Mississippi Agriculture Reaches a Record High

By Bonnie A. Coblenz
MSU Extension Service

High commodity prices in 2021 pushed Mississippi agriculture to a sharp increase in total value -- a record estimated $8.33 billion -- despite a huge decline in government assistance aimed at coronavirus relief.

Agriculture's estimated value is up 19% from 2020. Ag value is back to the high levels seen in 2012-2014. Commodities alone, without considering government payments, reached a record high of $7.88 billion, a 27% increase.

Poultry, soybeans and forestry continue to rank first, second and third, respectively, in the state's agricultural economy.

Will Maples, agricultural economist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service, said high prices were matched by mostly good yields. Strong exports added to the positive picture.

"The main cause of the increase we saw in commodity values this year was much better prices across the board," Will Maples said. "It was a much better year for farmers, but we're coming off some years with pretty low prices."

Poultry posted an estimated $2.65 billion value in 2021, up 39% from the $1.9 billion it registered the previous year. Broilers saw the highest increases, but eggs and chickens also had positive growth.

Josh Maples, Extension agricultural economist, said this steep increase in poultry value represents a return to historic levels, rather than a new level of success.

"For poultry, this is really a rebound after a very low value of production in 2020," he said. "The biggest driver of the increase was stronger broiler prices, which increased about 36% from where they were in 2020."

Value of production totals do not include input costs, and these are a key concern for the poultry industry, Josh Maples said.

"Feed prices and energy prices are both sharply higher than they were in 2020," he said.

Soybeans achieved an estimated value of $1.49 billion, up 25% from a value of $1.2 billion in 2020. This is the second year the crop has exceeded the value of forestry in Mississippi.

"Soybean prices were strong throughout 2021 helped by good exports and strong domestic demand," Will Maples said. "We can probably expect the 2022 soybean market to remain in a similar price range with demand remaining strong."

Forestry saw a relatively modest increase of 5.7%, but that pushed it to an estimated value of $1.29 billion, compared to $1.2 billion in 2020.

Shaun Tanger, MSU Extension assistant professor of forestry economics, said that most of this increase was driven by sawtimber and chip-n-saw prices.

"Mississippi's prices were largely in-line with the entire South,"

Tanger said. "Beginning in the second quarter, the price of both pine sawtimber and pine chip-n-saw increased to its highest respective levels in over five years."

"This is driven by weather-related supply constraints and tight inventories at the sawmills that are also trying to keep up with price volatility in lumber despite fairly steady increases in demand," he said.

While soybeans were the only row crop to single-handedly top $1 billion, Mississippi row crops brought in an overall estimated value of $3.31 billion, up 31% from the $2.52 billion posted in 2020. Hay, peanuts, rice and sweet potatoes were the only row crops with lower estimated values.

Wheat saw the greatest increase, up a whopping 450% to $27 million.

"We planted 60,000 acres of wheat this year, up from just 22,000 planted in 2020," Maples said. "Better prices drove more acreage, and a combination of a lot better prices and a lot more acres accounted for the dramatic increase."

Corn was up 129% from 2020 to an estimated value of $748

Recipes with Mississippi's Top Ag Commodities

Buttermilk-Soaked, Bacon-Fried Chicken in Gravy

1 1/2 cups buttermilk
2 tablespoons hot sauce
1 chicken (about 2 1/2 lb.), cut into 4 pieces
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
12 ounces bacon, chopped into 1/2-inch pieces
Vegetable oil, for frying
Gravy
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
2 cups heavy cream
1 tablespoon dry sherry
1/2 teaspoon salt

For the marinade, whisk together the buttermilk and hot sauce. Pour into a large zip-top bag and add the chicken. Seal the bag, rub to coat the meat, and refrigerate for 6 hours. In a bowl, whisk together the flour, salt and pepper. In a large heavy skillet, cook the bacon over medium heat until crispy. Using a slotted spoon, remove the bacon from the skillet, and drain. Reserve drippings in the skillet. Add enough vegetable oil to the skillet drippings to be 1 inch deep, and heat over medium heat. Remove the chicken from the marinade, and dredge in the flour mixture. Carefully place the chicken in the hot oil, and fry, turning often, for 20-24 minutes or until cooked through and juices run clear. Maintain a frying temperature of 320°. Drain chicken. For the gravy, carefully pour off the hot oil, reserving about 1/4 cup in the skillet. Over low heat, whisk in the 1/4 cup flour, 1 tbsp. at a time, and cook for 1 minute, whisking constantly. Gradually add the heavy cream and cook for 6 minutes or until creamy. Stir in the sherry and salt, and cook for 1 minute. Serve the gravy over the chicken with reserved bacon. Source: SouthernLiving.com.

Soybeans & Rice

1 cup dried soybeans, sorted and rinsed
2 cups water
1 teaspoon olive, canola or soybean oil
1 large onion, chopped
1 large green bell pepper, chopped
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
1 3/4 cups chicken broth
1/4 teaspoon dried oregano leaves
1/8 teaspoon ground red pepper (cayenne)
2 dried bay leaves
3/4 cup uncooked regular long-grain white rice
1 can (14.5 oz) diced tomatoes, undrained

In a saucepan or Dutch oven, heat soybeans and enough water just to cover beans to boiling. Boil uncovered 2 minutes; remove from heat. Cover; let stand 1 hour. Drain. Stir in 2 cups water. Heat to boiling; reduce heat to medium-low. Cover; cook 2 hours to 2 hours 30 minutes or until soybeans are tender. Drain. Spray skillet with cooking spray. Add oil; heat over medium-high heat. Add onion, bell pepper and garlic; cook 2-3 minutes, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are crisp-tender. Stir in broth, oregano, red pepper and bay leaves. Heat to boiling. Stir in rice; reduce heat. Cover; simmer 15-20 minutes or until liquid is absorbed. Stir in soybeans and tomatoes. Cook, stirring occasionally, until thoroughly heated and liquid is absorbed. Remove bay leaves. Source: BettyCrocker.com.

Creamy Fried Confetti Corn

8 bacon slices, chopped
4 cups fresh sweet corn kernels
1 medium-size white onion, chopped
1/3 cup chopped red bell pepper
1/3 cup chopped green bell pepper
1 (8 oz) package cream cheese, cubed
1/2 cup half-and-half
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper

Cook chopped bacon in a large skillet until crisp; remove bacon, and drain on paper towels, reserving 2 tablespoons drippings in skillet. Set bacon aside. Sauté corn, onion and bell peppers in hot drippings in skillet over medium-high heat 6 minutes or until tender. Add cream cheese and half-and-half, stirring until cream cheese melts. Stir in sugar, salt and pepper. Top with bacon. Source: SouthernLiving.com.

Sweet Potato Pie

1 pkg. refrigerated piecrusts
4 ounces unsalted butter
1 cinnamon stick
2 whole cloves
4 cups mashed roasted sweet potatoes
1 (14 oz) can sweetened condensed milk
1 cup granulated sugar
4 large eggs, beaten
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon kosher salt

Fit each piecrust into a pie pan. Prick the bottoms of the piecrusts several times with a fork. Line piecrusts with parchment paper, and fill with pie weights or dried beans. Bake at 350° until slightly golden, about 15 minutes. Remove weights and parchment, and cool completely, about 1 hour. Melt butter in saucepan over medium. Add cinnamon stick and cloves; cook, stirring occasionally, until foam subsides and butter begins to darken and smell fragrant, 3-4 minutes. Remove from heat and pour through a fine wire-mesh strainer over a bowl. Discard cinnamon stick and cloves. Beat brown butter, sweet potatoes, condensed milk, sugar, eggs, vanilla, lemon juice and salt with an electric mixer until light and fluffy, 2-3 minutes. Divide mixture evenly between 2 piecrusts. Bake at 350° until filling is slightly puffed and set, about 45 minutes. Cool before serving. Source: SouthernLiving.com.

Magnolia Gardens

Phase 1 of Magnolia Gardens is complete, and it is beautiful! Located at the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum in Jackson, Miss. This project is 100% doner funded and is a beautiful way to honor the achievements such as graduation, promotions, excellence in work, birthdays, anniversaries, new baby, retirement, and any special occasion you can imagine. You can also donate in memory of a loved one.

All donations go directly to the Gardens for beautification and for maintenance. For every donation we will mail certificates to the honoree and to the designated person for memorial gifts. You will receive an acknowledgement letter for your contribution.

Please contact Ginger Williamson, ginger@mdac.ms.gov or 601-359-1150 with questions or go to www.Msmagnoliagardens.com or scan the code to go directly to the contribution page. Thank you for choosing Magnolia Gardens to honor and to memorialize your loved ones.

For six decades, patrons have contributed funds in exchange for a magnolia tree planted in honor of or in memory of loved ones. Over the years the program has planted tens of thousands of magnolia trees along state highways. Due to new regulations, the program needed adjustments. Enjoy the beautiful garden created in honor of your loved ones located at the Mississippi Ag and Forestry Museum in Jackson, Mississippi.

The main garden has a formal design incorporating a variety of plants, trees, flora, stone, water, and wood. The gardens will be strategically lighted to enhance the beauty of the design at night. Enjoy the lush landscape encircling the bronze "Working Man" sculpture donated to the Ag Museum in 2011. Relax on the cypress wood seating to enjoy the container gardens and water features framed with cypress shutters. Floral beds offer seasonal beauty outside of the central area.

The goal is to complete the entire project in 2021, honoring the 60th anniversary of Magnolia Gardens, formerly known as Avenue of Magnolias. We thank you for your contributions thus far. In order to complete the gardens, including the Avenue of Magnolias, $150,000.00 in additional funds are needed.

All donations, regardless of amount, will receive a letter acknowledging their donation. Recipients will receive our Magnolia Garden certificate honoring their loved ones.

Donations exceeding $5,000 will be acknowledged with a plaque at the garden site.

To donate, visit www.msmagnoliagardens.com and select the Contribution Form.

Gifts are Tax Deductible .

Days of Browsing Garden Catalogs Are Mostly Over

By Dr. Gary R. Bachman
MSU Extension Service

Besides being the multiple holiday season with Christmas and then New Year's back-to-back, it's also the time when many gardeners start planning their landscapes and plantings for the coming year.

One of my favorite things to do in past years was to gather all the seed catalogs and start dreaming.

It reminds me of that long-ago anticipation of the Sears catalog arriving before Christmas. How many of you remember that? I used to spend hours and hours thumbing through every single page of that catalog of wonder. I look back now and realize this was just early training for my garden catalog reading.

Usually, the seed catalogs start hitting the mailbox toward the end of November and new arrivals reach a crescendo before the end of the year. But something is different this year. I've received only five catalogs in the mail; that's right, only five. The ones I got are my favorites -- but aren't they all? -- but I was expecting more.

The lack of seed catalogs in my mailbox is something I've been thinking about lately. Are the gardening catalogs in danger of going the way of the Sears catalog?

Of course, I'm going to blame COVID for the catalog drought. COVID is responsible for getting up to 20 million new gardeners outside and enjoying their landscapes.

The pandemic is also responsible for an unprecedented increase in spending at the independent garden centers. This increase in demand for garden plants has our nursery industry growers operating at full capacity and more.

All of this is a good thing for the consumer horticulture industry, but it leaves the catalogs at a disadvantage. Publications have to be printed months in advance, which means they don't have the very latest product availability information. In an age where we expect the latest information to be immediately available, it results in fewer catalogs being printed.

So, what is a gardener to do? Of course, the answer is to go garden shopping online.

The best places for buying trees and shrubs will always be the local, independent garden centers. However, this past year, I have purchased a few new woody plants and rose selections online. They were in containers only up to one gallon, so it will require some patience before I can fully enjoy them, something I always advise but rarely have myself.

But it's good to know that it is possible to purchase plants online.

Buying seeds online is my go-to for a couple of reasons.

First, you can immediately see availability. There's nothing more frustrating than ordering something from a catalog and finding out it's on back order. Second, many seed companies add new varieties as they become available. I've gotten a couple of limited-release peppers I'll be writing about in 2022.

There are lots of reputable online garden seed companies, but my own experience warns me away from the biggest online retailers. Stick with companies you know and can interact with directly. You just don't know what you're getting or where its coming from when you use anonymous sellers.

Almost all consumer horticulture products have been the victim of supply chain shortages for the last two years. So, make some decisions soon and order now what you'd like to grow in 2022.

Happy Gardening!

million. A major driver of this growth was an increase in corn acreage from 490,000 to 700,000 acres in 2021.

"Last year, we exported historic levels of corn to China, with China accounting for 32% of the entire U.S. corn export market," Will Maples said. "This is an abnormal purchase from China, and there is a lot of uncertainty that they will be a consistent corn customer in the future."

Cotton had a strong year in Mississippi, bringing a total value of $558 million, up an overall 27% from 2020 values based solely on strong prices.

"Cotton acreage was actually down from 525,000 in 2020 to 430,000 harvested in 2021," Will Maples said.

Specialty crops are fruits and vegetables, tree nuts, dried fruits, and horticulture and nursery crops, including floriculture. These crops made the top 10 in Mississippi agriculture in 2021 with an estimated value of $108.5 million, a 2.5% increase.

Rice suffered the biggest decrease in estimated value, down 39% to $92 million.

"Rice was down because acreage was down this year," Will Maples said. "Higher corn and soybean prices this past spring led rice to lose some acreage to other crops."

Peanuts were another crop that was down in estimated value in 2021, dropping 27% to $14 million. Excessive rain at planting time kept some acreage from being planted to peanuts, and growers instead grew soybeans, which have a much longer planting window.

Sweet potatoes dropped 10% to $110 million.

Hay production held steady in Mississippi, dropping less than 1% to an estimated value of $160 million.

Strong hay production supports the state's dairy and cattle industries. In 2021, cattle and calves increased 10% in estimated value to $282 million. Milk dropped 14.6% to $22 million based on lower milk production for the year.

Hogs were another bright spot, rising 33.5% in estimated value to $95.7 million.

"Hog prices are up by more than 40% over 2020 levels, which is the key driver for the higher value of production this year," Josh Maples said. "Similar to poultry, this increase reflects much stronger prices compared to the very low prices in 2020."

Catfish posted a $232 million estimated value in 2021 -- up 3.5% -- an increase supported by stronger catfish prices compared to 2020.

"This increase was offset by slightly lower water surface acres used for production, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates," Josh Maples said.

Each year, producers across the country receive a variety of government payments through various ag safety net programs. COVID-19 relief in 2020 drove government payments up sharply to $766 million.

"That relief has mostly ended, though there has been some spillover into 2021," Josh Maples said. "Government payments dropped 40% to a more typical $456 million in 2021."

One advantage of shopping for seeds online is up-to-date inventory information and access to the latest new varieties. (Photo by Can Stock Photo Inc./charlotteLake)
