msagmuseum.org, email msagmuseum@mdac.ms.gov, follow us on Facebook or call the museum at (601) 432-4500.

Soule's Contributions To Agriculture In Spotlight At Steam Festival

By Donna Huff Owen
Brainstorm Creative Group

The 19th Annual Soule Live Steam Festival in Meridian, Mississippi will show how things were made and how hard people worked back in the early 20th century. This event is hosted at historic Soule Steam Feed Works, America's last intact steam engine factory. Always held on the first Saturday of November, this year the festival falls on Friday and Saturday, November 4-5, 2022 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. This event attracts visitors from across the country.

The Soule name was a well-known agricultural name among farmers across Mississippi and the nation. George W. Soule patented inventions and manufactured products that were used for compressing cotton, baling hay, milling sugar cane and sawing lumber. For generations Soule Steam Feed Works Machine Shop replicated thousands of broken parts for tractors and other farm machinery that no longer had repair parts readily available. The belt-driven Machine Shop will be operating during festival as a reminder of this bygone era. Blacksmiths will also demonstrate the forge during these two days. Portable steam engines will be operated, showing how farmers were able to use belts to power many types of farm-related machines.

The founders of the Mississippi Industrial Heritage Museum and Soule Live Steam Festival, believe that preserving and interpreting America's industrial heritage is very important. This historic factory site tells the story of early 20th century invention, industry and workers like no other place in America. Here visitors can see the manufacturing process from raw material to finished product. More than 100 volunteers and steam-enthusiasts work to make this museum and event possible.

The Soule factory buildings date to the turn-of-the-20th century. Most of the original equipment and fixtures still remain in place and are in operation during the festival. The 1907 machine shop still uses the original 106'-long, belt-driven drive shaft to power equipment. As you walk through the foundry—a state-of-the-art industrial building when it was built in 1917—you'll find the Paxson Cupola Furnace, which was fired by coke and produced tons of molten iron weekly. The Pattern Shop, housed on the second floor of the foundry, is complete with antique woodworking equipment. The foundry's core-making department is another rare feature that survives.

Admission is $10. Student admission is free on Friday and $5 on Saturday. More information is available by contacting Soule Live Steam Festival at 601-693-9905, soulelivesteam@comcast.net or www.soulelivesteam.com.

For more information is available at 601-693-9905, soulelivesteam@comcast.net or www.soulelivesteam.com.

Please contact Ginger Williamson, ginger@mdac.ms.gov or 601-359-1150 with questions or go to www.Msmagnoliagardens.com or scan the code to go directly to the contribution page. Thank you for choosing Magnolia Gardens to honor and to memorialize your loved ones.

For six decades, patrons have contributed funds in exchange for a magnolia tree planted in honor of or in memory of loved ones. Over the years the program has planted tens of thousands of magnolia trees along state highways. Due to new regulations, the program needed adjustments. Enjoy the beautiful garden created in honor of your loved ones located at the Mississippi Ag and Forestry Museum in Jackson, Mississippi.

The main garden has a formal design incorporating a variety of plants, trees, flora, stone, water, and wood. The gardens will be strategically lighted to enhance the beauty of the design at night. Enjoy the lush landscape encircling the bronze "Working Man" sculpture donated to the Ag Museum in 2011. Relax on the cypress wood seating to enjoy the container gardens and water features framed with cypress shutters. Floral beds offer seasonal beauty outside of the central area.

The goal is to complete the entire project in 2021, honoring the 60th anniversary of Magnolia Gardens, formerly known as Avenue of Magnolias. We thank you for your contributions thus far. In order to complete the gardens, including the Avenue of Magnolias, $150,000.00 in additional funds are needed.

All donations, regardless of amount, will receive a letter acknowledging their donation. Recipients will receive our Magnolia Garden certificate honoring their loved ones.

Donations exceeding $5,000 will be acknowledged with a plaque at the garden site.

Hot Summer Produced a Strong Cotton Crop

By Bonnie Coblentz
MSU Extension Service

Most cotton in Mississippi got off to an excellent start in May, received the heat needed in June and July, and now is ready for sunny skies so growers can harvest a potentially above-average crop.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates 56% of the crop is in good or excellent shape, with another 38% estimated at fair. As of Aug. 28, bolls were opening on an estimated 25% of the crop.

Brian Pieralisi, cotton specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service, said he expects the yield to be above average overall, but the harvest will vary from poor to great in different locations.

"Last year, we harvested 1,116 pounds per acre on average, and there is a chance we match that this year," Pieralisi said.

A big part of the success of the cotton crop goes back to its start. Pieralisi said most of the cotton in Mississippi was planted between May 1 and 10. Pockets in northwest Mississippi that were unusually wet were planted the third week of May, and a band across the northern Delta had to be replanted because of a sandblasting event.

"Getting a good start and a uniform stand sets the stage for the yield potential you will have later," Pieralisi said. "Having a uniform stand and all your cotton planted at the same time helps with management during the growing season. You can do everything at once rather than having one field ready for thrips control or nitrogen application, but other fields are on a different schedule."

June and July were very hot months, and cotton requires the accumulation of a significant number of heat units to set a good crop.

"Fruit retention was high because of the heat, although we lost some fruit when it got cloudy in August," Pieralisi said.

About 60% of the state's cotton crop is irrigated. Pieralisi said those growers with the ability to turn on the water as needed should have an excellent crop.

"There were some areas that didn't have irrigation and didn't have timely rains, and that cotton is suffering," he said. "The northern Black Prairie from West Point to Tupelo didn't get any showers this summer and was the driest region we had. Some of that cotton had a tough time."

Disease pressure was light this year, with bacterial blight showing up in some places. Target spot is likely to appear because of all the recent rains in late August.

"We're seeing a lot of late-season potassium deficiency symptoms primarily due to boll fill," Pieralisi said. "Plants need soil moisture to be able to take up potassium, and the dry soils limited some of the potassium uptake. The cotton relied on relocation from within the plant to attempt to meet the demand of the heavy boll load."

If cloudy weather clears and the sun shines again and brings a wind to dry out fields, cotton defoliation should begin by the first of September and cotton harvest by as early as September 10.

Will Maples, an MSU Extension agricultural economist, said strong cotton prices remain at the highest levels since 2011, with the December 2022 futures contract peaking in mid-May at $1.32 a pound.

"Macro-level economic concerns and the increase in interest rates by the Federal Reserve fueled uncertainty in the cotton market in early July, and we saw a near 40-cent selloff in the December 2022 futures contract," Maples said. "Since then, prices have rebounded, and the December 2022 futures contract averaged $1.14 for the week ending August 19."

Despite high market prices, farmers continue to face higher input costs and inflation that eat into their profit margins.

Unfavorable growing conditions in west Texas are largely responsible for the USDA lowering its estimated of the nation's cotton production. Those supply concerns are keeping U.S. prices high.

"Ending stocks are currently projected at 1.8 million bales, half of what they were last year," Maples said. "Even though supply concerns are pushing prices higher, the demand side is limiting how high prices will get. Recession and interest rate hikes will continue to restrain demand."

So far this year, China, Pakistan and Turkey have been the largest purchasers of the upcoming U.S. cotton crop.

Keep Feeders Full for Fall Hummingbird Migration

By Dr. Gary R. Bachman
MSU Extension Service

Over the weekend, we had a most welcome visitor return to my home garden and landscape after an absence of several months. Our first hummingbird of the fall season arrived, and this was an indicator of lots of activity in the next few weeks.

I get excited to see the first fall hummingbirds because it means they're going to start gathering all along the Gulf Coast in preparation for their fall migration.

Earlier this spring, I wrote about great plants you can use to attract hummingbirds to your garden. And while it's most likely too late for this year, you can use those suggestions as a guide as you plan your 2023 landscape.

So instead of considering great hummingbird garden plants, today I want to share some interesting facts about hummingbirds.

For being so small, hummingbirds have incredible migration patterns.

They literally fly thousands of miles between their overwintering grounds in Mexico and Central America to their breeding grounds throughout North America. Some take the longer land route and follow the coastline of the Gulf of Mexico. It is amazing to realize that others fly nonstop straight across the Gulf of Mexico.

As I delved deeper into hummingbird facts, I learned that ruby-throated hummingbirds, which are the primary ones that I see, can fly 500 miles nonstop.

Maybe that's one of the reasons most gardeners are enthralled with hummingbirds and also Monarch butterflies. Such tiny creatures take what seems to be unbelievable journeys when sometimes it's a chore for me to go to the corner grocery store.

Sugar, as in glucose, is a great food and energy source for these tiny birds as they get ready to head farther south. And do they ever love sugar!

Hummingbirds have a really high metabolism. They beat their wings 50 times a second and have a heart rate of over 1,000 beats a minute. Because of the energy needed to sustain that kind of effort, they can consume twice their body weight every day.

While hummingbirds have the hummer nickname, they don't actually hum. They do have an unmistakable whirring sound from their wings beating so fast. They also have a high-pitched chatter.

If you haven't already done so, now is a perfect time to put those hummingbird feeders out.

You can buy ready-mixed feeder solutions, but I think it's easier to make your own sugar water. The recipe is simple: four parts water to one part pure cane sugar. Do not use honey or brown sugar, as this can make the hummingbirds sick.

Boil this solution and allow it to cool before adding it to the feeders. It's not uncommon to have to make several batches a week.

So, enjoy the hummingbirds this fall as they get ready to migrate south. You'll see lots of activity around the feeders for weeks, and then one day, they'll all be gone. Until next spring.

Hummingbirds are back in town, and they are preparing for their fall migration to overwintering locations in Mexico and Central America. (Photo by MSU Extension/Gary Bachman)
