Adapt to Changes in Forestry Markets

By Randy Rousseau
MSU Extension Service

Since the downfall of the housing market in 2007 and the subsequent recession, stumpage prices have fallen for every sector of the pine forestry market for pulpwood, chip-and-saw and sawtimber.

Fortunately, there has been substantial recovery in south Mississippi fueled by the variety of mills covering the entire range of wood products from pellets for shipment to Europe to pine construction lumber and structural-grade dimension products. In contrast, north Mississippi has faced the closure of pulp and paper mills, dramatically reducing the outlets for small-diameter trees typically used by the pulp and paper industry.

In the past, pine plantings were based on markets that used the material at a number of ages and sizes. Initial plantings consisted of 700 to 800 trees per acre, knowing that many seedlings would not survive through the first year due to a combination of poor seedling quality and herbaceous competition. The larger planting volume allowed for a 25% to 30% mortality loss while still leaving enough seedlings for a successful stand.

As the trees matured, it was apparent that an early thinning would be needed to remove excess trees to allow for continued acceptable growth of the remaining pines. First thinnings in pine stands were known as pulpwood thinnings, as they consisted of smaller trees suitable for the production of pulp and paper products.

These thinnings not only generated intermediate revenue for landowners, but also provided additional space needed for remaining trees to grow larger. In addition, they eliminated stress brought on by tree-to-tree competition. However, the lack of a pulpwood market, along with low stumpage values in north Mississippi, made landowners reluctant to sell while they awaited a quick price recovery.

The unfortunate aspect of this type of thinking is the realization that these stands will continue to grow, but at a much slower rate, and any poorer quality material would be unsuitable to possible higher valued products. Additionally, this thinking only results in a continued build-up of surplus standing timber. In the worst-case scenario, these unthinned stands become stressed to the point that they may fall prey to insects, such as the southern pine beetle.

Stands that were thinned several years ago are in considerably better shape. Many are ready to be thinned for the second time for small logs that fall into the chip-and-saw market. Or the trees can be left to grow in hopes that they will make sawtimber size and quality, thus resulting in higher returns.

Because of the surplus standing timber on the market, each stand should be carefully examined to determine if the remaining trees will be capable of making the quality grade needed for a sale in a highly competitive market. If not, then the best choice would be to liquidate the stand, thus getting the most for the stand at that point.

If landowners harvest the stands, they must consider making changes to adapt to changing markets. An obvious change would be a new planting strategy to allow excellent quality-grade growth on fewer trees per acre through both genetics, arrangement of planted trees and intensive management.

From Our Kitchen To Yours

Refreshing Frozen Treats for a Hot Summer Day

Fresh Peach Ice Cream

3 cups peach pulp and juice
Juice from 1 large orange
Juice from 3 lemons
3 cups sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 quart milk
1 pint cream

Mix together peach pulp, all juices, sugar and vanilla. Let stand at room temperature for three hours. Mix with milk and cream, and pour into an ice-cream maker. Freeze following the manufacturer's instructions.

Blueberry Ice Cream

2 pints fresh blueberries
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 tablespoons orange juice
4 cups light cream
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

In a three-quart saucepan combine blueberries, sugar and orange juice. Mash berries slightly and cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until the mixture comes to a boil. Simmer five minutes. Remove from heat and puree in a food processor or blender. Push mixture through a strainer with the back of a wooden spoon. Cool the mixture. In the chilled canister of ice cream maker combine blueberry mixture, cream and vanilla. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions.

Sweet Tea Ice Pops

2 cups water
2 black tea bags
1/4 cup sugar (or sweetener of choice)
Pinch baking soda
2-3 drops peppermint extract or 1/3 cup fresh lemon juice
Ice pop molds or small plastic cups
Popsicle sticks
Mint leaves or lemon slices, if desired

To make sweet tea, bring two cups of water to a boil. Add tea bags and steep to desired intensity, about 10 to 15 minutes. Stir in sugar until dissolved, and add a pinch of baking soda, which neutralizes the tannins in tea to make it less bitter. Stir in a little ice to help cool the tea. Stir in peppermint extract and/or lemon juice into tea. Pour mixture into molds. Add mint or lemon slices if desired. Place sticks in centers of mold when partially frozen. Freeze until they hold their shape.

Strawberry Lemonade Ice Pops

1 cup water
1 cup sugar
3 cups fresh strawberries or other berries of your choice
1/2 cup fresh lemon juice
1/2 cup fresh herbs such as mint and/or rosemary, loosely packed (optional)

In a medium saucepan, bring sugar and water to a boil, and then reduce to a simmer. Stir occasionally until slightly thickened (to the consistency of corn syrup), about 10 minutes. Set aside to cool. Place strawberries and lemon juice (and herbs, if using) in a blender or food processor. Puree until smooth. If using herbs, puree until they are well chopped. Slowly pour in simple syrup until well combined. Pour into ice pop mold, and freeze for about eight hours.

Homemade Butter Pecan Ice Cream

3 tablespoons butter
1/8 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup pecans, chopped
1 tablespoon plus 1/4 cup sugar, divided
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/3 cup maple syrup
2 eggs, beaten
2 1/2 cups milk
1 cup whipping cream
2 teaspoons vanilla extract

Combine first butter, salt, pecans and one tablespoon sugar, and spread on a baking sheet in a single layer. Roast at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Stir and roast 15 minutes longer; cool. Combine remaining sugars, cornstarch, syrup and eggs in top of a double boiler. Gradually add milk. Cook over boiling water until mixture thickens. Remove from heat and chill two hours or overnight. Stir in toasted pecans, cream and vanilla. Place mixture in ice cream freezer and freeze according to manufacturer's directions. Allow to ripen in ice cream freezer or firm up in refrigerator freezer an hour before serving.

Frosty Salted Caramel Mocha Affogato

2 scoops vanilla caramel gelato (about 1/4 cup each)
2-3 tablespoons cold brew coffee
1 tablespoon caramel coffee creamer
Whipped cream
Chocolate sauce
Coarse sea salt

Scoop gelato into a 12-ounce glass coffee mug or ice cream sundae dish. Pour cold brew coffee over gelato. Slowly pour coffee creamer over cold brew. Top with whipped cream, drizzle with chocolate sauce and sprinkle with a pinch of sea salt. Serve immediately.

Businesses, corporations, dealerships, brokers or other commercial enterprises are not allowed to advertise in the Mississippi Market Bulletin.

Ag Commissioner Cuts Ribbon on New Exhibit Barn at Ag Museum

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing
and Public Relations - MDAC

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson cut the ribbon to the new exhibit barn and maintenance shop at the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum today.

"This is an exciting time at the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum as we have the opportunity to open the new exhibit barn to the public. This represents the completion of the first of several projects to further agriculture education on the grounds of the Museum, and we are looking forward to the completion the Children's Barn, which we anticipate to be completed this fall," said Commissioner Andy Gipson.

The exhibit barn, which has over 5,000 square feet of heavy timber construction exhibit space, features 10 antique tractors and 15 pieces of historical farm equipment. The exhibits inside the barn today depict for visitors how mechanization of agriculture has progressed over the years. The 4,000 square foot maintenance shop consists of three bays and provides space for wood-working restorations, automotive repair and restorations, and landscaping needs.

The construction of the exhibit barn and maintenance shop is part of the rebuilding efforts to replace buildings lost during a devastating fire on the Museum grounds in November 2014. The $1.3 million rebuilding project is funded through insurance claim funds. The exhibit barn and maintenance shop were designed by Wier Boerner Allin Architecture. The general contractor is Paul Jackson and Son Construction Company.

Construction on the Children's

Barn has begun and is scheduled to be completed this fall, weather permitting. The Children's Barn will be home to many farm animals returning to the Museum.

The Ag Museum is located at 1150 Lakeland Drive in Jackson and is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. In addition to our gallery and exhibit spaces, the Ag Museum also has room for your event, whether it's a meeting, a wedding or other special event. Call (601) 432-4500 for information or visit www.msagmuseum.org.

MDAC Introduces Timber Initiative

By Ginger Williamson
Timber Commerce Liaison - MDAC

For the first time in the history of the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce (MDAC), Commissioner Andy Gipson has a designated person to promote the timber industry.

We are actively seeking avenues for new markets, both domestically as well as internationally. We are working with Mississippi ports to find solutions for economical ways to export our wood products and we are excited about the progress being made.

Our state has a rich history with timber products. Did you know that at the turn of the 20th Century, the Port of Gulfport shipped more timber than any port in the world? Soon we hope to be shipping wood products out of every coastal port in the state.

We are also working with the Tenn/Tom authorities to create options and opportunities along this great waterway. It is very encouraging to see the enthusiasm and willingness to work towards solutions.

There is great potential for Mississippi's timber industry which exceeds $1 billion annually and has an estimated economic impact of nearly $13 billion. If you are a buyer or manufacturer, contact us and let us show you the vast timber supply we have in Mississippi.

• Mississippi has close to 20 Million Acres of Forest Land

- 65% of our state is covered in forestland
- 77% of our forestland is privately owned by approximately 350,000 landowners
- Mississippi has nearly 1,000, PLM (Qualified Professional Logging Companies, meaning they are trained to meet Sustainable Forestry Initiative (SFI) Standards

For our state to prosper and grow, all sectors have to work together; that includes private citizens, and businesses, who can count on being supported in every way by our local, state, and federal government. We must work with each other to understand the issues that are limiting our success and we must work together in finding solutions.

Time is of the essence. We invite all to the table who wish to discuss issues, to work diligently in finding and implementing timely, workable solutions. When one of us succeeds we all succeed but when we fail to work together, then everyone suffers.

We welcome your suggestions, your participation, and your support to advance and promote the Mississippi timber industry.

Commissioner Gipson Hosts Newly Launched Genuine MS Podcast

By Paige Manning
Director of Marketing
and Public Relations - MDAC

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Andy Gipson is the host of the newly launched podcast to promote the state's agricultural branding program, Genuine MS.

Gipson kicked off the Genuine MS podcast series with an introductory episode featuring special guests Paige Manning, Market Development Director at the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, and Don van de Werken, a tea grower from Pearl River Tea Company in Poplarville. Gipson and van der Werken discuss tea production, an agricultural crop that many are not aware is grown in Mississippi, and provide insights into the Mississippi blueberry industry.

"I am very excited to host the new Genuine MS podcast," Gipson stated. "The podcast gives us the opportunity to spotlight some of talented farmers and entrepreneurs who are providing the state and the globe with products grown, raised, crafted, and made right here in our state, and it allows us to showcase how they are contributing to our state's economy. We want everyone in Mississippi, both producers and consumers, to benefit from the advantages of the Genuine MS program. This podcast helps to accomplish this."

In a relaxed, conversational format, each podcast episode will feature Genuine MS farmers, ranchers, crafters, and manufacturers as they tell the stories behind their farms, businesses, and the unique products they offer. The podcast can be conveniently accessed on the Genuine MS website (GenuineMS.com/podcast), Stitcher, and iTunes. Episodes will be updated weekly throughout the summer.

Genuine MS was developed by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce to identify and promote products proudly created or produced by Mississippi farmers, artisans, entrepreneurs, and manufacturers. The purpose of the Genuine MS program is to increase public awareness of Mississippi's farm, food, crafted and fabricated products by branding them as Genuine MS. The website, GenuineMS.com, serves as a centralized location featuring members' products, while connecting consumers across the globe with the people and places that grow, raise, craft and make Genuine MS products.

For more information, visit GenuineMS.com or contact MDAC at (601) 359-1159 or Info@GenuineMS.com.
