State's Poultry Industry Strong Despite Challenges

By Bonnie Coblentz
MSU Extension Service

Poultry is big business in Mississippi, and poultry producers are having to manage disease and high feed costs to produce the meat and eggs that Americans consume in great quantities.

Poultry is the most consumed meat in the U.S., according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, followed by beef and then pork. Eggs are also popular, with Americans eating close to 250 eggs per person each year.

This demand for chicken and eggs drove Mississippi's poultry industry to a record $3.8 billion value, an almost 50% increase from the previous record of $2.6 billion set in 2021.

Josh Maples, agricultural economist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service, said the industry is important to the state because of the impact it has on the state economy.

"Poultry production is regularly the largest valued commodity produced in Mississippi in terms of value of poultry produced," Maples said.

Strong market prices for broilers drove the value increase in 2022, along with exceptionally strong egg prices.

"2022 was a very strong year for poultry and egg production, driven mostly by much higher prices than were seen in 2021," he said. "Prices are forecasted to be lower in 2023 than the high prices seen in 2022. Egg prices in particular have dropped from the record prices seen at the end of last year."

Jonathan Moon, Extension poultry specialist, said another major challenge recently has been the arrival of highly pathogenic avian influenza, known as HPAI. The loss of about 53 million birds within the last year, including two commercial flocks in Mississippi, limited egg production in particular, driving up those prices.

"About 43 million of those birds were layers," Moon said. "HPAI has claimed significantly more layers when compared to broilers, and this is attributed to the fact that layers are housed in much higher numbers and also have a longer lifespan and can technically have more opportunities to be exposed to the virus."

Egg prices have moved down, but Moon said it takes time to build layer numbers back.

"Some people responded to the high egg prices by building their own backyard chicken flocks, but when doing so, one should keep in mind that there is commitment of time to bring these layers into production and also a financial investment in the form of feed, and this may not always be the cheapest option," he said.

The majority of the state's poultry industry is located in central Missisissippi, including the Macon/Brooksville area and south to southeast, with just a few commercial houses scattered in the northern part of the state.

Mississippi is home to six different poultry integrators: Amick Farms,

Koch Foods, Peco Foods, Wayne-Sanderson Farms, Mar-Jac Poultry and Tyson Foods. The state is also home to the nation's largest egg producer, which is Cal-Maine Foods located near Jackson.

Cal-Maine Foods & Egg Farmers Across America Provide to Families in Need

Recently, Cal-Maine Foods, Inc., the nation's largest producer and marketer of shell eggs, donated 129,600 eggs to the Mississippi Food Network. The donation was made to help food insecure families in Mississippi. *Commissioner Andy Gipson Announces May 2023
Wild Hog Control Program Application Period*

By Chris McDonald
Director of Federal and
Environmental Affairs - MDAC

Commissioner Andy Gipson announced that the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) will begin accepting a new round of applications for its Wild Hog Control Program (WHCP) on Monday, May 1. The application period will close on Monday May 15. All Mississippi counties are eligible for the application period.

Through the WHCP, MDAC provides “smart” wild hog traps to land-owners and managers for the control of wild hogs on private agricultural and forestry lands in Mississippi. MDAC will provide the training necessary to use the “smart” traps and technical guidance regarding the most effective methods to trap and control wild hogs on private lands. Applications must be completed and submitted online at www.mdac.ms.gov/whcp. Submitted applications will be evaluated based on the number of acres available for trapping, historical agricultural losses caused by wild hogs on the property and current trapping efforts on the property. A cooperative application is encouraged for small acreage (i.e., adjoining land managers of small parcels should work together to submit one application). Traps will be available for one-month intervals, dependent upon use and success. One trap per 500 – 1,000 acres is recommended, depending on landscape and land use.

Visit www.mdac.ms.gov/whcp for program guidelines, applications and additional information. Submit questions regarding the WHCP to Chris McDonald at chris@mdac.ms.gov.

From Our Kitchen To Yours

The Incredible, Edible Egg!

*****

Southern Deviled Egg Salad

3/4 cup mayonnaise, plus more if needed
2 tbsp. minced fresh parsley
2 tbsp. minced shallots
1 tbsp. Dijon mustard
1/2 tsp. smoked paprika
6 hard-boiled large eggs, peeled and chopped
4 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
1 Kosher salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

Stir together the mayonnaise, parsley, shallots, mustard, paprika, eggs and bacon in a medium bowl. Add more mayonnaise if you prefer a creamier egg salad. Season with salt and pepper. Serve on croissant bread or bread of your choice.

Fiesta Scrambled Eggs

1 tablespoon canola oil
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped sweet red pepper
1 jalapeno pepper, seeded and chopped
8 bacon strips, cooked and crumbled
8 large eggs, lightly beaten
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese, divided
1/2 tsp. salt

1/8 tsp. pepper
Salsa

In a large cast-iron or other heavy skillet, heat oil over medium-high heat. Add onion and peppers; cook and stir until tender, 3-5 minutes. Sprinkle with bacon. Pour eggs over the top; sprinkle with 1/2 cup cheese, salt and pepper. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until eggs are completely set. Sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup cheese. Serve with salsa.

Ham & Egg Pockets

1 large egg
2 tsp. 2% milk
2 tsp. butter
1 ounce thinly sliced deli ham, chopped
2 tbsp. shredded cheddar cheese
1 tube (4 ounces) refrigerated crescent rolls

Preheat oven to 375°. In a small bowl, combine egg and milk. In a small skillet heat butter until hot. Add egg mixture; cook and stir over medium heat until egg is completely set. Remove from the heat. Fold in ham and cheese. On a greased baking sheet, separate crescent dough into 2 rectangles. Seal perforations; spoon half the filling down the center of each rectangle. Fold in ends and sides; pinch to seal. Bake until golden brown, 10-14 minutes.

Bacon, Egg & Avocado Sandwiches

2 bacon strips, halved crosswise
2 large eggs
1/8 tsp. garlic salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. Miracle Whip or mayonnaise
4 slices sourdough bread, toasted
4 thin slices tomato

In a large nonstick skillet, cook bacon over medium heat until crisp. Remove to paper towels to drain. Pour off drippings. In same skillet, break eggs, 1 at a time, into pan; immediately reduce heat to low. Cook until whites are completely set and yolks begin to thicken. Remove from heat; sprinkle with garlic salt and pepper. Spread Miracle Whip over 2 slices of toast. Top with bacon, eggs, tomato, avocado and, if desired, cheese and onion. Spread butter over remaining 2 slices of toast; place over top.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. It's FREE to advertise, just include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale.

What to Know Before Bringing Home Goats

By Susan M. Collins-Smith
MSU Extension Service

Not so long ago, goats were niche livestock animals in Mississippi. But these small ruminants have grown in popularity in recent years, especially dairy goats.

“Although there has been a drop in the official population numbers, we know interest is growing in Mississippi among all types of goats,” said Leyla Rios, Extension small ruminant specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service.

According to official statistics from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, meat and other types of goats were estimated at 19,000 head in 2022, down from 21,000 the previous year. Data for dairy goats in Mississippi are not available, but total numbers for the U.S. were down slightly.

Goats make ideal 4-H livestock project animals for young children because of their small size and docile nature. Dairy goats have become the most prevalent among Mississippi 4-H showmanship participants.

“In the last 10 years, the number of dairy goats shown in the Dixie National Junior Roundup has more than doubled,” said Extension 4-H livestock specialist Dean Jousan about the annual showcase for 4-H and FFA livestock programs.

Farmers who have limited acreage or want to diversify their livestock operations often choose goats. Others want goats for their meat or milk.

Regardless of the purpose, people who want to join the ranks of goat owners should understand some important aspects of goat ownership before bringing one home.

What breed is best?

Rios said people should first identify their production goals.

“What do you want: meat, fiber, milk or other value-added products? Or do you want to raise purebred, registered animals to sell to other farmers or people who show goats?” she said. “You need to choose the best breed that can meet your long-term production objectives.”

Dairy goat breeds include Alpine, Saanen, Nigerian Dwarf, Nubian, La Mancha, Toggenburg or any cross of these breeds. Meat goat breeds include Boer, Kiko or Spanish.

Breeds with short hair and tropical breeds, such as Nubian, do better in Mississippi’s hot, humid weather.

How many goats are ideal?

Beginners should start with a few animals and adjust the number per acre over time. Under optimal conditions, an acre can support up to six goats, but owners should have a good grasp of management practices and nutritional requirements before adding more animals, Rios said.

How much space and what type of shelter is needed?

Goats need about 9 square feet of open area per animal in a barn and 22 feet per animal in a pasture. A shelter is a necessity and depends on an owner’s budget and goals.

“The most important aspect is that it provides protection from the sun and from drafts during cold weather,” said Rios, who is also a researcher with the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station. “A simple three-sided structure with a roof is sufficient for a start, but once the herd grows, you need a more sophisticated barn-type building with internal subdivisions for different groups of animals.”

What kind of predator protection do goats need?

Goats are vulnerable to predators and need a secure, fenced area. Owners may want to consider using guardian dogs as added protection.

“In the South, coyotes are the most common predators of goats. They can attack and kill adults and kids,” Rios said. “The most popular protection used is guardian dogs. There are several dog breeds that are used as guardians, including Great Pyrenees, Anatolian and Kangal. They will always stay with the animals, following them as they graze and sleeping in the paddocks.”

How much food and water do goats need?

A goat gets 70% to 80% of its main diet from grasses, forages and diverse vegetation. The remaining 20% to 30% can be any supplement such as corn, grain or mixes of cereals, which provide a source of additional energy and protein to balance their diets. They can be commercial mixes or diets mixed on the farm.

Goats should always have a mineral supplement source, which is required for correct metabolic functions and for increased immunity.

The amount of water they need depends on how much water they are getting from fresh grass. In general, goats need 0.3 to 0.5 gallons of clean water per day and up to 3 gallons per day when lactating. Dairy goats especially need enough clean water, which helps increase milk production.

What are the challenges?

Goats do present some challenges for beginners, including their susceptibility to internal parasites. Prospective owners should ensure they understand proper management practices, including parasite control, rotational grazing management practices, and clean housing requirements. When done correctly, these management practices can help goats thrive.

Bringing goats home

Once people decide to get goats, Rios offered some final tips:

Find a reputable breeder and visit the farm where the animal was raised. Buying directly from a breeder allows a buyer to visit the animal’s environment and understand the breeder’s management practices.

Set up an appointment with a veterinarian and determine if he or she can provide care for the herd. Having an established relationship with a veterinarian can help during emergencies and reduce the loss of animals. While many veterinarians have experience with small ruminants, any veterinarian who is willing to learn about them will be helpful.

Quarantine any new animals for at least 40 days before introducing them to other animals on the farm. Work with a veterinarian to get a complete health assessment and vaccines before allowing them around any other animals.

Raising goats is a long-term commitment. They can live for 10 years or more with proper nutrition and living conditions.

Mississippi Egg Marketing Board Presents Mustard Seed Easter Eggs to First Lady Reeves

By Hannah East
Marketing Specialist - MDAC

On April 3, 2023, the Mississippi Egg Marketing Board presented 12 eggs created by The Mustard Seed “Seedsters” to First Lady Elee Reeves. The Board worked with The Mustard Seed, a Christian community for adults with developmental disabilities, to craft the eggs.

Twelve Mustard Seed community members were given the opportunity to decorate an egg representative of Mississippi. The theme for this year’s egg presentation was “Seedsters Choice” and included the Music of Mississippi by artist Sarah Simonson; Mississippi River with Riverboat and Catfish by artist Gabrielle Chambers; the Mississippi Capitol and Magnolia by artist Erin Showah; a Wood Duck by artist Sarah Ayers; Churches of Mississippi by artist Nia Reed; Magnolias and Mockingbird by artist Rebecca Bratley; Mississippi’s official marine mammal, Bottlenose Dolphin, on the Gulf Coast by artist John Carl McKellar; Mississippi State Flag by artist Jacob Gulland; Biloxi Lighthouse by artist Robin Smith; Delta Cotton Fields and Mississippi Agriculture by artist Jeff Brock; Mississippi’s official insect and butterfly, Honeybee and Spicebush Swallowtail by artist Paydon Dill; Mississippi’s official state fruit, Blueberry, by artist Kate Dickens.

“The Mustard Seed is an incredible community that brings tremendous joy to Mississippians across our state,” said First Lady Elee Reeves. “I’m proud of these ‘Seedsters’ for helping showcase what makes Mississippi so special. I’m grateful for everything they do to share their creativity with our Great State.”

The 12 artists were invited to the Governor’s Mansion to personally present their Easter eggs to the First Lady and to enjoy cookies and juice following the presentation. “I love being able to participate in presenting these eggs to our First Lady each year,” said Ryn Laster, president of the Mississippi Egg Marketing Board. “The ‘Seedsters’ are all so excited to be here and get to show off their ‘eggs’ceptional artwork. The eggs they create are always so beautiful and meaningful, and they represent our state so well.”
