Traditional Poinsettias Bring Christmas Cheer

By MSU Extension Service

Besides the Christmas tree, the poinsettia is the plant most often associated with the Christmas season. You can hardly go wrong with their colorful bracts brightening your decorations.

The color spectrum of poinsettia is truly remarkable. Colors range from red to white to even maroon, making it hard to choose favorites. There are bicolored, speckled and marbled poinsettias. And if that's not enough, growers are even painting leaves and adding glitter.

While we enjoy poinsettias during the holidays, many don't know some of the history of this beautiful plant. The Aztecs in Mexico and Central America cultivated this plant to produce dyes and a fever medication. In the 1820s, John Poinsett, the ambassador to Mexico and a hobby botanist, saw these native plants with their brilliant red "flowers" naturally blooming during the Christmas season.

In Mexico, poinsettias are known as Flores de la Noche Buena, or Flowers of the Holy Night, because of their bloom period. Poinsett sent some cuttings home, and these became the Christmas poinsettias we now enjoy. Poinsett died on December 12; this day is now celebrated as National Poinsettia Day in honor of his discovery and its importance to the Christmas holidays.

When shopping for poinsettias, be aware of the wide variety available. Take your time to select the very best. Poinsettias are fragile plants, and the stems can break quite easily from mishandling.

Be aware that the paper or plastic shipping sleeves around most poinsettias can hide damage that happened in transport. Pay particular attention when removing them; never try to slide the sleeve off because you could damage the plant. Always tear or cut the sleeve off.

The bracts should be completely feature contrasting colors, such as snow white chrysanthemum with the traditional red poinsettia.

The following care tips can help keep your poinsettia looking good long after the Christmas holidays.

Poinsettias need at least six hours of indirect sunlight daily and comfortable room temperatures. When grown in the greenhouse, temperatures are about 72 degrees during the day and 60 degrees at night. The closer you can provide to these same temperatures, the longer your poinsettia will last.

Don't let the leaves or bracts touch the window glass. Outside temperatures are readily transferred through the glass, and the cold can damage the plant. A poinsettia might look great by the front door when guests arrive, but it will perform better if it is shielded from the sudden temperature changes caused by open doors.

While poinsettias like cool temperatures, those below 50 degrees will harm the foliage and colorful bracts. So on the way home after purchasing your plants, be sure to have the new poinsettias carefully covered, taking care not to break any branches and stems.

Probably the most important thing to remember is not to overwater these plants. Poinsettias are sensitive to wet feet, and root rot will set in very quickly. The potting mix should feel dry to the touch before watering, and be sure the decorative sleeve has drainage holes.

Some people are sensitive to the milky, latex sap in the poinsettia and may develop a skin rash. To avoid this problem, always wash your hands after handling your poinsettia.

Contrary to widely reported information, poinsettias are not poisonous to our pets. But as with all ornamentals and houseplants, they are not meant for our animals to eat. If you want to be on the safe side, keep poinsettias out of reach of your pets.

So, pick plenty of your favorite poinsettia colors, and use them to brighten the Christmas season.

Foreign Purchase of Farmland Study Committee Releases Final Report

By Emma Dotson
Public Relations Specialist - MDAC

Pursuant to House Bill 280 of the Mississippi Legislature's 2023 Regular Session, the Study Committee on Foreign Purchase of Farmland in Mississippi has released its report containing the committee's findings and recommendations. The Mississippi Legislature has been provided the report as a resource to use as legislation is being crafted for the upcoming 2024 legislative session.

The report contains the official findings of the Foreign Purchase of Farmland Study Committee including USDA foreign ownership of land data, a comprehensive list of public comments and testimony submitted to the committee, current Mississippi laws and regulations as set by the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality and the Mississippi Public Service Commission related to foreign ownership of water rights and energy facilities.

The following are highlights from the December 2021 U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Farm Service Agency "Foreign Holdings of U.S. Agricultural Land" report. In 2021, 757,816 agricultural acres were held by foreign interests in Mississippi. This is an increase from 600,456 acres in 2011. Nationally, as of December 2021, 40,031,308 acres of all private agricultural land in the U.S. had foreign ownership. This was an increase of 2.4 million acres from Dec. 31, 2020, and an increase of 14.3 million acres since 2011.

The Study Committee issued the following observations and recommendations as part of its final report:

- It is clear that current Mississippi law restricts foreign ownership of land by "nonresident aliens" except for the purpose of industrial development. However, the law lacks a clear, workable enforcement mechanism.

- Continued unrestricted foreign ownership of Mississippi's agricultural land and water rights especially by foreign adversaries as defined in 15 CFR 7.4 presents a serious concern to Mississippi and to national security, including food security.

- The Legislature should act to address these concerns. At a bare minimum, the Legislature should pass an enforcement mechanism with any appropriate reporting requirements and legal enforcement procedures, along with any exemptions as may be necessary or appropriate tailored to Mississippi needs and based on the experiences of other States. In order to accomplish this, the Study Committee highly recommends that the Legislature review and receive guidance from legal experts within the National Agricultural Law Center.

"As chairman of the Mississippi Study Committee on Foreign Purchase of Farmland, I want to personally thank and commend each of the members of this Study Committee for their diligent and meaningful work represented in today's final report to the Legislature. I am deeply concerned by the dramatic increase in foreign ownership of Mississippi's most valuable asset, our farmland. I believe most Mississippians share this concern, and I encourage the Mississippi Legislature to utilize the information contained in the Study Committee's report as the basis from which to act during the 2024 Regular Legislative Session," said Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson.

Advertising Guidelines

The Mississippi Market Bulletin is published on the 1st and 15th of each month by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. The Mississippi Market Bulletin is an important way for the Department to disseminate news and information about issues affecting Mississippi's agriculture industry and the Department's operations.

Through its classified advertising section, the Bulletin provides a forum for Mississippi residents to buy and sell agricultural related items while also giving statewide exposure to small farmers who might not normally have the economic resources for such widespread advertising. The Bulletin does not publish commercial or display ads and all items offered for sale must have been produced, raised, grown or operated on the seller's property. Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Advertising rules and guidelines have been established for the Mississippi Market Bulletin in order to comply with regulations enforced by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce and to maintain the objectives of the publication. The staff of the Mississippi Market Bulletin reserves the right to edit, revise or reject any advertisement.

The Mississippi Market Bulletin assumes no responsibility for any notice appearing in the Bulletin nor for any transaction resulting from published notices. Advertisers are cautioned that it is against the law to misrepresent any product offered for sale in public notices or advertisements carried in any publication that is delivered by the United States Postal Service.

- In order to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin you must be a subscriber. It's FREE to advertise, just include your name, mailing address and account number that the subscription is listed under on each ad that you submit (this information will not be printed). Each subscriber is allowed to advertise two ads in the Bulletin, listing one ad per category.
- All listings must be agriculture related (raised, grown, produced or operated on your farm). At the top of your ad, write the category that the ad should be listed under. We reserve the right to edit, revise or reject each ad. Please print or type your ad.
- There is a 30-word limit for classified advertisements, this includes: price (on the item you are selling), your city, county and telephone number or name and complete address must be included in the ad if you do not list a telephone number. Ads cannot be held over from one issue to another. You must submit them for each issue.
- Out-of-state residents are not eligible to advertise with the following exceptions: Out-of-state ads are allowed in the "Wanting To Buy" category. Out-of-state ads are allowed for individuals owning farm property within the state that is being offered for sale.
