Helpful Tips for Your Thanksgiving Turkey

By Reprinted with permission from the National Turkey Federation

The Thanksgiving turkey is usually the center of all Thanksgiving meals. Even though cooks have been preparing these birds for years, each year there is still question as to is it done, how long can we store leftovers, what about the stuffing, etc., etc., etc. Listed below is information from the National Turkey Federation that may serve as a guide to help with any turkey cooking dilemmas or questions that may arise during this holiday season.

For more information from the National Turkey Federation, you may contact them at National Turkey Federation 1225 New York Avenue NW, Suite 400, Washington, D.C.

20005. Email: info@turkeyfed.org. Telephone: 202-898-0100, www.eatturkey.com.

Turkey is available in many different forms; everything from cutlets, deli meats, sausage or the whole birds. Traditionally, we think of using the whole birds for most feasts. Turkey is a low-fat, high-protein, nutrient-dense food; so in addition to being an excellent dinner choice, it is a healthy choice.

Is it better to buy a fresh or frozen turkey?

There is no quality difference between a fresh or frozen turkey. Frozen turkeys are flash frozen immediately after packaging to 0°F or below and are held at that temperature until purchased. Once the birds are defrosted, the meat is practically as fresh as the day it was processed. Fresh turkeys are deep-chilled and have shorter shelf lives. Also, fresh turkeys are perishable and require special handling and merchandising, so they may be a little more expensive than frozen turkeys. Purchasing a frozen turkey allows you to get it in advance and take advantage of special sales. Fresh turkeys are convenient because they do not require thawing.

What size turkey do I need to buy?

Purchase at least one pound of uncooked turkey per person when purchasing a whole turkey. You will have enough for the feast and for leftovers.

How do you properly thaw a turkey?

Turkey can be thawed in the refrigerator, in cold water, or in the microwave. A whole turkey takes about 24 hours per five pounds to thaw in the refrigerator. In cold water, changed every 30 minutes, turkey takes about 30 minutes per pound to thaw. When using a microwave to thaw a turkey, follow the manufacturer's instructions for the size turkey that will fit in your oven, the minutes per pound, and the power level to use. Never defrost turkey on the counter. Once thawed, keep turkey refrigerated at 40°F or below until it is ready to be cooked. Thawed turkey in the microwave should be cooked immediately.

What are the steps to safely stuff a turkey?

Stuffing should be prepared and stuffed into the turkey immediately before it is placed in the oven for cooking. If preparing the stuffing ahead of time, wet and dry ingredients should be refrigerated separately and combined right before stuffing the turkey. Stuff the turkey loosely, about 3/4 cup per pound of turkey. Use a two-step test for turkey doneness: first insert a meat thermometer into the deepest portion of the thigh, not touching the bone, and allow it to come to temperature for an accurate reading. Second, once the thigh has reached 180°F move the thermometer to the center of the stuffing. Once the stuffing has reached 160 to 165°F the turkey should be removed from the oven.

How should leftovers be stored and how long will they keep?

Leftovers should be stored in shallow containers and refrigerated or frozen within two hours of cooking. Remove the stuffing and carve the extra turkey meat from the bones. Use cooked turkey and stuffing within 3-4 days and gravy within 1-2 days. Cooked turkey keeps 3-4 months in the freezer. When using leftovers, reheat the foods thoroughly to 165°F until hot and steaming; bring gravy to a boil before serving.

Follow these five easy steps to a perfectly roasted turkey:

1. Thaw the turkey and remove the neck and giblets from the neck and body cavities.

2. Preheat the oven to 325°F. for conventional or 300°F. for convection ovens.

3. Place turkey breast side up on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. If cooking stuffing inside the turkey, fill the body cavity with stuffing now.

4. Insert a meat thermometer into the thickest part of the thigh, not touching bone.

5. Roast the turkey, uncovered, until the meat thermometer registers 180°F. Use the roasting timetable to estimate approximate cooking time. If stuffed, make sure the temperature of the stuffing has reached 160 to 165°F before removing the turkey from the oven.

Foreign Purchase of Farmland Study Committee Holds Third Meeting

By Emma Dotson
Public Relations Specialist - MDAC

The Study Committee on Foreign Purchase of Farmland in Mississippi held its third meeting at the State Capitol on October 19. The Mississippi Legislature created this Study Committee through House Bill 280, 2023 Legislative Session, for the purpose of studying the purchasing, acquiring, leasing or holding an interest in agricultural land by foreign governments.

"We've covered a lot of ground in this Committee, and I want to commend all committee members for your involvement and participation. Foreign ownership of land is a very important topic, and there are many things we must consider. Some good questions have been posed, and we have had information from various viewpoints submitted. I am looking forward to compiling this information into a report for the Legislature," said Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson.

The Study Committee welcomed Arkansas Secretary of Agriculture Wes Ward by phone to discuss recent developments with the Arkansas Act 636. Representative Becky Currie also provided input. Testimonies were heard from Mississippi Forestry Association Executive Director Casey Anderson, American First Policy Institute Director for the China Policy Initiative Adam Savit and Mississippi Realtor Owen McIntosh. The Committee also reviewed comments submitted by the public.

The final meeting for the Committee was November 9, 2023, at 10:00 a.m. in Room 113 in the Capitol.

The Committee will submit its final report to the Legislature by December 1st. Visit www.mdac.ms.gov/

Maple and Cider Turkey Breast

1 6-8-pound bone-in-turkey breast, fresh or thawed if frozen

1 tablespoon grainy country-style mustard
Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste
1 medium apple, cored & thinly sliced (unpeeled)

Pat turkey breast dry with paper towels. In small bowl, mix oil and mustard; rub over breast and under skin from neck end. Do not detach skin at base. Season with salt and pepper. Slide apple slices between skin and meat. Place breast on a rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast, uncovered, and in a preheated 350° oven for about 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 hours or until a food thermometer inserted in thickest part of breast registers 170°. Meanwhile, combine syrup, vinegar, and Worcestershire sauce; set aside. During last 20 minutes of roasting, baste breast with mixture. If skin is browning too quickly, tent with foil. Remove breast to serving platter and let rest 10 to 15 minutes before carving.

Dry Conditions Mix Up Sweet Potato Sizes

By Nathan Gregory
MSU Extension Service

Most of Mississippi's sweet potatoes are grown far northeast of the state's worst drought conditions, but that did not keep excessive heat and dryness from factoring in this year's crop.

Lorin Harvey, sweet potato specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service, said dry weather affected production more than most growers anticipated. Because of the drought, irrigated acres performed better than potatoes on dryland.

"Those in the Delta who utilized irrigation fared better than many of the growers around Vardaman who were at the mercy of soil moisture at planting and sparse rainfall throughout the growing season," Harvey said. "We had sparse popup showers around the growing region, but nothing substantial. Several fields went 45 days without a drop of rain during peak root bulking from July to August."

The lack of precipitation has caused variability in the size of potatoes between fields and increased chances of skinning, making it hard to plan for harvest.

"Harvest started about 10 days earlier than last year, but growers slowed down to allow for deveining, skin to set, and for sweet potatoes to continue to size up," Harvey said. "That put the remainder of the harvest at about a week behind where we were last year in mid-October."

Caleb Englert, Mississippi Sweet Potato Council president, said potatoes planted by mid-May received a couple of significant rainfalls before the dry spell and have had good yields. Later planted acreage faced a tougher battle. A "fair-to-average" crop, which he anticipates, should be enough for most growers to turn a profit.

"If we could sell dust, we'd retire tomorrow," Englert said. "It's been hot and dry with some ground cracking. We are seeing some smaller product than normal. With it being this dry, there could be some rot on weight."

About 65 commercial growers in Mississippi planted about 28,000 acres of sweet potatoes this year. In terms of quality, Harvey said, early harvested potatoes appeared promising.

"Quality is something Mississippi has been pretty consistent with due to careful management practices and field selections," he said. "We've seen some growth cracks in roots that were dry and quickly sucked up water when it did rain, but that is to be expected. This year's crop will likely come out to be lower than average due to the lack of rainfall."

Overall U.S. sweet potato production is down this year due to a 20 percent acreage reduction in North Carolina, which is the top producing state. Mississippi ranks second.

MSU Extension is offering free soil sample testing for nematodes to sweet potato growers until the end of 2024. Samples can be submitted in nematode bags available at local county MSU Extension offices. Samples are also accepted in quart-sized, sealed plastic bags. Bags must be labeled and accompanied by the nematode sample submission form F448, available at <https://extension.msstate.edu/lab>.

Anyone interested in supporting the state's sweet potato industry can attend the 50th Annual Vardaman Sweet Potato Festival on November 4 in downtown Vardaman. For more information, visit <https://vardamansweetpotatofestival.com>.

It's FREE to advertise, just include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.

Commissioner Gipson Commends the Greater Grenada Partnership for their Efforts in Mississippi Timber Business Expansion

By Ginger Williamson
Deputy Bureau Director
Timber Commerce Liaison - MDAC
and Emma Dotson
Public Relations Specialist - MDAC

Commissioner Andy Gipson congratulates the Greater Grenada Partnership (GGP) for securing the largest capital investment industrial project in the organization's history with a timber-related business.

"I applaud the effort of the Greater Grenada Partnership in bringing Highland Timber, LLC to the state of Mississippi," Commissioner Gipson said. "Timber is the leading agricultural commodity in over half of Mississippi counties and is the third largest commodity in the state, so I am excited to hear of further growth in our timber industry."

GGP CEO Matthew Harrison announced October 9, 2023, its strategic partnership with Highland Grenada, LLC, an affiliate of Highland Pellets, LLC. Highland Pellets is a Pine Bluff-based wood pellet producer that supplies sustainably sourced, renewable biomass for export where it is used as fuel for renewable base load electricity production at a converted coal power plant.

"The arrival of Highland Grenada, LLC., exemplifies our unwavering dedication to forging a sustainable manufacturing future," Harrison said. "For the last 22 months, our team has been working to reach this important milestone, and we have finally arrived."

This facility will bring positive impacts to Mississippi by utilizing residual wood waste from sawmills; aid the forestry economy including truckers, railways, loggers and landowners; and promote responsible forest management to ensure healthy forests for future generations.

Visit <https://timber.mdac.ms.gov/> to learn more about the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce's Timber Commerce Division.

The Highland Grenada facility in Mississippi will be a replica of Highland Pellets' main facility located in Pine Bluff, Arkansas, and located on the site pictured.

James Meredith Shares His Vision During Visit to MDAC

During the 164th Mississippi State Fair, James Meredith stopped by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC) and visited with Commissioner Andy Gipson. They talked at length about the challenges our society faces and the way to overcome them, which Meredith says is "Faith in the Lord Jesus Christ!" Mr. Meredith is 90 years young and still going. Meredith, born June 25, 1933, in Kosciusko, Mississippi, is an American civil rights activist who gained national renown at a key juncture in the civil rights movement in 1962, when he became the first African American student to attend the University of Mississippi. MALTB Investigators Recover Stolen Property in Hinds County

By Dean Barnard, Director
Mississippi Agriculture and Livestock Theft Bureau - MDAC

The Mississippi Agriculture and Livestock Theft Bureau (MALTB) recovered a stolen skid steer, with an estimated value of $50,000, in Hinds County.

On October 15, 2023, MALTB investigators started an investigation after receiving anonymous information of possible stolen equipment. Three days later, investigators located and recovered a stolen 2018 Model 289D Caterpillar Skid Steer. The skid steer had been reported stolen from Hinds County in the City of Jackson in July 2022. The property recovered was valued at an estimated $50,000.

MALTB Director Dean Barnard praised investigators for their quick action and recovery of the equipment and thanked the anonymous caller for providing the information. "We encourage anyone who might have information of stolen agricultural equipment to please contact your local law enforcement, Crime Stoppers at 601-355-TIPS, or our MALTB tip line at 1-800-678-2660. All callers can remain anonymous," said Barnard.

Commissioner Andy Gipson said, "I applaud our investigators' swift response and hard work to recover the valuable property in this case. Our investigators are the first line of defense when it comes to thefts in Mississippi's ag community, and we are dedicated to protecting and serving our producers throughout the state."

The Mississippi Agricultural and Livestock Theft Bureau, the law enforcement division of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, enforces state laws pertaining to the theft of cattle, horses, swine, poultry, fish, farm equipment, chemicals, timber and all other farm or agriculture-related crimes.
