Gift Ideas for Gardeners on 2023 Christmas Lists

By Dr. Gary R. Bachman
MSU Extension Service

"'Twas the night before Christmas, and all through the yard, not a plant was left standing, and the ground was hard." So begins Karen Geisler's gardener adaptation of Clement Clarke Moore's Christmas classic "The Night Before Christmas."

We're just days away from the big day, and I know there are still folks trying to decide on that perfect Christmas gift for their favorite gardener.

There's still time to shop, and I want to share some great gift ideas I gathered from the National Ini-

Gardens are great places to add personal touches and whimsical items. These also make great gifts for the gardeners on your Christmas shopping list. (Photo by MSU Extension/Gary Bachman) tiative for Consumer Horticulture. This organization promotes the many environmental, health and wellbeing benefits of gardening and plants, so they make great suggestions for the perfect gift.

My first suggestion is to give a plant. Seasonal plants like amaryllises, paperwhites, Christmas cacti and poinsettias are always appropriate. They make beautiful living décor and are easy hostess gifts.

House plants make trendy gifts for all ages. Cut flowers are thoughtful gifts that can be enjoyed by those not ready to commit to plant care. Terrariums, orchids, succulent "wall art" and indoor aquatic gardens also make unique plant gifts.

If you don't give a plant, consider giving a decorative pot for outdoor or indoor use. Pots are playful and practical gift ideas that come in a wide range of styles and prices. A hand-decorated planter makes a fun craft project for kids and a cute gift for grandparents.

Pots should be functional as well as pretty, so check for a drainage hole before purchasing. Don't forget decorative pot huggers that hang on the outside of the pots to add a touch of fun.

Bring bling to the outdoors with yard ornaments. They can add humor, whimsy or drama to indoor and outdoor gardens.

Another idea is to invite nature home for the holidays. Do this by giving the gift of bird houses, bee hotels, butterfly homes, bird baths and feeders of all sorts to attract wildlife to outdoor spaces and enhance the environment.

Don't forget to stuff the stockings. Seed packets make great stuffers. Gloves and pruning shears also fit nicely. Anyone who works with soil will appreciate a stiff soap for cleanup, followed by a soothing salve or hand cream. Gardeners love practical gifts, too, like plant stakes, tags and ties.

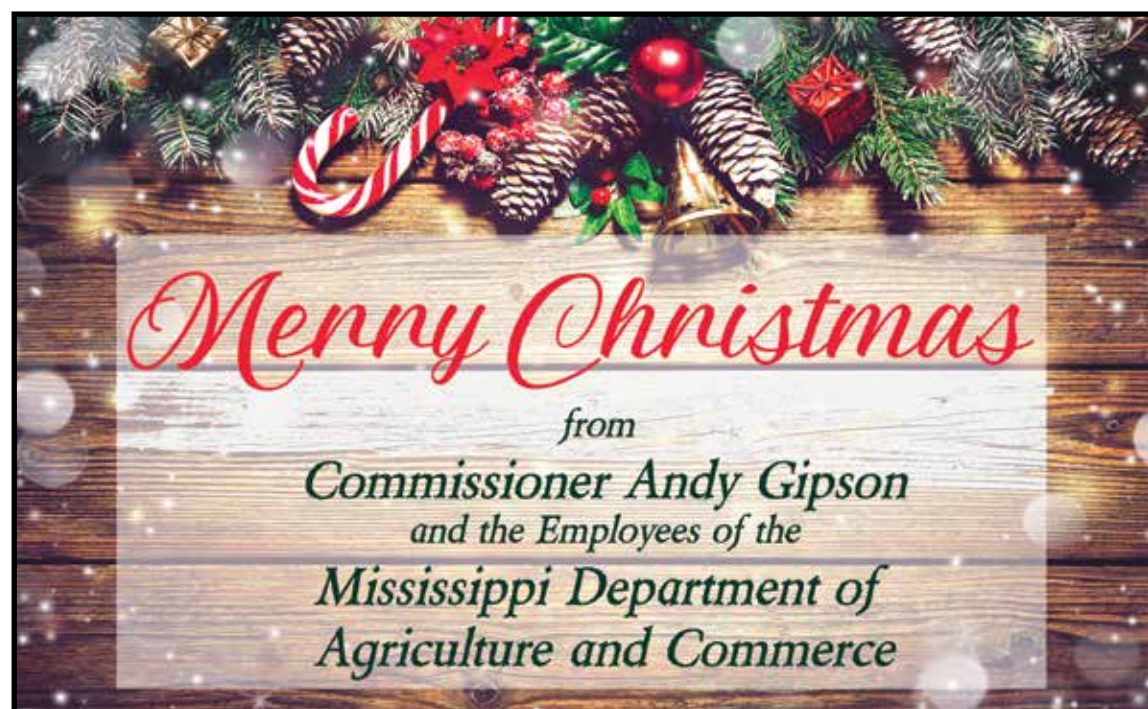

If none of these sound like the right gift, give an experience by purchasing a visit or a membership to a public garden. Many gardens have seasonal displays, special events and other amenities that make the perfect gift.

A final gift suggestion is to lend a hand. Engage a landscape company to help someone special with yard care. Your loved one can enjoy their yard rather than fuss about their to-do list.

Consumer horticulture is a driver of our agricultural economy, and with good reason. Over this past year, I have tried to highlight some of the many environmental, health and wellbeing benefits of plants and their use where we live, work and heal. This year, consider giving gifts that make our world a better place.

So, from Southern Gardening, we wish a Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays to all, and to all a green thumb.

Commissioner Andy Gipson Announces Mississippi Local Food Initiative Between Mississippi Farmers and Food Banks

By Hannah East
Marketing Specialist - MDAC

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson announced on November 16, 2022, a new local food initiative between Mississippi farmers and food banks at the Mississippi Food Network in Jackson. Commissioner Gipson was joined by Dr. Charles Beady, Jr., CEO of the Mississippi Food Network; Michael Ledger, CEO and President of Feeding the Gulf Coast; and Cathy Pope, CEO and President of Mid-South Food Bank.

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC)

was awarded $2.82 million through a Local Food Purchase Assistance Cooperative Agreement with United States Department of Agriculture. Through this initiative, food will be procured from local farmers and food producers, including socially disadvantaged farmers and processors, and distributed to underserved communities throughout the state. MDAC is partnering with the Mississippi Food Network, Feeding the Gulf Coast and Mid-South Food Bank, three Feeding America affiliated food banks, to procure and distribute the local food through their networks of existing and new agency partners.

MDAC is developing a directory of local farmers and food processors for the food banks to utilize to find local Mississippi food products. Commissioner Gipson encourages farmers and other food producers and processors that are interested in potentially marketing their products through this program to visit www.mdac.ms.gov/msfp/ to register their farm or business in the directory. Types of eligible food items include, but are not limited to, fresh fruits and vegetables, dairy products, meat products, rice, eggs, value-added processed foods and beverages.

"MDAC is proud to partner with the three Feeding America affiliated food banks in our great state – Mississippi Food Network, Feeding the Gulf Coast and Mid-South Food Bank," said Commissioner Gipson. "This unique partnership allows us to support our local Mississippi farmers and food producers, while benefitting people in need throughout underserved communities in Mississippi. This initiative is just the beginning of a long-term partnership that will last well beyond this initial round of funding as it will continue to grow and expand marketing opportunities for producers statewide. I encourage our Mississippi farmers and food producers interested in potentially marketing products through this program to go online and register to be included in the local food source directory."

From Our Kitchen To Yours

Have Yourself a Yummy, Little Christmas!

Butter Pecan Fudge

1 teaspoon plus 1/2 cup butter, cubed
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup heavy whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 cup coarsely chopped pecans, toasted

Line an 8-in. square pan with foil; grease foil with 1 teaspoon butter. In a large heavy saucepan, combine remaining butter, granulated and brown sugars, cream and salt. Bring to a rapid boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Cook, without stirring, until a candy thermometer reads 234° (soft-ball stage). Remove from heat. Add vanilla to pan (do not stir). Cool, without stirring, to 110°, about 30 minutes. Beat with a spoon until fudge just begins to thicken. Gradually stir in confectioners' sugar until smooth; add nuts and continue stirring until fudge becomes very thick and just begins to lose its sheen. Immediately spread into prepared pan. Cool. Using foil, lift fudge out of pan. Remove foil; cut fudge into 1-in. squares. Store between layers of waxed paper in an airtight container.

White Candy Bark

1 tablespoon butter, melted
2 packages (10 to 12 ounces each) white baking chips
1-1/2 cups walnut halves

1 cup dried cranberries
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg

Line a 15x10x1-in. baking pan with foil. Brush with butter. Microwave white chips on high until melted; stir until smooth. Stir in walnuts, cranberries and nutmeg. Spread into prepared pan. Chill until firm. Break into pieces.

Maple Pralines

1 cup sugar
2/3 cup heavy whipping cream
1/2 cup maple syrup
2 tablespoons butter
3/4 cup coarsely chopped pecans, toasted

In a heavy 1-qt. saucepan, combine sugar, cream and syrup. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture boils. Reduce heat to medium-low. Cook, uncovered, until a candy thermometer reads 234° (soft-ball stage), stirring occasionally. Remove from the heat. Add butter; do not stir. Cool, without stirring, to 160°. Stir in pecans. Beat vigorously with a wooden spoon until mixture just begins to thicken but is still glossy. Quickly drop by spoonfuls onto waxed paper. Cool. Store in an airtight container.

Easy Peanut Butter Balls

1 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup peanut butter
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Classic Sugar Cookies

2 cups Basic Cookie Dough
Colored sugar and frosting of your choice

On a lightly floured surface, roll out dough to 1/4-in. thickness. Using 2-1/2-in. cookie cutters, cut out desired shapes. Place 2 in. apart on ungreased baking sheets. Leave plain or sprinkle with colored sugar. Bake at 375° for 8-10 minutes or until the edges are golden brown. Remove to wire racks to cool. Frost plain cookies; sprinkle with colored sugar if desired.

education program at Southeast under the guidance and instruction of agriculture teacher Lindsey Keene.

"I cannot imagine a more wonderful experience than my time learning and serving in the Department of Agriculture and Commerce," said Watkins. "I enjoyed my time serving at MDAC, and it reinforced my enjoyment of working with people towards a common goal."

Watkins says that the best memories of the internship were when had the opportunity to work in the Capitol Building during the Legislative sessions and promoting Mississippi agriculture products and services as a representative of the MDAC. One of the most valuable career lessons she learned as a result of serving as an intern was from the FFA creed, which is "to be honest and fair in the game of life."

As a result of her experience as an intern, Watkins had the opportunity to gain further experience in an internship with former Mississippi Governor Kirk Fordice and former Senator Thad Cochran, working directly with Mark Keenum, in Washington, D.C. Watkins is now a manager with Novartis Oncology in Charlotte, North Carolina, one of the world's leading pharmaceutical research and development companies.

In the fall of 1989, Mississippi FFA State President Susan Watkins began her internship with the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce under the guidance of Commissioner Jim Buck Ross. A Timeless Christmas

By Amie C. Clark
Mississippi Agriculture
& Forestry Museum - MDAC

The Christmas season is one of wonderment and magic here at the Mississippi Agriculture & Forestry Museum. It feels as if we're quiet enough we can hear the voices we represent singing traditional carols, laughing and bringing the Yule Tide greetings from just beyond our sight.

We are the stewards of the rich and boisterous history that represent the true heart of Mississippi. The farm families and their stories, their implements, their tools, their very homes all invite us to understand them better, to look back with curiosity and to look forward with hope. In the humble beginnings and wonderful memories that are housed on our grounds, we place the building blocks in the hands of the next generation so they can build their own memories, their own traditions and their own futures from our collective past.

When visiting the Museum this time of year, a myriad of wonder awaits those who come with curiosity. Just down the gravel road is the Fortenberry-Parkman Farmstead. Visitors are welcomed into the very living room which hosted a century of Christmases for Fortenberry-Parkman family. Visitors can stand by the hearth that has seen generations of modest stockings hung from the mantle in expectation of Father Christmas's visit. These walls have heard the bursts of laughter as the children woke to find an orange and a piece of peppermint candy left in those stockings by the jolly fellow himself.

Christmas was a modest time for the family. There weren't boxes of clothes and mountains of toys, yet it was a time filled with joy and excitement. The scent of fresh bread, homemade pies, cakes and cookies wafting from the kitchen through the dining room set the tone for celebration. Time was spent with family focusing on being grateful for the bounty brought by the previous year. Even the smallest things were cause for celebration; no joy went unaccounted.

As I walk through the meager rooms that are populated only by Museum visitors, I still hear the laughter. I've taken the time to learn their stories, sit at their dining room table, and hang my own stocking by their hearth. In this, I have not been disappointed. My stocking has been filled with the strength of the home's strong inhabitants. My cup runs over with the stories they have left to be shared with our visitors. Here in these aging boards amidst the dust and leaves, I find my place wrapped like a small Christmas gift ready to share to with those who visit to hear.

This Christmas season, and throughout the year, I encourage you and your family to come share in the memories and magic that exists here at the Mississippi Agriculture & Forestry Museum. You will find new traditions, old friends, and the stories of Mississippi agriculture waiting to feed your very future.
